Political Unrest Stretches From Baltic To Black Seas

RUMBLINGS ALONG BORDER OF GERMANY ARE OMINOUS

Three Trouble Spots Offer Possible Clues To Next Action

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Political unrest stretched today from the Baltic to the Black sea in eastern Europe and, in the west, on down into Africa under Nazi or Fascist inspiration in some form or other.

Ominous rumblings in the east extended along Germany's entire border from little Memel, once part of the Hohenzollern empire, to Rumania.

They led to widespread discussion in London and elsewhere of whether—and, if so, where—Germany would move again in her "Drang Nach Osten"—drive to the east—while Italy, her axis partner, kept Great Britain and France worried in the Mediterranean area.

(German Economics Minister Walther Funk on October 17 returned to Berlin from a four-month tour of the Balkans and Turkey in which he concluded some trade agreements and set the stage for others.

(Tunisia, French North African protectorate, has been the focus of unofficial Fascist agitation since November 30. France for half a century has recognized special Italian rights in the 48,300 square mile area.

Where the Germans would act first remained uncertain in accord with the usual Nazi policy of surprise action but three trouble spots offered possible clues.

1. In Memel, long the center of a dispute between Germany and Lithuania, extreme Nazis closed a bold campaign for diet elections to be held tomorrow with statements they considered the voting a plebiscite for return to Germany.

(The Memel territory of 1,099 square miles, was detached from Germany

Council Considers Proposing Three New Principles To Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The social security advisory council considered today proposing that congress write three new principles into the federal social security program.

These are:

1. Acceptance of responsibility for the economic welfare of wives and children of workers covered by the social security act.

2. Acceptance of responsibility for the economic welfare of the workers themselves when they are prevented from earning their own livings by disability.

3. Partial financing out of general revenue of the costs of an expanded social security program until a new security tax system can be evolved to meet the increased expenditures.

The council, composed of representatives of employers, workers and the public, worked on recommendations to congress and the president for "liberalizing" the social security act in the next session of congress.

Informed persons said its recommendations would include extending

JEWS AID CHILD OF NAZI SYMPATHIZER

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Leschin Hahn-Korff, 2-year-old daughter of a Nazi sympathizer in federal jail here awaiting trial on charges of sending scurrilous and defamatory matter through the mails, was ill today and under treatment by a Jewish physician and two Jewish internes.

The child has pneumonia. Caring for her at Touro infirmary are Dr. Suzanne Schaefer, a pediatrician, and Dr. Joseph D. Russ and Dr. Leonard Nelken. Touro infirmary was founded by Jews and is largely supported by them.

The girl's father, Joseph Hahn-Korff, is to be tried on the federal charges Tuesday. He is a native of Germany and told United States Commissioner Reginald H. Carter, Jr., he was secretary of "the League for Aryan Supremacy" here.

Carter said Hahn-Korff had written postcards to Jews or persons he thought were Jews telling them he wished to list their names for the benefit of "unsuspecting Gentiles."

C. OF C. PLANS ANNUAL DINNER

Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Famed University Economist, Will Be Chief Speaker

Plans were virtually complete Saturday night for the holding of the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe on the Hotel Virginia roof Friday night, when it is expected that 400 will be in attendance. Not only will local members and their friends be present; leading business men from a large number of cities and towns of northeast Louisiana and southern Arkansas have been invited.

Tickets were placed on sale last week and there was an eager sale as the speaker of the occasion, Dr. Gus W. Dyer, economist and popular inspirational speaker, will deliver the chief address of the evening. Dr. Dyer is professor of political economy in Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., and is in great demand as public speaker. He has addressed some of the largest and most important groups of business and professional men many times the past few years, such as the American Bankers' association at their national convention and other assemblages of note.

He will be brought here at considerable expense to the Chamber of Commerce and, for this reason and for the fact that he will doubtless have a message that will be unusually inspirational, it is desired to have as large and representative an attendance as possible from several states.

A number of local business men have in the past heard Dr. Dyer and they have been inspired by his talks. Among these are H. B. Ryland and Alston Prophit, who quite recently heard this economist address large audiences.

At the meeting the new members of the two boards of the Chamber of Commerce will be introduced. The election was held recently and results have not as yet been announced.

The banquet will be open to ladies as well as to members and friends of the Chamber of Commerce and the program will comprise some musical and entertainment features, in addition to the principal address.

The past year has proved the most brilliant from the viewpoint of achievements that the chamber has ever experienced and the banquet is expected to form a fitting finale of the year's constructive program.

2 COLLEGES SHARE IN DEBATE HONORS

ALEXANDRIA, La., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Louisiana College of Pineville, near here, and Louisiana State Normal of Natchitoches shared honors in the first annual Louisiana intercollegiate debate tournament today.

Debaters from Normal won the women's division title, and the Louisiana college men's teams took first and second places.

Corrine Cook and Bertha Crowder, of Normal, defeated Helen Parker and Virginia Butler, Louisiana college, in the women's finals.

Louisiana college's men's first team of E. Terry Prothro and James McNair defeated John Norris and Gardener Krieger of Normal, and its second time, Lee Jarrell and George Richardson, triumphed over Henry F. Glass and Wallace Hunter of Normal.

Louisiana State university, Louisiana Tech, Centenary and Southwestern Louisiana institute were represented. Louisiana college was host school.

Prothro and Krieger were ranked first and second, respectively, among men debaters. Mary Helen Parker of Louisiana college and Bertha Crowder of Normal were placed first and second in the women's division.

OTHER TWO CROPS SHORT OF REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS

Dissatisfaction Of Number Of Planters Anticipated By New Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Early returns from farmer referenda in the south and far west showed mixed trends tonight for the New Deal's crop control program—stiff opposition from growers of flue-cured tobacco and rice and a favorable majority from cotton producers.

A wave of negative votes threatened defeat for a proposal of the agricultural adjustment administration that it be given authority to control sales of the tobacco in 1939.

Incomplete but fairly representative reports from 17 of the 19 cotton-producing states gave a substantial majority for a similar proposal for the south's big crop.

In the case of each crop, the favorable vote of two-thirds of the farmers casting ballots was necessary to put the control system into effect.

Tabulation showed 582,695 favoring cotton marketing quotas and 93,311 opposing them, representing a favorable majority of 86 per cent. The favorable vote in the last cotton referendum was 92 per cent.

Witht approximately half the expected vote reported, the returns on tobacco quotas showed 111,541 votes in favor and 78,295 against for a majority of 58.7 per cent—considerably less than the required 66.6 per cent.

In a similar referendum on rice quotas, early reports showed a vote of 2,011 for and 1,968 against for a majority of 50.3 per cent, or more than 16 per cent short of the necessary margin.

Administration leaders anxiously awaited results of the referenda today for a guide in drafting recommendations to the new congress.

Jewish Children Leave Relatives In Vienna, Perhaps Forever

VIENNA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—A ten-coach train carried 560 Jewish children away tonight, in flight from the Nazi anti-Semitic storm over the city their fathers knew as gay Vienna.

The 400 boys and 160 girls, aged three to 17, left for England and The Netherlands accompanied by 20 Jewish women who found jobs as house servants in England.

Mothers and relatives were not permitted to enter the station. They held what may have been their last meeting with the children at nearby hotels.

The emotional strain of parting was too much for some of them. One died of a heart attack after kissing her five-year-old child goodbye. The child was not told. Seven mothers fainted as the children marched to the train, which left shortly before midnight.

It was the first transport of children

MINISTER'S WIFE DIES IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Ivy Gass Bratton, 80, wife of the Right Rev. Theodore DuBose Bratton, retired Episcopal bishop of Mississippi, died here today.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow with Bishop William Mercer Green of Mississippi and Bishop James M. Maxon of Tennessee officiating.

Mrs. Bratton, whose home was in Jackson, Miss., where she was active in St. Andrew's church, was visiting her daughter, Mrs. James R. McDowell, when stricken.

She was a native of Abbeville, S. C., and was educated there and at Charleston, S. C.

She was married to Bishop Bratton in 1906. Her first husband, the Rev. Gass of Greenville, died in 1898.

Besides Bishop Bratton and Mrs. McDowell, she is survived by another daughter, two sons, a sister, three step-daughters and one step-son.

LIVES IN SHADOW OF DEATH

Unaware that she lives in the shadow of death, 8-year-old Dorothy Lewis of New York here plans for Christmas at her home. She is suffering from a malignant growth on her thigh bone and her father has been unable to decide whether to permit amputation of her right leg, giving her a meager chance to live, or refuse to allow the operation, which may mean death within a year.

So-Called Popular Front Loses Control At Least Temporarily

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The vote of approval which the chamber of deputies early today gave Premier Daladier, after his fighting speech defending his government by decree, represents a swing toward conservatism and away from the so-called Popular Front composed largely of Socialists and Communists who have dominated the chamber for some two and a half years.

The front now loses control, at least temporarily, to those who describe themselves as moderates but whom the left call reactionary and representative of vested interests.

The chamber vote of 315 to 241 is taken among other things as an okay on the rigorous methods Daladier employed in putting down the general strike. This abortive upheaval has been widely condemned and attributed to Communistic influence.

The ballot also is held to mean that the so-called moderate and conservative elements of France are inclined to accept the burden of more taxes and harder work and go along with Daladier under his chamber-controlled

NEW YORK SHOWN TO ANTHONY EDEN

British Statesman Given Police Escort For Tour Of Big Town

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Anthony Eden was whirled through a de luxe sight-seeing tour of New York today, and the dark and handsome British statesman, who has variously been styled "the white knight of Geneva" and "the best-dressed diplomat in Europe" took it all with a sparkle.

The 41-year-old visitor, chief of Great Britain's foreign affairs until he resigned rather than yield to a policy of "appeasement" to dictators, said he "loved it—every bit."

With a police escort, Eden paid his respects at city hall to Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, a kindred anti-dictator spirit, and chatted volubly for 20 minutes. He inspected the new west side express highway along the Hudson river, breezed through Central park, lunched in Times square and then drove out to view the "world of tomorrow" at the 1939 New York World's fair in Flushing, L. I.

For tonight, he ordered tickets for the Broadway musical revue hit, "Hellzapoppin"—a hilarious, slapstick affair which, by its similarity to London music hall productions, may strengthen his expressed belief that

With a sudden spurt of more than $132 in a single day, the Good Fellows fund went upward with a remarkable stride Saturday and now stands at $314.69. The remarkable boost that the fund received was largely through little fellows doing their bit just as we were sure they would do. Notable of all others were the Monroe Wholesale Drug company which went 100 per cent strong, every member contributing something to the fund. And not to be outdone, every employe of the Monroe Furniture company did likewise, this included both white and colored employes.

Now that these two loyal firms and their employes have pointed the way, it is to be hoped and confidently expected that many other local firms and business houses will also be placed in the 100 per cent class. All can do this if they are willing to make a small degree of sacrifice.

And still the requests pile in to the Good Fellows and it seems that need for warm clothing is the chief need expressed, food and toys come next. L. G. Hughes of the parish welfare department on Saturday sent in a call for clothes as this he stated is a

RESPONSIBILITY OF FREE PRESS PUT ON PAPERS

Roosevelt Expresses Hope Freedom To Criticize 'Will Prevail'

DECLARES PUBLICATIONS ARE PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

Asserts Their Liberty Essential To People And Form Of Government

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted in a letter to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that a free press is [illegible] a responsibility of the newspapers.

The president, writing for the sixtieth anniversary edition of the paper tomorrow, also expressed the hope that freedom of the press to criticize the administration would ever prevail throughout this administration and throughout every administration in all the years to come.

"It is not my purpose primarily to deliver a lecture on the ethics of journalism," wrote President Roosevelt. "But our newspapers are so essentially public institutions that they are subject to the closest scrutiny of their readers. Since it is the readers who make possible by their patronage the publication of all of our papers, perhaps the readers are entitled to be heard on the age-old question of a free press.

"But more valuable than any criticism from without is the self-searching inquiry of those within editorial sanctums and the newspaper counting rooms as to what constitutes their obligation to the readers of American newspapers."

Expressing doubt that freedom of the press was endangered "from without," the president went on:

"I have always been firmly persuaded that our newspapers cannot be edited in the interest of the general public from the counting room. And I wish we could have a national symposium on that question, particularly in its relation to the freedom of the press. How many bogies are con-

MEMEL GRIPPED BY NAZI FEVER

Diet Elections Have Full Flavor Of Plebiscite On Union With Germany

MEMEL, Lithuania, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Nazi fever gripped this Baltic seaport and the rest of former German Memelland tonight on the eve of Memel diet elections, which had the full, if unofficial, flavor of plebiscite on anschluss (union) with Germany.

Booted Memel storm troopers stamped through the streets and white, red and cream Memel flags snapped in the icy Baltic wind as a challenge to Lithuanian sovereignty since February 16, 1923, when the 1,099 square miles of Memelland was handed over by the League of Nations.

The population is 152,000, predominantly Germanic. The territory was sheared off east Prussia by the treaty of Versailles and controlled by a conference of ambassadors before it came under the Kaunas government with provisions for a large measure of local autonomy.

Extreme Nazis were calling the Sunday elections "a plebiscite for return to the Reich." Some newspaper men reported that Willi Bertuleit, a Memel deputy, told them last night that a demand for reunion with Germany would be voiced in January.

Today, however, Bertuleit denied this was the objective of Nazi Memel-

PASTOR DIES WHILE HOLDING FUNERAL

TUPELO, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Rev. Jeff Rogers, 82, of Amory, died today while conducting a funeral service near Smithville.

The pastor had just read the passage from his Bible, "In my Father's house are many mansions," when he collapsed.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers served as minister of the Verona Baptist church for about 50 of the 60 years of his ministry. He conducted services in numerous other churches of this area.

Survivors are three sons and two daughters. Funeral arrangements will be made after their arrival.

The president, calling reporters to his study in the residential part of the White House, issued a prepared statement outlining the project.

He explained that a building to house the collection, probably a simply designed, fireproof structure of native field stone, would be built partly by public subscription and turned over to the government.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would contribute to the project all funds, minus taxes, that he has received from the sale of material to newspapers, magazines and book publishers. A similar contribution would be made, he said, by Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York supreme court, who collaborated with him in preparing his papers for publication.

The gift of the Roosevelt family home to the government upon his death has been approved by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, who owns the property during her lifetime.

The national archivist will have "primary responsibility" for the collection, the president said.

GRAVEL FIRM HEAD KILLED BY TRAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—E. B. Watson, Sr., 61-year-old president of the Watson Sand and Gravel company and prominent politically, was killed today at Fluker, La., by a passenger train after his automobile had become stalled on the crossing.

His son, E. B. Watson, Jr., general manager of the company, said his father was driving the automobile slowly across the crossing when the motor stalled and the engine bore down upon the automobile while Mr. Watson was frantically trying to open the door and jump.

The car was demolished and Mr. Watson's body was badly crushed while his son looked on helpless to act in time.

Mr. Watson was a member of a prominent Louisiana family. He is survived by his widow, his son, E. B. Watson, Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ross of Clinton, La.

Mr. Watson was prominent in political affairs for many years. He served as sheriff of St. Helena parish for eight years and four years as state senator from the 10th senatorial district.

He also served as warden of the state penitentiary during the administration of Governor J. Y. Sanders, was state livestock commissioner under the administration of Governor Huey P. Long and was state insurance commissioner during the administration of Governor O. K. Allen.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. from the Methodist church in Tangipahoa.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney-general, said tonight that Gaston L. Porterie, Louisiana attorney-general, and Governor Richard W. Leche would be appointed to the two new federal judgeships in Louisiana "if they want them."

Jewish Children Leave Relatives In Vienna, Perhaps Forever

VIENNA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—A ten-coach train carried 560 Jewish children away tonight, in flight from the Nazi anti-Semitic storm over the city their fathers knew as gay Vienna.

The 400 boys and 160 girls, aged three to 17, left for England and The Netherlands accompanied by 20 Jewish women who found jobs as house servants in England.

Mothers and relatives were not permitted to enter the station. They held what may have been their last meeting with the children at nearby hotels.

The emotional strain of parting was too much for some of them. One died of a heart attack after kissing her five-year-old child goodbye. The child was not told. Seven mothers fainted as the children marched to the train, which left shortly before midnight.

It was the first transport of children

MINISTER'S WIFE DIES IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Ivy Gass Bratton, 80, wife of the Right Rev. Theodore DuBose Bratton, retired Episcopal bishop of Mississippi, died here today.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow with Bishop William Mercer Green of Mississippi and Bishop James M. Maxon of Tennessee officiating.

Mrs. Bratton, whose home was in Jackson, Miss., where she was active in St. Andrew's church, was visiting her daughter, Mrs. James R. McDowell, when stricken.

She was a native of Abbeville, S. C., and was educated there and at Charleston, S. C.

She was married to Bishop Bratton in 1906. Her first husband, the Rev. Gass of Greenville, died in 1898.

Besides Bishop Bratton and Mrs. McDowell, she is survived by another daughter, two sons, a sister, three step-daughters and one step-son.

LIVES IN SHADOW OF DEATH

Unaware that she lives in the shadow of death, 8-year-old Dorothy Lewis of New York here plans for Christmas at her home. She is suffering from a malignant growth on her thigh bone and her father has been unable to decide whether to permit amputation of her right leg, giving her a meager chance to live, or refuse to allow the operation, which may mean death within a year.

So-Called Popular Front Loses Control At Least Temporarily

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The vote of approval which the chamber of deputies early today gave Premier Daladier, after his fighting speech defending his government by decree, represents a swing toward conservatism and away from the so-called Popular Front composed largely of Socialists and Communists who have dominated the chamber for some two and a half years.

The front now loses control, at least temporarily, to those who describe themselves as moderates but whom the left call reactionary and representative of vested interests.

The chamber vote of 315 to 241 is taken among other things as an okay on the rigorous methods Daladier employed in putting down the general strike. This abortive upheaval has been widely condemned and attributed to Communistic influence.

The ballot also is held to mean that the so-called moderate and conservative elements of France are inclined to accept the burden of more taxes and harder work and go along with Daladier under his chamber-controlled

NEW YORK SHOWN TO ANTHONY EDEN

British Statesman Given Police Escort For Tour Of Big Town

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Anthony Eden was whirled through a de luxe sight-seeing tour of New York today, and the dark and handsome British statesman, who has variously been styled "the white knight of Geneva" and "the best-dressed diplomat in Europe" took it all with a sparkle.

The 41-year-old visitor, chief of Great Britain's foreign affairs until he resigned rather than yield to a policy of "appeasement" to dictators, said he "loved it—every bit."

With a police escort, Eden paid his respects at city hall to Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, a kindred anti-dictator spirit, and chatted volubly for 20 minutes. He inspected the new west side express highway along the Hudson river, breezed through Central park, lunched in Times square and then drove out to view the "world of tomorrow" at the 1939 New York World's fair in Flushing, L. I.

For tonight, he ordered tickets for the Broadway musical revue hit, "Hellzapoppin"—a hilarious, slapstick affair which, by its similarity to London music hall productions, may strengthen his expressed belief that

With a sudden spurt of more than $132 in a single day, the Good Fellows fund went upward with a remarkable stride Saturday and now stands at $314.69. The remarkable boost that the fund received was largely through little fellows doing their bit just as we were sure they would do. Notable of all others were the Monroe Wholesale Drug company which went 100 per cent strong, every member contributing something to the fund. And not to be outdone, every employe of the Monroe Furniture company did likewise, this included both white and colored employes.

Now that these two loyal firms and their employes have pointed the way, it is to be hoped and confidently expected that many other local firms and business houses will also be placed in the 100 per cent class. All can do this if they are willing to make a small degree of sacrifice.

And still the requests pile in to the Good Fellows and it seems that need for warm clothing is the chief need expressed, food and toys come next. L. G. Hughes of the parish welfare department on Saturday sent in a call for clothes as this he stated is a

Roosevelt Expresses Hope Freedom To Criticize 'Will Prevail'

Asserts Their Liberty Essential To People And Form Of Government

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted in a letter to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that a free press is primarily a responsibility of the newspapers.

The president, writing for the sixtieth anniversary section of the paper tomorrow, also expressed the hope that freedom of the press to criticize the administration would "ever prevail—throughout this administration and throughout every administration in all the years to come."

"It is not my purpose primarily to deliver a lecture on the ethics of journalism," wrote President Roosevelt. "But our newspapers are so essentially public institutions that they are subject to the closest scrutiny of their readers. Since it is the readers who make possible by their patronage the publication of all of our papers, perhaps the readers are entitled to be heard on the age-old question of a free press. . . .

"But more forcible than any criticism from without is the self-searching inquiry of those within editorial sanctums and the newspaper counting rooms as to what constitutes their obligation to the readers of American newspapers."

Expressing doubt that freedom of the press was endangered "from without," the president went on:

"I have always been firmly persuaded that our newspapers cannot be edited in the interest of the general public from the counting room. And I wish we could have a national symposium on that question, particularly in its relation to the freedom of the press. How many bogies are con-

MEMEL GRIPPED BY NAZI FEVER

Diet Elections Have Full Flavor Of Plebiscite On Union With Germany

MEMEL, Lithuania, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Nazi fever gripped this Baltic seaport and the rest of former German Memelland tonight on the eve of Memel diet elections, which had the full, if unofficial, flavor of plebiscite on anschluss (union) with Germany.

Booted Memel storm troopers stamped through the streets and white, red and cream Memel flags snapped in the icy Baltic wind as a challenge to Lithuanian sovereignty since February 16, 1923, when the 1,099 square miles of Memelland was handed over by the League of Nations.

The population is 152,000, predominantly Germanic. The territory was sheared off east Prussia by the treaty of Versailles and controlled by a conference of ambassadors before it came under the Kaunas government, with provisions for a large measure of local autonomy.

Extreme Nazis were calling the Sunday elections "a plebiscite for return to the Reich." Some newspaper men reported that Willi Bertuleit, a Memel deputy, told them last night that a demand for reunion with Germany would be voiced in January.

Today, however, Bertuleit denied this was the objective of Nazi Memel-

PASTOR DIES WHILE HOLDING FUNERAL

TUPELO, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Rev. Jeff Rogers, 82, of Amory, died today while conducting a funeral service near Smithville.

The pastor had just read the passage from his Bible, "In my Father's house are many mansions," when he collapsed.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers served as minister of the Verona Baptist church for about 50 of the 60 years of his ministry. He conducted services in numerous other churches of this area.

Survivors are three sons and two daughters. Funeral arrangements will be made after their arrival.

Roosevelt To Give Home To Government

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that the title to his family home and 100 acres of land surrounding it would go to the government upon his death, and that in the meantime his papers would be collected there to be available easily to the scholars of the future.

The president, calling reporters to his study in the residential part of the White House, issued a prepared statement outlining the project.

He explained that a building to house the collection—probably a simply-designed, fireproof structure of native field stone—would be built partly by public subscription and turned over to the government.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would contribute to the project all funds—minus taxes—that he has received from the sale of material to newspapers, magazines and book publishers. A similar contribution would be made, he said, by Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York supreme court, who collaborated with him in preparing his papers for publication.

The gift of the Roosevelt family home to the government upon his death has been approved by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, who owns the property during her lifetime.

The national archivist will have "primary responsibility" for the collection, the president said.

"It is my hope that during my life-

GRAVEL FIRM HEAD KILLED BY TRAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—E. B. Watson, Sr., 65-year-old president of the Watson Sand and Gravel company, and prominent politically, was killed today at Fluker, La., by a passenger train after his automobile had become stalled on the crossing.

His son, E. B. Watson, Jr., general manager of the company, said his father was driving the automobile slowly across the crossing when the motor stalled and the engine bore down upon the automobile while Mr. Watson was frantically trying to open the door and jump.

The car was demolished and Mr. Watson's body was badly crushed while his son looked on helpless to act in time.

Mr. Watson was a member of a prominent Louisiana family. He is survived by his widow, his son, E. B. Watson, Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ross of Clinton, La.

Mr. Watson was prominent in political affairs for many years. He served as sheriff of St. Helena parish for eight years and four years as state senator from the 10th senatorial district.

He also served as warden of the state penitentiary during the administration of Governor J. Y. Sanders, was state livestock commissioner under the administration of Governor Huey P. Long and was state insurance commissioner during the administration of Governor O. K. Allen.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. from the Methodist church in Tangipahoa.

WARNS DELEGATES WORLD FACED BY SERFDOM THREAT

ASSERTS SOLIDARITY IS FACT NO ONE CAN DOUBT

U. S. Secretary Makes One Of Strongest Speeches Of His Life

By Andrue Berding

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state, told the Pan-American conference tonight "there must not be a shadow of doubt anywhere as to the determination of the American nations not to permit the invasion of this hemisphere by the armed forces of any power or any possible combination of powers" or by their political activities.

Hull warned the delegates of 21 nations that "mankind is tragically confronted, once more by the alternatives of freedom or serfdom, of order or anarchy, of progress or retrogression, of civilization or barbarism."

He said each American nation had to decide for itself what measures to take "to meet its share of our common interest and responsibility."

But as far as the United States is concerned, Hull said, "let no one doubt for a moment that, so long as the possibility of armed challenge exists, the United States will maintain adequate defensive military, naval and air establishments."

The white-haired secretary of state spoke following two other keynote speeches by Dr. Jose Maria Cantilo, Argentine foreign minister, and Dr. Carlos Concha, Peruvian foreign minister and permanent president of the conference.

The speeches were the only formal business before the conference as a whole. Every corridor of the ornate marble house of representatives, the conference place, was a scene of bustling activity, however, through the day.

The steering committee decided the conference should close December 27 and approved for consideration a Cuban resolution against "racial persecution" and decided to have it circulated among the delegates.

The resolution named no nations, but was understood to be directed against German anti-Semitism. It condemned "all religious and racial persecutions" as "opposed to the essential tenets of democracy."

Mexican and Argentine delegates were working behind the scenes to formulate a definite proposal for mediation of the Spanish civil war. They hoped to get unanimous approval of it before the measure would be submitted in resolution form.

Cantilo told the delegates that all American nations were ready to maintain a common front against any menace to the independence and sovereignty of any of them. Cantilo formerly was Argentina's ambassador to Italy and a delegate to the League of Nations.

"American solidarity is a fact which no one can doubt," he said. "Each and everyone of us is disposed to maintain and give proof of this solidarity in the face of any danger whatsoever which, coming from any quarter, might menace the independence or sovereignty of any state of this part of the world."

Cantilo spoke in reply to Concha, who as chairman opened the second day's session with a declaration that

JUDGESHIPS 'OPEN' TO LECHE, PORTERIE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney-general, said tonight that Gaston L. Porterie, Louisiana attorney-general, and Governor Richard W. Leche would be appointed to the two vacant federal judgeships in Louisiana "if they want them."

"Governor Leche could have the judgeship in the eastern district if he were in a receptive mood," said Mr. Keenan. "And I feel sure that Mr. Porterie will be appointed to the judgeship in the western district.

Governor Leche at his home in Covington said that he did not wish the appointment. "My statement is the same as it was several months ago; I am definitely not interested," he declared.

Mr. Porterie was at a meeting of state attorneys general in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Keenan returned here tonight from a hunting trip at the Louisiana conservation department's camp at Pass a L'Outre. He and nearly a score of business leaders were guests of the governor and Seymour Weiss, New Orleans hotel man, on the trip.

He said, "There are four or five other men being considered for the eastern judgeship. * * * I feel sure that Mr. Porterie will be appointed in the western district." Keenan did not mention the names of the others under consideration.

MOTOR DRIVERS WILL ORGANIZE

Special Meeting Slated Here On Tuesday; Luncheon Planned

Election of officers and the perfecting of the organization of Motor Operators' Service Association of Louisiana will take place at Hotel Virginia here on Tuesday at 10 a.m. At that time all motor truck operators of the region are urged to attend.

Principal speakers will be A. P. White, chairman of the Louisiana Insurance Rating commission; General Louis F. Guerre, superintendent of the state police department; Frank Peterman, prominent Alexandria attorney; H. C. Comish, assistant secretary of state, and others.

There will be a morning meeting, a luncheon at noon and an afternoon session.

This meeting will be an outgrowth of efforts that were exerted toward organizing motor operators that were initiated by the efforts of O. Ted Madsen of Monroe last summer, who realized a need for such an organization and has been active in furthering the cause. There are, he states, 72,000 truck operators in the state and to date not more than one per cent has been contacted. Thus he anticipates that there will be a great growth of the movement which has been initiated.

Delegations are expected to be present from Shreveport, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Monroe and vicinity.

The objects of the organization are stated by Mr. Madsen as legislative, legal, operative and advisory.

DR. W. L. DOSS, JR., TO PREACH HERE

Dr. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder of the Monroe district of the Methodist church, will deliver his first sermon in his present official capacity at the First Methodist church this morning at 11 o'clock.

He will take for his subject: "Foundations for the Perpetuation of the Church."

It is expected that there will be a large attendance in order to give the new presiding elder a good send-off as he starts his new duties here.

At the evening hour, 7:30 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. W. C. Scott, will preach.

Dr. Doss will preach a sermon at the First Methodist church in West Monroe tonight at 7:30. The pastor, Rev. C. Karlos Smith, has returned from a hurried trip made to Mrs. Smith's bedside in Montgomery, Ala., and will preach the morning sermon at his church today.

Negroes At Grambling May Incorporate Their Village

Consult With Ruston City Attorney In Effort To Work Out Plan

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10 (Special)—Negroes [illegible] of the Louisiana [illegible] Normal school for negroes [illegible] west of Ruston, are [illegible] the possibilities of incorporating the village and [illegible] officials. [illegible] would make [illegible] the third all-negro incorporated place in the United States, the others being Mound Bayou, Miss., and [illegible], according to R. [illegible] Jones, president of the Grambling school.

For legal advice and assistance in their plans to incorporate, the Grambling negroes [illegible] delegated one of their [illegible] Allen Barksdale, [illegible] attorney of Ruston, [illegible] the matter [illegible] has been accepted.

A [illegible] incorporated as a village if the population includes as many as 150 persons, according to Mr. Barksdale. A town technically is classed in the population range of from 1000 to 5000 and a city above 5000, the attorney stated.

There are various ways in which a place may be incorporated, Mr. Barksdale pointed out. One method involves the obtaining of signatures of two-thirds of the persons qualified to vote and presenting the petition to the governor, after which the document would be filed with the secretary of state. A community also may be incorporated by an act of the legislature.

In an interview at Grambling, President Jones said he saw several advantages in incorporating the village.

"We are scattered out too much here at Grambling and there is a need for unification," the negro school leader declared. "For example, you can count 15 churches within five miles of Grambling. One Sunday our people go to one church and the next Sunday the same crowd goes to another church. I think the situation could be improved if we could consolidate into at least one or two good churches. Most of us are either Baptists or Methodists and believe in practically the same religion, anyway.

"For civic purposes as well as governmental reasons, we might profit by incorporating," the school president [illegible]. "Problems arise here similar to those in other communities of [illegible] able to accomplish much.

"[illegible] have been approached [illegible] matter of having street lights [illegible] at Grambling. Our [illegible] buildings here are [illegible] electricity from the Ruston [illegible].

"Some of us favor incorporating in order to provide for police protection."

The president said he felt that the incorporating of the town would add prestige to the school.

Asked about the contemplated area of the village and the probable number of residents, Jones replied:

"I think the village limits could include an area a mile square since it is little more than a mile from here to the nearest state property on the highway (U. S. highway 80) south of Grambling. In that area are more than 200 colored people above 21 years of age who would be qualified as voters."

The registering and voting by the Grambling negroes would not conflict at all with the prevailing conditions of the elections in which whites participate, Jones emphasized, adding that "we would be interested merely in voting for officers to govern the Grambling community."

In regard to raising money to pay the salaries of chief of police and other officials of the incorporated village, the school president said: "We will have to assess taxes but the chances are that the officials would have to serve as volunteers until we got things going financially."

The interest manifest in incorporating Grambling comes at a time when its principal attraction, the state school, is facing a bright future. With the state and the PWA collaborating, a total of $385,000 has been provided to erect a new gymnasium and auditorium, a classroom building, dining hall, girls' dormitory, library and president's home and to equip the institution with a sewage-disposal system. All of the new structures are to be built of brick.

The Grambling school, which is the centre [illegible] negro schools in other parts of the state, has an enrollment of [illegible] and a teaching staff of 32 [illegible]. About 200 of the students [illegible] the Grambling campus.

Jones was a teacher at Grambling for 11 years before succeeding Charles P. Adams as president [illegible]. He is a graduate of [illegible] university, holds the master's degree from Columbia university and has done work toward the doctor's degree. His activities at Grambling are said to have attracted attention in various parts of the country, with the school being visited frequently by [illegible] as well as negroes interested [illegible] particularly in the rural field.

The Grambling [illegible] originated about 35 years ago as a result of a [illegible]. The school at first [illegible] Allen Greene, only a short distance from the present site of Grambling. Allen Greene as well as the present Grambling was located on the [illegible] Central railroad. When [illegible] to Grambling [illegible] only a [illegible]. It was some time before the Grambling faction succeeded in getting the train to stop at their place, according to Jones, with the train continuing to stop at Allen Greene.

Eventually, however, the railroad depot was placed at Grambling. Several years later, in [illegible] the Grambling school was given state aid for maintenance. Today the place has a post-office, operated by a negro, three stores, plenty of churches and several homes, besides the buildings on the school campus. They are wondering whether they have what it takes to make a self-governed negro village, the third of its kind in the United States.

LITTLE THEATER PLAY SCHEDULED

'Three Cornered Moon' Will Be Presented On Friday Night

"Three Cornered Moon" will be [illegible] by the Little Theater of Monroe on Friday evening at the [illegible] of Northeast Center at [illegible] o'clock.

On the night that "Three Cornered Moon" opened in New York the [illegible] that there was a new [illegible] to be reckoned with in the person of Gertrude Tonkonogy. Here is an author who has the [illegible] and the skill to make us forget that we are looking at a play. She takes us by the hand and leads us into the very heart of family life.

The delightful, unpredictable Mrs. Rimplegar and her household of [illegible] children have their prototypes in any community. The doctor is a man we know intimately and as for Donald, the author, every village has one or more.

In the Rimplegar home Mrs. Tonkonogy shows us how love abided amidst continual flashes of excitement. The line between tranquility and uproariousness is indeed a slender one in the Rimplegar household. But we always have the feeling that we are witnessing the antics of a wholesome and charming group of human beings.

The play ripples with romance and smart sayings, a [illegible] skip and jump affair that leaps [illegible] from farce to comedy, from satire to sentiment.

In the words of the New York News, it is "Something to cheer about in the theater world—a happy comedy—[illegible] If the trend of playgoers' interest is toward simple and human plays [illegible] 'Three Cornered Moon' [illegible]."

ROLL CALL HITS HIGHEST RECORD

Sum Of $8,433.70 Is Realized In Recent Red Cross Campaign

The most successful roll call held in years, probably for all time, was that which was recently ended in Ouachita parish, according to reports rendered at a regular Red Cross meeting held Friday. The sum of $8,433.70 was realized, according to H. L. Rosenhein, parish roll call chairman. Mr. Rosenhein expressed his sincere thanks for the cooperation that made this result possible. E. C. Gibson, parish Red Cross chairman, expressed, in behalf of the membership, sincere thanks for the excellent record established by Mr. Rosenhein.

Announcement was made that a first aid station of the Red Cross will be established at the state police headquarters near the junction of DeSiard road and the Sterlington road. It will be in charge of Captain Rex F[illegible], of the state police department. Already a similar first aid station of the Red Cross has been established at Downing's tourist camp west of West Monroe. Still others are to be established.

11 TO BE TAKEN TO PRISON TODAY

Stillmore Williams And G. B. Mayatt To Serve Longest Sentences

Eleven men, recently sentenced in district criminal court here on charges of breaking and entering, larceny or arson, will be taken to the state penitentiary this morning by Sheriff Milton Coverdale and Deputies Frank X. Cline and Clyde Mitchell.

The prisoners are James Price, J. G. Brown, Clarence Brown, Harold Mayatt, G. B. Mayatt, Dennis Hattaway, T. R. Cowan, and Carlton Bledsoe, all white men, and Clyde Jones, Jack "Son" Ross, and Stillmore Williams, negroes.

G. B. Mayatt and Stillmore Williams were given the heaviest sentences, Mayatt to serve 10 years and Williams to serve 14 years, both having been convicted on breaking and entering charges, and having had previous penitentiary records.

Harold Mayatt, nephew of G. B. Mayatt, who was arrested with his uncle about a month ago on a charge of burglarizing the Sam Gunn home on the Rayville road east of here, was given one year.

Others being sentenced on breaking and entering charges were T. R. Cowan, Dennis Hattaway and Clyde Jones, the latter a negro, each of whom were given one year.

Three men will begin serving sentences for arson. J. G. Brown and James Price will serve one year each for their part in the burning of the Brown Mattress factory of West Monroe last spring. Clarence Brown, son-in-law of J. G. Brown, will serve two years for arson.

Carlton Bledsoe, one of three men arrested here several months ago for larceny of cattle, will begin serving a sentence of from 20 to 60 months.

Jack Ross, negro, was sentenced to two years for assault with intent to rob.

Special Meeting Slated Here On Tuesday; Luncheon Planned

Election of officers and the perfecting of the organization of Motor Operators' Service Association of Louisiana will take place at Hotel Virginia here on Tuesday at 10 a.m. At that time all motor truck operators of the region are urged to attend.

Principal speakers will be A. P. White, chairman of the Louisiana Insurance Rating commission; General Louis F. Guerre, superintendent of the state police department; Frank Peterman, prominent Alexandria attorney; H. C. Comish, assistant secretary of state, and others.

There will be a morning meeting, a luncheon at noon and an afternoon session.

This meeting will be an outgrowth of efforts that were exerted toward organizing motor operators that were initiated by the efforts of O. Ted Madsen of Monroe last summer, who realized a need for such an organization and has been active in furthering the cause. There are, he states, 72,000 truck operators in the state and to date not more than one per cent has been contacted. Thus he anticipates that there will be a great growth of the movement which has been initiated.

Delegations are expected to be present from Shreveport, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Monroe and vicinity.

The objects of the organization are stated by Mr. Madsen as legislative, legal, operative and advisory.

DR. W. L. DOSS, JR., TO PREACH HERE

Dr. W. L. Doss, Jr., presiding elder of the Monroe district of the Methodist church, will deliver his first sermon in his present official capacity at the First Methodist church, this morning at 11 o'clock.

He will take for his subject: "Foundations for the Perpetuation of the Church."

It is expected that there will be a large attendance in order to give the new presiding elder a good send-off as he starts his new duties here.

At the evening hour, 7:30 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. W. C. Scott, will preach.

Dr. Doss will preach a sermon at the First Methodist church in West Monroe tonight at 7:30. The pastor, Rev. C. Karlos Smith, has returned from a hurried trip made to Mrs. Smith's bedside in Montgomery, Ala., and will preach the morning sermon at his church today.

COLDS

To quickly relieve distress—rub soothing, warming Musterole on your chest, throat and back.

Musterole is NOT "just a salve." It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned remedies for distress of colds—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other helpful ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates the surface skin, stimulates, warms and soothes and quickly helps to relieve local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. In 3 strengths: Regular, Children's (Mild) and Extra Strong. 40¢.

Negroes At Grambling May Incorporate Their Village

Consult With Ruston City Attorney In Effort To Work Out Plan

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Negro residents of Grambling, seat of the Louisiana Rural Normal school for negroes, about six miles west of Ruston, are considering the possibilities of incorporating the village and electing their own governing officials.

Such a move, if it materializes, would make Grambling the third all-negro incorporated place in the United States, the other two being Mound Bayou, Miss., and Boley, Okla., according to Ralph W. E. Jones, president of the Grambling school.

For legal advice and assistance in their plans to incorporate, the Grambling negroes have delegated one of their oldest citizens, Gus May, to consult Allen Barksdale, city attorney of Ruston, who is working on the matter at present, it has been announced.

A community may be incorporated as a village if the population includes as many as 150 persons, according to Mr. Barksdale. A town technically is classed in the population range of from 1,000 to 5,000 and a city above 5,000, the attorney stated.

There are various ways in which a place may be incorporated, Mr. Barksdale pointed out. One method involves the obtaining of signatures of two-thirds of the persons qualified to vote and presenting the petition to the governor, after which the document would be filed with the secretary of state. A community also may be incorporated by an act of the legislature.

In an interview at Grambling, President Jones said he saw "several advantages" in incorporating the village.

"We are scattered out too much here at Grambling and there is a need for unification," the negro school leader declared. "For example, you can count 15 churches within five miles of Grambling. One Sunday our people go to one church and the next Sunday the same crowd goes to another church. I think the situation could be improved if we could consolidate into at least one or two good churches. Most of us are either Baptists or Methodists and believe in practically the same religion, anyway.

"For civic purposes, as well as governmental reasons, we might profit by incorporating," the school president continued. "Problems arise here similar to those in other communities, of course, and there is no one locally in authority to whom we can go to have the problems solved. Recently, some of our people organized what they called 'The Twelve,' but the group had no official powers and was not able to accomplish much.

"I, for one, have been approached lately on the matter of having street lights erected at Grambling. Our homes and other buildings here are provided with electricity from the Ruston plant; but since the community is not incorporated and consequently has no funds for such purposes, how can we finance the street lights?

"Some of us favor incorporating in order to provide for police protection."

The president said he felt that the incorporating of the town would add prestige to the school.

Asked about the contemplated area of the village and the probable number of residents, Jones replied:

"I think the village limits could include an area a mile square, since it is more than a mile from here to the nearest white property on the highway (U. S. highway 80, south of Grambling). In that area are more than 250 colored people above 21 years of age, who could be qualified as voters."

The registering and voting by the Grambling negroes "would not conflict at all" with the prevailing conditions of the elections in which whites participate, Jones emphasized, adding that "we would be interested merely in voting for officers to govern the Grambling community."

In regard to raising money to pay the mayor, chief of police and other officials of the incorporated village, the school president said "we will have to assess taxes but the chances are that the officials would have to serve as volunteers until we got things going, financially."

The interest manifest in incorporating Grambling comes at a time when its principal attraction, the state school, is facing a bright future. With the state and the PWA collaborating, a total of $385,000 has been provided to erect a new gymnasium and auditorium, a classroom building, dining hall, girls' dormitory, library and president's home and to equip the institution with a sewage-disposal system. All of the new structures are to be built of brick.

The Grambling school, which is the center for negro schools in other parts of the state, has an enrollment of 575 students and a teaching staff of 32 instructors. About 200 of the students live in dormitories on the Grambling campus.

Jones was a teacher at Grambling for 11 years before succeeding Charles P. Adams as president about two years ago. He is a graduate of Southern university, holds the master's degree from Columbia university and has done some work toward the doctor's degree. His accomplishments at Grambling are said to have attracted attention in various parts of the country, with the school being visited frequently by white people as well as negroes interested in education, particularly in the rural field.

The Grambling of today originated about 35 years ago, as a result of a "squabble that split the ranks." The school, at first sponsored for the most part by church funds, was established at a place called Allen Greene, only a short distance from the present site of Grambling. Allen Greene, as well as the present Grambling, was located on the Illinois Central railroad. When some differences arose among the negroes, part of the school was moved to Grambling, which then included only a sawmill. It was some time before the Grambling faction succeeded in getting the train to stop at their place, according to Jones, with the train continuing to stop at Allen Greene.

Eventually, however, the railroad depot was placed at Grambling. Several years later, in 1929, the Grambling school was given state aid for maintenance. Today, the place has a postoffice, operated by a negro, three stores, plenty of churches and several homes, besides the buildings on the school campus. They are wondering whether they have what it takes to make a self-governed negro village, the third of its kind in the United States.

4-H CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

JENA, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—At a recent meeting of the Jena 4-H club, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year: E. V. King, president; Falice Roark, vice-president; Clara Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Aylene Ganey, reporter. After the election, the club chose major and minor projects for the year, and admitted several new members.

LITTLE THEATER PLAY SCHEDULED

'Three Cornered Moon' Will Be Presented On Friday Night

"Three Cornered Moon" will be produced by the Little Theater of Monroe on Friday evening at the auditorium of Northeast Center, at 8:15 o'clock.

On the night that "Three Cornered Moon" opened in New York, the people of the metropolis and the country at large knew that there was a new playwright to be reckoned with in the person of Gertrude Tonkonogy. Here is an author who has the perception and the skill to make us forget that we are looking at a play. She takes us by the hand and leads us into the very heart of family life.

The delightful, imperturbable Mrs. Rimplegar and her household of mercurial children have their prototypes in any community. The doctor is a man we know intimately and as for Donald, the author, every village has one or more.

In the Rimplegar home, Mrs. Tonkonogy shows us how love abided amidst continual flashes of excitement. The line between tranquility and uproariousness is indeed a slender one in the Rimplegar household. But we always have the feeling that we are witnessing the antics of a wholesome and charming group of human beings.

The play ripples with romance and smart sayings, a frisky hop, skip and jump affair that leaps blithely from farce to comedy, from satire to sentiment.

In the words of the New York News, it is: "Something to cheer about in the theater world—a happy comedy—boasts the virtue of seeming not to have ever been written to fit any set pattern. If the trend of playgoers' interest is toward simple and human plays these worrisome days, "Three Cornered Moon" is one they will find amusing.

ROLL CALL HITS HIGHEST RECORD

Sum Of $8,433.70 Is Realized In Recent Red Cross Campaign

The most successful roll call held in years, probably for all time, was that which was recently ended in Ouachita parish, according to reports rendered at a regular Red Cross meeting held Friday. The sum of $8,433.70 was realized, according to H. L. Rosenhein, parish roll call chairman Mr. Rosenhein expressed his sincere thanks for the cooperation that made this result possible. E. C. Gibson, parish Red Cross chairman, expressed, in behalf of the membership, sincere thanks for the excellent record established by Mr. Rosenhein.

Announcement was made that a first aid station of the Red Cross will be established at the state police headquarters near the junction of DeSiard road and the Sterlington road. It will be in charge of Captain Rex Ensminger, of the state police department. Already a similar first aid station of the Red Cross has been established at Downing's tourist camp west of West Monroe. Still others are to be established.

Classes in home hygiene and care of the sick will be continued and will resume shortly after January 1. The nursing committee also rendered a good report.

The annual meeting when officers will be named for the coming year will be held on the second Friday in January. A special nominating committee was named with Judge W. M. Harper as chairman.

Italy's Demands

It will be interesting to watch the struggle between Italy and France in the latest European crisis brought about by Italy's insistence that France "return" Tunisia, Corsica, Savoie and Nice to the Italian domain.

What claim Mussolini professes to hold on Tunisia and Corsica, particularly, is hard to understand. Tunisia never was owned or occupied by Italy, having been under the protectorate of Turkey before obtained by France. Corsica was once owned by Italy but was purchased by France. Savoie and Nice became part of France by vote of the people of those two states and with the full consent of the Italian government which professed to be grateful for French aid in conflict with Austria.

Mussolini's ambition for colonial expansion is well known. When he wanted Ethiopia he sent his troops into that north African country and by force, annexed the little kingdom. The ease with which he added that rich territory to his country, plus Hitler's success in persuading England and France to agreement to the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, apparently has convinced Il Duce that he can wage a successful campaign for additional colonies, badly needed by Italy.

It will be interesting to watch further developments because France is not Czechoslovakia. Mussolini is now stepping out into the big time. France, although she lost considerable prestige when she backed down before Hitler's demands for the Sudeten, is still a major power in Europe and she will not stand idly by and see important colonies gobbled up by her neighbor to the south. Whether Mussolini wants Tunisia, Corsica, Savoie and Nice badly enough to resort to war remains to be seen. So far the dictator hasn't shown his hand in the present crisis but his official newspapers and his underlings have been loud in their demands that France relinquish these territories.

It will also be interesting to follow England's policies in the present struggle. If a conference of the four great powers of Europe is called, will Santa Claus Chamberlain be as willing to donate France's colonies to Italy as he was to agree to the annexation of Czechoslovakia's rich Sudeten by Hitler? We think not, but one never can tell.

As stated so often before, a dictator can't stand still. He must forever be expanding. Hitler's success apparently has encouraged Mussolini to seek further victories for Italy and further glory for himself. Whether or not he can accomplish his goal against France is the question today.

All of which again forcibly reminds us that a true democracy, particularly the United States of America, is a blessing for which we're all truly thankful.

MR. FARLEY'S DISCOVERY

National Chairman Farley, shrewd general that he is, has been trying to find out how it happened. He has been appraising the reverses in the last election with a view to regaining lost territory in 1940. Staff meetings have been held with his lieutenants in states east of the Mississippi and in states west of the Mississippi. It appears that what Mr. Farley has seen and heard has convinced him the last campaign in some states suffered from overconfidence and underwork, and that what is needed from here on is the elimination of existing differences. "Differences" is Mr. Farley's diplomatic description of that uproar that followed presidential endeavors to liquidate Cotton Ed and assorted colleagues.

A policy of appeasement, to coin a phrase, is Mr. Farley's objective. To that end he is hoping the coming session of congress will be friendly. What he really hopes is that when the session is over, Democrats of all sorts will be speaking to and not about one another. On that point he is interesting. Mr. Farley was asked whether the national organization would take any part in the factional fight for the Democratic nomination for mayor of Chicago. He said he had learned "from long experience" that:

"The people of any state or city resent outside interference in their own affairs. * * * I'll stand right on that statement. You can draw your own conclusions."

Not being expert conclusion-drawers, we can't readily determine what Mr. Farley means. So his remarks are referred to the conjecture department. Could he by "interference" mean President Roosevelt's tinkering with the Democratic senatorial primaries? Could he refer to his own appeal to the enrolled Democrats of Pennsylvania to nominate the Earle-Kennedy ticket?

Come, come, Jim, what's the low-down?

MUSIC AND TOLERANCE

Music is international in character, according to a bit of artistic interpretation recently provided in the Rotarian Magazine by Edward Johnson, manager of the Metropolitan Opera.

It is to the credit and distinction of American music lovers that this broad-minded viewpoint prevails within the United States. When, as in some quarters, intolerance invades the realm of art, cultural retrogression is inevitable.

Without the slightest discrimination or bias, the opera-goers of this country flock to all types of masterpiece. Their attitude is the sort of thing that promotes good will and that averts the deadly spread of nationalistic bigotry.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—There is an amazing parallel of names and circumstances between the present political hour and 1912, and some possibility that the names and circumstances will continue parallel, or at least continue related.

In 1912 William Howard Taft was president and candidate for reelection. Now his son, Robert Taft of Ohio, is freshly elected United States senator and suddenly given presidential glamor.

In 1912, Champ Clark of [illegible] was speaker of the house and a presidential aspirant who was defeated for his party's nomination by an abrupt last-minute shift of votes to Woodrow Wilson. A generation later his son, Senator Bennett Champ Clark, is freshly reelected and, like Taft, given presidential glamor.

In those days an important left wing liberal was the elder Senator Bob La Follette. Now his son, young Bob, has his place in the senate as an important left wing liberal.

Rooseveltian Counterpart

In the White House is a Roosevelt, who, to a certain degree, had his counterpart in the earlier Theodore Roosevelt. The 1938 Roosevelt has just suffered something of a setback in his effort to build around him a solid liberal party. The earlier Roosevelt in 1912 made an even more exciting effort, going to the extent of splitting the Republican party wide open, pulling the Progressive elements with him. It permitted election of Woodrow Wilson who drew a decided minority of the total popular vote.

There has been talk that the 1938 Roosevelt might not hesitate to split his party in 1940 in an effort to carry into office the part of it he considers progressive.

Overseas there is another parallel, which may bring on conditions having a tremendous bearing on the type of president this country wishes in power. In 1912, it was Kaiser Wilhelm who was looked upon as the disturbing influence, with his demands for a "place in the sun" to be had at the price of rivalry with Britain for naval supremacy, and rivalry with half of continental Europe for command of the land.

Hitler Furnishes Parallel

In 1938, Fuehrer Hitler, dictator of a later Germany, is pushing toward the east, like Wilhelm, and is demanding a place in the sun. He demands return of the colonies which Germany obtained years ago by Kaiser Wilhelm's bluff and bluster.

It is a great game, this paralleling business, but should not be carried too far, nor should too much be read into it. Wisely or not, this country is presuming that within the next few years it will have to fight, or at least be ready to fight. No such thought troubled 1912 America. It rested secure in its feeling of complete isolation from foreign fighting—and built nothing for fighting or threatening.

THE RIGHT FOUNDATION

By BRUCE CATTON

Before congress really gets down to work on the rearmament program, it is to be hoped that its members will appreciate the fact that, in a military sense, America today is in the position of England during the 19th century.

Which is to say that America today is an insular nation. Its true defense lies on the sea. Just as England was protected by its "moat" until the modern bombing plane rendered the moat useless, so today America is protected by its own moat—the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. And no military program the nation can devise is worth paying for unless it is founded on that simple fact.

Modern armaments take three forms—land, sea and air. And an insular nation must approach its defense problems from a different angle than a nation which does not enjoy the protection of the sea. Germany, for instance, must have a very strong army in order to be secure; it must have peace-time conscription and all the rest of the machinery that enables it to put an overwhelming force on the frontiers at a moment's notice.

But that is not at all the answer to the problem on this side of the Atlantic. A nation which can keep its enemies from getting near its frontiers does not need a strong frontier guard. A small, mobile force that can be rushed quickly to any danger spot is all it needs in the way of frontier defense.

But on the water the situation is reversed. Germany can have security with a relatively small navy; the United States, on the other hand, cannot have it without an exceedingly strong navy. For the simple, geographical fact that any possible enemy must cross the ocean before it can get at him gives Uncle Sam the chance to hold all enemies at arm's length—provided that he maintains the right kind of fleet, backed with an adequate air force.

This is an extremely important fact in relation to the prospects for American democracy. For a nation which must prepare in the European manner, with conscription of manpower and regimentation of industry, must inevitably surrender some of its liberties—as the French are learning today, to their sorrow. But a sea power can have security without paying that price.

It was not by accident that England enjoyed unbroken freedom and democracy for so many years. It was able to do so because, being defended on and by the seas, it could attain security without supporting an immense military establishment. And America today is in a similar situation.

We do not need a huge army, we do not need conscription, we do not need any of the grandiose plans for regimenting men, industry and money which have been discussed of late. Since we do not need those things, we can give ourselves full security without infringing on our political and economic liberties.

Above everything else, it is important that congress remember that when it goes ahead with the rearmament program.

A BOOK REVIEW

THE POWERS WOO SOUTH AMERICA

Europe finds itself these days in the greatest crisis since the World war as an ambitious Hitler drives toward the east, but how far Der Fuehrer may go ultimately depends a great deal on a struggle he is waging at the same time in distant Latin-America.

Their fortunes inextricably tied up in the same game with Hitler, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy face a staggering contest today in these nations to the south, if not a real menace to world peace. Much of the real history of tomorrow is going to be fought out diplomatically and commercially, if not with the military, in the Hispanic countries.

So points out the veteran Latin-American observer, Carleton Beals, in his newest book on this field, "The Coming Struggle for Latin-America." Mr. Beals has been studying and traveling in the 20 Spanish-speaking republics for a score of years. He feels that the foreign battle there today for rich resources and trade and strategic aerial and naval bases may well bring Europe's troubles to American soil.

Nazi Germany, for instance, has gained a tremendous footing in these regions, as have Italy and Japan, he reveals. Great Britain faces the test of her empire in this game, and the United States is losing ground.

There is a danger, Beals says, that the United States has over-goodwilled the Latin-Americas. The Roosevelt good-neighbor policy faces critical tests.

Mr. Beals writes with his usual facility and customary authority. It is not too much to say that his book should stand for a long time to come as one of the best expositions of the titanic drama that is Latin-America's today.—P. G. F.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A CAT'S VISION—A German professor in 1931 established the actual sensitivity of a cat's vision in the dark as being 40 times that of man. That means that a cat's eyes are sensitive to the light that reaches us from the stars of the last magnitude, light so faint that it would make no impression upon the most highly sensitized photographic plate.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

You can't keep a good dog out of the news. At a Park avenue fashion show, pajamas and rubbers for the pooch are exhibited, modeled by dog mannikins. It may be a long time before they get around to the underprivileged of dogdom, but the fashion czars make it clear that you're a pretty poor specimen of a citizen unless little Fifi's wardrobe is stocked with the proper nightgear—all the better if it's by Lanvin or Schiaparelli.

The other item has to do with chicken dinners for dogs. Government-inspected chickens are used in a new brand of dog provender, with a dash of beef by-products, cod-liver oil, minerals and tomatoes. Dogs are said to eat it dutifully, even zestfully.

All in all, a dog's life isn't so bad these days. Many experiments are being made in new kinds of dog food, one of them being the use of the soy bean, high in protein, as a substitute for the cheaper brands of meat. It is reported that it is highly successful and many dog dieticians, or dieticians who prescribe for dogs, to be more exact, are recommending it.

A Washington politician tried to fan up an election issue over dog food a couple of years ago. He said, and it seemed to be true, that many thousands of sovereign citizens, bucking the depression, had found that dog food gave them much more nourishment for their money than the usual run of groceries. That sounded bad—people eating dog food, but, today, it would stir more envy than horror. It may get to a point where politicians will stir sympathy for unhappy dogs who can get nothing better than roast beef and T-bone steak.

Never did the food business, serving man and beast, get such a going over as now. As the old song had it, "they fed the baby garlic so they could find him in the dark." Now, not only garlic, but its remote relative, the onion, are found to have all sorts of curative properties, and whatever they feed the baby or his grandpappy is cunningly devised for his health and well-being.

The onion, for instance, is credited with having knocked out rheumatism and arthritis in Italy, where it has been extensively eaten in spots where there was little else at hand. They find that the fragrance of the onion has germicidal properties, and that it may be helpful in curing colds. This useful property rests in something called thioaldehyde, which nature implants in the onion to enable it to resist the "smut" disease.

Just as the Germans did two years ago, the imitative Japanese start a national build-up for whale steak by an imposing public function at which prominent citizens acted as come-ons and shillers for the multitude and manifested great gustatory delight in stowing away a big slab of leviathan.

Both nations are at work on big sea-going whale-catching and rendering plants, while Japan works up a series of "national policy lunches" to start a public clamor for such refreshment. We have "Moby Dick" as testimony that whale meat may be eaten, but we never got in the way of demanding it at the family butcher shop—just stick-in-the-muds compared with up-and-coming nations like Germany and Japan. To these countries, a man-size slab of tenderloin, or a round of pork chops spells "decadent parliamentarianism."

Yuletide always stirs interest in varied and zestful eating. This particular winter solstice finds in full swing a food revolution in the progress of the "quick-freezing" method. The volume of packaged fish produced in the United States between 1929 and 1936 increased from 82,711,150 pounds to 121,484,365 and the curve is still going up. Food-packaging is changing, progressing and proliferating bewilderingly.

This is one of the best oyster crops in years, thanks to the abundant rains, sluicing down food to the oyster beds. Incidentally, an oyster crop takes four years, to harvest time, starting with the "seed crop." The starfish and the drill, their ancient enemies, prey on them relentlessly, but now the growers find a way to knock out their foes by slaked lime, and little old homo sapiens scores another point against adversity. Looking at his long list of victories, one doesn't wonder that he gets a bit chesty and starts rigging pajamas for his dog.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health

People often wonder whether men who have done much rowing, running, swimming, or played much basketball, football or baseball are likely to have heart disease later in life. It is usually believed that the athlete develops a heart that is large in response to the stresses that are placed upon it and that as a result of that, when he stops his athletics, degeneration occurs and his heart becomes weakened.

In those sports in which the muscular activity lasts for a long time, as, for example, in rowing, in long-distance swimming or running, the heart is likely to be large in relationship to the size of the body. Some authorities feel, however, that the men are able to do the athletics because they have large hearts rather than that they have large hearts because of the athletics.

Well-controlled athletics will never harm a heart that is normal and healthy. The chief danger to the athlete, as to everyone else, is the danger that he will undertake his athletic activities too soon after he has had a severe cold, influenza, pneumonia or some other illness and that under such circumstances his heart will not be able to bear what is, for him as for anyone else, an excessive strain.

Obviously, it is of the greatest importance that every person who indulges in athletics have the heart examined before undertaking serious activities. If, however, the heart is weak, the young man is likely to find it out after he goes into athletics and actually be unable to continue the performances.

When an athlete gives up his muscular work because he goes into business, because he gets married or for some other reason, it is not only the heart that is subjected to new circumstances but also the body as a whole. The athlete who gives up training is likely to begin eating more than he did previously. Soon he develops a serious increase in weight. The failure to indulge in exercise to any extent, associated with the overeating, brings on the degeneration that is typical of the period after middle age.

The best advice, therefore, is for the man who has been athletic to try to keep himself reasonably fit after he gives up athletics by controlling the amount of food and drink that he takes, by continuing a reasonable amount of exercise, and suitable attention to his body. If he will watch his weight and his blood pressure and if he will have an occasional physical examination to determine whether or not the organs of the body are functioning normally, there is no reason why the athlete should not live as long as anybody else and, indeed, even longer.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"Where are you going, Walter Smith?"

"Over to Laura's house. The crowd are going to meet there tonight to do their homework."

"What's the idea? I've heard nothing about it. What made you think of doing your homework at other folk's houses? I don't get this."

"It's more fun, and we get done faster, if we all work together. I get sick of staying home and working by myself. The crowd are going to meet at each other's houses; take turns. So I said I'd go along."

"Without asking? Does the teacher know? Will she be there?"

"I should say not. Nobody's going to be there."

"Well, neither are you. You do your homework in your own room as usual. The crowd cannot interfere with your school work. Now you may just as well stop where you are because this is ridiculous. Study is a serious business. You can go to parties that are parties, but you cannot mix play and study."

"I'm the only one of the crowd that won't be there."

"That's just too bad for the others. And I don't believe the other fathers and mothers are going to stand by and see their children stop school work and play together any more than we are."

"I have to stay home all alone all the time. The crowd go to each other's houses all the time, but I can't. Looks zif I was in jail."

"There is no reason why your friends cannot come here if you want them. I've suggested it many times."

"Yes, then you'd all sit around. Some fun that would be."

"All of us meaning that I'd be somewhere I could be seen or heard. Your father isn't at home most evenings. Is there no grown person about when the crowd gather at each other's houses?"

"I suppose they're in the house, but they don't stick around the way you'd do. I've only been once, at Betty's house and her mother wasn't home, father either. They trust their child."

"You're right. I wouldn't trust the crowd, as you call them, in the house, and I would not want you to be with them. If they were behaving as they know they should behave they would not be anxious to have the family out of the house. And the girls would not be calling you on the telephone as they are now. You tell them that it is not possible for you to go as your mother and father had made an engagement for you."

This will happen, now and then, in the best regulated family. Something has been overlooked and the child got into the wrong road. Just head him back, decidedly; stand by until he gets the idea firmly set in his mind that he is more concerned with his job of growing, learning and accomplishing something worthwhile than he is about what the crowd is doing.

There is always such a group in every school. The leader is usually a girl, rather advanced in the art of attracting boys; the girls gather in the reflected glow she sheds. Any intelligent father and mother ought to be a match for her. Boys need protection and guidance quite as much as girls do, and they are often exposed to temptations that they might well be spared.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the News-Star, 247 West 43rd St., New York, N. Y., enclosing a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

The favorite term of Hitler in this country now is "madman." It is of profound interest to watch how this "madman" moves with inflexible logic toward his goals.

More than two years ago several volumes appeared in Europe (notably Ernst Henri's "Hitler Over Europe") in which Hitler's future plans were outlined. These outlines were based partly on Hitler's book but also upon innumerable statements made by him since he came to power. At the time I wrote an outline of the predictions of these books. Since that time almost every prophecy then made has been fulfilled in abundant measure and now we see Hitler preparing to fulfill the others.

The core of the Hitler policy, according to these analysts, was the capture of the oil fields of Rumania and the grain fields of the Ukraine. They said Hitler made it clear that he would move toward the east and that he would begin by the absorption of Austria. They even described in some detail the means he would use. And he did precisely that.

Calling The Turn

They said his next step would be Czechoslovakia. They pointed out that he would make the Sudeten question the excuse for internal agitation in Czechoslovakia. They concluded that he would go into Czechoslovakia in order to get the great industrial resources of Bohemia and would use the "suppression" of German minorities as an excuse. And they insisted he would act with swiftness before England and France were ready to offer effective resistance.

They felt that Hitler would take all of Czechoslovakia. But they underestimated the ease with which he rode and which enabled him to content himself with the Sudeten areas and complete domination of the rest without sovereign ownership.

This done, the way was open to the Ukraine through either Poland or Rumania. And it is the Ukraine toward which he is driving. When Hitler promised Chamberlain that he would seek no more territory in Europe, many supposed that this would end his drive. They did not remember the predictions referred to.

Propaganda Penetration

They were that Hitler would attempt propaganda penetration of both Rumania and the Ukraine, setting up minority bogies, producing confusion and agitation and even violence in the Ukraine and Rumania. He would gamble on arousing a nationalist spirit in the Ukraine and setting the people there off upon a revolt against Russia. Germany could then support the struggle of the Ukrainians to be "free."

Now this very week comes news from Berlin that Nazi party circles are discussing in detail the project of an independent Ukrainian state. It is to include Ukraine and Ruthenia, organized as a puppet state. The plan, we are informed, proposes ceaseless agitation to make the Germans conscious of the Ukrainian issue and to set off the revolutionary energy which is supposed to smolder in the Ukraine. Thus Hitler moves with remorseless logic toward his goal.

Ran Away From Creditors And Found the Pacific

HAVING no particular future at home, adventurous Vasco Nunez de Balboa joined the great mercantile expedition of Rodrigo de Bastidas headed for the New World in the early 1600s.

On arrival, Balboa established himself in Santo Domingo and began to develop a plantation. But he was not successful, plunged heavily into debt. In order to escape his creditors, he had himself smuggled in a cask on board a ship and joined the expedition to Darien in 1510.

Insurrection took place not long after the start, however, and Balboa became supreme in command. At the same time he heard rumors of a great ocean to the west and in 1513 he pressed on anew to find it. On Sept. 25 he was the first European to see the Pacific from American shores.

Balboa saw it from a mountain top in the Isthmus of Panama. On the 29th he reached the water itself at a point still known by the name he gave to it, the Gulf of San Miguel. Promptly he took possession in the name of Spain, called the ocean the Mar del Sur, or the South Sea.

But the discovery was to prove disastrous to Balboa. He was at length involved in a plot and was charged with being a rebel. He was beheaded at Acla in 1517. Balboa, discovering the Pacific, is shown above on a 1915 stamp of the Panama Republic, one of eight of the Panama Exposition issue.

Italy's Demands

It will be interesting to watch the struggle between Italy and France in the latest European crisis brought about by Italy's insistence that France "return" Tunisia, Corsica, Savoie and Nice to the Italian domain.

What claim Mussolini professes to hold on Tunisia and Corsica, particularly, is hard to understand. Tunisia never was owned or occupied by Italy, having been under the protectorate of Turkey before obtained by France. Corsica was once owned by Italy but was purchased by France. Savoie and Nice became part of France by vote of the people of those two states and with the full consent of the Italian government which professed to be grateful for French aid in conflict with Austria.

Mussolini's ambition for colonial expansion is well known. When he wanted Ethiopia he sent his troops into that north African country and by force, annexed the little kingdom. The ease with which he added that rich territory to his country, plus Hitler's success in persuading England and France to agreement to the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, apparently has convinced Il Duce that he can wage a successful campaign for additional colonies, badly needed by Italy.

It will be interesting to watch further developments because France is not Czechoslovakia. Mussolini is now stepping out into the big time. France, although she lost considerable prestige when she backed down before Hitler's demands for the Sudeten, is still a major power in Europe and she will not stand idly by and see important colonies gobbled up by her neighbor to the south. Whether Mussolini wants Tunisia, Corsica, Savoie and Nice badly enough to resort to war remains to be seen. So far the dictator hasn't shown his hand in the present crisis but his official newspapers and his underlings have been loud in their demands that France relinquish these territories.

It will also be interesting to follow England's policies in the present struggle. If a conference of the four great powers of Europe is called, will Santa Claus Chamberlain be as willing to donate France's colonies to Italy as he was to agree to the annexation of Czechoslovakia's rich Sudeten by Hitler? We think not, but one never can tell.

As stated so often before, a dictator can't stand still. He must forever be expanding. Hitler's success apparently has encouraged Mussolini to seek further victories for Italy and further glory for himself. Whether or not he can accomplish his goal against France is the question today.

All of which again forcibly reminds us that a true democracy, particularly the United States of America, is a blessing for which we're all truly thankful.

Hitler Furnishes Parallel

In 1938, Fuehrer Hitler, dictator of a later Germany, is pushing toward the east, like Wilhelm, and is demanding a place in the sun. He demands return of the colonies which Germany obtained years ago by Kaiser Wilhelm's bluff and bluster.

It is a great game, this paralleling business, but should not be carried too far, nor should too much be read into it. Wisely or not, this country is presuming that within the next few years it will have to fight, or at least be ready to fight. No such thought troubled 1912 America. It rested secure in its feeling of complete isolation from foreign fighting—and built nothing for fighting or threatening.

THE RIGHT FOUNDATION

By BRUCE CATTON

Before congress really gets down to work on the rearmament program, it is to be hoped that its members will appreciate the fact that, in a military sense, America today is in the position of England during the 19th century.

Which is to say that America today is an insular nation. Its true defense lies on the sea. Just as England was protected by its "moat" until the modern bombing plane rendered the moat useless, so today America is protected by its own moat—the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. And no military program the nation can devise is worth paying for unless it is founded on that simple fact.

Modern armaments take three forms—land, sea and air. And an insular nation must approach its defense problems from a different angle than a nation which does not enjoy the protection of the sea. Germany, for instance, must have a very strong army in order to be secure; it must have peace-time conscription and all the rest of the machinery that enables it to put an overwhelming force on the frontiers at a moment's notice.

But that is not at all the answer to the problem on this side of the Atlantic. A nation which can keep its enemies from getting near its frontiers does not need a strong frontier guard. A small, mobile force that can be rushed quickly to any danger spot is all it needs in the way of frontier defense.

But on the water the situation is reversed. Germany can have security with a relatively small navy; the United States, on the other hand, cannot have it without an exceedingly strong navy. For the simple, geographical fact that any possible enemy must cross the ocean before it can get at him gives Uncle Sam the chance to hold all enemies at arm's length—provided that he maintains the right kind of fleet, backed with an adequate air force.

This is an extremely important fact in relation to the prospects for American democracy. For a nation which must prepare in the European manner, with conscription of manpower and regimentation of industry, must inevitably surrender some of its liberties—as the French are learning today, to their sorrow. But a sea power can have security without paying that price.

It was not by accident that England enjoyed unbroken freedom and democracy for so many years. It was able to do so because, being defended on and by the seas, it could attain security without supporting an immense military establishment. And America today is in a similar situation.

We do not need a huge army, we do not need conscription, we do not need any of the grandiose plans for regimenting men, industry and money which have been discussed of late. Since we do not need those things, we can give ourselves full security without infringing on our political and economic liberties.

Above everything else, it is important that congress remember that when it goes ahead with the rearmament program.

A BOOK REVIEW

THE POWERS WOO SOUTH AMERICA

Europe finds itself these days in the greatest crisis since the World war as an ambitious Hitler drives toward the east, but how far Der Fuehrer may go ultimately depends a great deal on a struggle he is waging at the same time in distant Latin-America.

Their fortunes inextricably tied up in the same game with Hitler, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy face a staggering contest today in these nations to the south, if not a real menace to world peace. Much of the real history of tomorrow is going to be fought out diplomatically and commercially, if not with the military, in the Hispanic countries.

So points out the veteran Latin-American observer, Carleton Beals, in his newest book on this field, "The Coming Struggle for Latin-America." Mr. Beals has been studying and traveling in the 20 Spanish-speaking republics for a score of years. He feels that the foreign battle there today for rich resources and trade and strategic aerial and naval bases may well bring Europe's troubles to American soil.

Nazi Germany, for instance, has gained a tremendous footing in these regions, as have Italy and Japan, he reveals. Great Britain faces the test of her empire in this game, and the United States is losing ground.

There is a danger, Beals says, that the United States has over-goodwilled the Latin-Americas. The Roosevelt good-neighbor policy faces critical tests.

Mr. Beals writes with his usual facility and customary authority. It is not too much to say that his book should stand for a long time to come as one of the best expositions of the titanic drama that is Latin-America's today.—P. G. F.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A CAT'S VISION—A German professor in 1931 established the actual sensitivity of a cat's vision in the dark as being 40 times that of man That means that a cat's eyes are sensitive to the light that reaches us from the stars of the last magnitude, light so faint that it would make no impression upon the most highly sensitized photographic plate.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

You can't keep a good dog out of the news. At a Park avenue fashion show, pajamas and rubbers for the pooch are exhibited, modeled by dog mannikins. It may be a long time before they get around to the underprivileged of dogdom, but the fashion czars make it clear that you're a pretty poor specimen of a citizen unless little Fifi's wardrobe is stocked with the proper nightgear—all the better if it's by Lanvin or Schiaparelli.

The other item has to do with chicken dinners for dogs. Government-inspected chickens are used in a new brand of dog provender, with a dash of beef by-products, cod-liver oil, minerals and tomatoes. Dogs are said to eat it dutifully, even zestfully.

All in all, a dog's life isn't so bad these days. Many experiments are being made in new kinds of dog food, one of them being the use of the soy bean, high in protein, as a substitute for the cheaper brands of meat. It is reported that it is highly successful and many dog dieticians, or dieticians who prescribe for dogs, to be more exact, are recommending it.

A Washington politician tried to fan up an election issue over dog food a couple of years ago. He said, and it seemed to be true, that many thousands of sovereign citizens, bucking the depression, had found that dog food gave them much more nourishment for their money than the usual run of groceries. That sounded bad—people eating dog food, but, today, it would stir more envy than horror. It may get to a point where politicians will stir sympathy for unhappy dogs who can get nothing better than roast beef and T-bone steak.

Never did the food business, serving man and beast, get such a going over as now. As the old song had it, "they fed the baby garlic so they could find him in the dark." Now, not only garlic, but its remote relative, the onion, are found to have all sorts of curative properties, and whatever they feed the baby or his grandpappy is cunningly devised for his health and well-being.

The onion, for instance, is credited with having knocked out rheumatism and arthritis in Italy, where it has been extensively eaten in spots where there was little else at hand. They find that the fragrance of the onion has germicidal properties, and that it may be helpful in curing colds. This useful property rests in something called thioaldehyde, which nature implants in the onion to enable it to resist the "smut" disease.

Just as the Germans did two years ago, the imitative Japanese start a national build-up for whale steak by an imposing public function at which prominent citizens acted as come-ons and shillers for the multitude and manifested great gustatory delight in stowing away a big slab of leviathan.

Both nations are at work on big sea-going whale-catching and rendering plants, while Japan works up a series of "national policy lunches" to start a public clamor for such refreshment. We have "Moby Dick" as testimony that whale meat may be eaten, but we never got in the way of demanding it at the family butcher shop—just stick-in-the-muds compared with up-and-coming nations like Germany and Japan. To these countries, a man-size slab of tenderloin, or a round of pork chops spells "decadent parliamentarianism."

Yuletide always stirs interest in varied and zestful eating. This particular winter solstice finds in full swing a food revolution in the progress of the "quick-freezing" method. The volume of packaged fish produced in the United States between 1929 and 1936 increased from 82,711,150 pounds to 121,484,365 and the curve is still going up. Food-packaging is changing, progressing and proliferating bewilderingly.

This is one of the best oyster crops in years, thanks to the abundant rains, sluicing down food to the oyster beds. Incidentally, an oyster crop takes four years, to harvest time, starting with the "seed crop." The starfish and the drill, their ancient enemies, prey on them relentlessly, but now the growers find a way to knock out their foes by slaked lime, and little old homo sapiens scores another point against adversity. Looking at his long list of victories, one doesn't wonder that he gets a bit chesty and starts rigging pajamas for his dog.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health

People often wonder whether men who have done much rowing, running, swimming, or played much basketball, football or baseball are likely to have heart disease later in life. It is usually believed that the athlete develops a heart that is large in response to the stresses that are placed upon it and that as a result of that, when he stops his athletics, degeneration occurs and his heart becomes weakened.

In those sports in which the muscular activity lasts for a long time, as, for example, in rowing, in long-distance swimming or running, the heart is likely to be large in relationship to the size of the body. Some authorities feel, however, that the men are able to do the athletics because they have large hearts rather than that they have large hearts because of the athletics.

Well-controlled athletics will never harm a heart that is normal and healthy. The chief danger to the athlete, as to everyone else, is the danger that he will undertake his athletic activities too soon after he has had a severe cold, influenza, pneumonia or some other illness and that under such circumstances his heart will not be able to bear what is, for him as for anyone else, an excessive strain.

Obviously, it is of the greatest importance that every person who indulges in athletics have the heart examined before undertaking serious activities. If, however, the heart is weak, the young man is likely to find it out after he goes into athletics and actually be unable to continue the performances.

When an athlete gives up his muscular work because he goes into business, because he gets married or for some other reason, it is not only the heart that is subjected to new circumstances but also the body as a whole. The athlete who gives up training is likely to begin eating more than he did previously. Soon he develops a serious increase in weight. The failure to indulge in exercise to any extent, associated with the overeating, brings on the degeneration that is typical of the period after middle age.

The best advice, therefore, is for the man who has been athletic to try to keep himself reasonably fit after he gives up athletics by controlling the amount of food and drink that he takes, by continuing a reasonable amount of exercise, and suitable attention to his body. If he will watch his weight and his blood pressure and if he will have an occasional physical examination to determine whether or not the organs of the body are functioning normally, there is no reason why the athlete should not live as long as anybody else and, indeed, even longer.

The average life of a milk bottle is 35 trips.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"Where are you going, Walter Smith?"

"Over to Laura's house. The crowd are going to meet there tonight to do their homework."

"What's the idea? I've heard nothing about it. What made you think of doing your homework at other folk's houses? I don't get this."

"It's more fun, and we get done faster, if we all work together. I get sick of staying home and working by myself. The crowd are going to meet at each other's houses; take turns. So I said I'd go along."

"Without asking? Does the teacher know? Will she be there?"

"I should say not. Nobody's going to be there."

"Well, neither are you. You do your homework in your own room as usual. The crowd cannot interfere with your school work. Now you may just as well stop where you are because this is ridiculous. Study is a serious business. You can go to parties that are parties, but you cannot mix play and study."

"I'm the only one of the crowd that won't be there."

"That's just too bad for the others. And I don't believe the other fathers and mothers are going to stand by and see their children stop school work and play together any more than we are."

"I have to stay home all alone all the time. The crowd go to each other's houses all the time, but I can't. Looks zif I was in jail."

"There is no reason why your friends cannot come here if you want them. I've suggested it many times."

"Yes, then you'd all sit around. Some fun that would be."

"All of us meaning that I'd be somewhere I could be seen or heard. Your father isn't at home most evenings. Is there no grown person about when the crowd gather at each other's houses?"

"I suppose they're in the house, but they don't stick around the way you'd do. I've only been once, at Betty's house and her mother wasn't home, father either. They trust their child."

"You're right. I wouldn't trust the crowd, as you call them, in the house, and I would not want you to be with them. If they were behaving as they know they should behave they would not be anxious to have the family out of the house. And the girls would not be calling you on the telephone as they are now. You tell them that it is not possible for you to go as your mother and father had made an engagement for you."

This will happen, now and then, in the best regulated family. Something has been overlooked and the child got into the wrong road. Just head him back, decidedly; stand by until he gets the idea firmly set in his mind that he is more concerned with his job of growing, learning and accomplishing something worthwhile than he is about what the crowd is doing.

There is always such a group in every school. The leader is usually a girl, rather advanced in the art of attracting boys; the girls gather in the reflected glow she sheds. Any intelligent father and mother ought to be a match for her. Boys need protection and guidance quite as much as girls do, and they are often exposed to temptations that they might well be spared.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the News-Star, 247 West 43rd St., New York, N. Y., enclosing a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

The favorite term of Hitler in this country now is "madman." It is of profound interest to watch how this "madman" moves with inflexible logic toward his goals.

More than two years ago several volumes appeared in Europe (notably Ernst Henri's "Hitler Over Europe") in which Hitler's future plans were outlined. These outlines were based partly on Hitler's book but also upon innumerable statements made by him since he came to power. At the time I wrote an outline of the predictions of these books. Since that time almost every prophecy then made has been fulfilled in abundant measure and now we see Hitler preparing to fulfill the others.

The core of the Hitler policy, according to these analysts, was the capture of the oil fields of Rumania and the grain field of the Ukraine. They said Hitler made it clear that he would move toward the east and that he would begin by the absorption of Austria. They even described in some detail the means he would use. And he did precisely that.

Calling The Turn

They said his next step would be Czechoslovakia. They pointed out that he would make the Sudeten question the excuse for internal agitation in Czechoslovakia. They concluded that he would go into Czechoslovakia in order to get the great industrial resources of Bohemia and would use the "suppression" of German minorities as an excuse. And they insisted he would act with swiftness before England and France were ready to offer effective resistance.

They felt that Hitler would take all of Czechoslovakia. But they underestimated the ease with which he rode and which enabled him to content himself with the Sudeten areas and complete domination of the rest without sovereign ownership.

This done, the way was open to the Ukraine through either Poland or Rumania. And it is the Ukraine toward which he is driving. When Hitler promised Chamberlain that he would seek no more territory in Europe, many supposed that this would end his drive. They did not remember the predictions referred to.

Propaganda Penetration

They were that Hitler would attempt propaganda penetration of both Rumania and the Ukraine, setting up minority bogies, producing confusion and agitation and even violence in the Ukraine and Rumania. He would gamble on arousing a nationalist spirit in the Ukraine and setting the people there off upon a revolt against Russia. Germany could then support the struggle of the Ukrainians to be "free."

Now this very week comes news from Berlin that Nazi party circles are discussing in detail the project of an independent Ukrainian state. It is to include Ukraine and Ruthenia, organized as a puppet state. The plan, we are informed, proposes ceaseless agitation to make the Germans conscious of the Ukrainian issue and to set off the revolutionary energy which is supposed to smolder in the Ukraine. Thus Hitler moves with remorseless logic toward his goal.

Ran Away From Creditors And Found the Pacific

HAVING no particular future at home, adventurous Vasco Nunez de Balboa joined the great mercantile expedition of Rodrigo de Bastidas headed for the New World in the early 1600s.

On arrival, Balboa established himself in Santo Domingo and began to develop a plantation. But he was not successful, plunged heavily into debt. In order to escape his creditors, he had himself smuggled in a cask on board a ship and joined the expedition to Darien in 1510.

Insurrection took place not long after the start, however, and Balboa became supreme in command. At the same time he heard rumors of a great ocean to the west and in 1513 he pressed on anew to find it. On Sept. 25 he was the first European to see the Pacific from American shores.

Balboa saw it from a mountain top in the Isthmus of Panama. On the 29th he reached the water itself at a point still known by the name he gave to it, the Gulf of San Miguel. Promptly he took possession in the name of Spain, called the ocean the Mar del Sur, or the South Sea.

But the discovery was to prove disastrous to Balboa. He was at length involved in a plot and was charged with being a rebel. He was beheaded at Acla in 1517. Balboa, discovering the Pacific, is shown above on a 1915 stamp of the Panama Republic, one of eight of the Panama Exposition issue.

The church was well-filled that morning. The masculine heads above the backs of the pews were, the majority of them, gray or bald. This was largely the case in the old First Meeting house, for Bayport's young and middle-aged men, most of them, were away at sea. This year, however, the war had taken some of the landlubbers. Zeth Harris, who used to clerk in the general store, was in the army, so too was Frank Gale, the blacksmith's helper, and Lucius Drake, who used to drive Doctor Parker on his rounds. Ensign Luther Baker, in uniform, his arm in a sling, came up the aisle with his mother. Luther had been wounded in the operations [illegible] Charleston, and was home on leave. The girls and young ladies turned to look admiringly at him as he passed. David, while he did not grudge Lute the admiration, did envy him the wound. At least it was proof that young Baker had been where fighting was going on. Whereas he—[illegible]

The service moved slowly. The choir sang its carefully rehearsed selection, the minister prayed for the president and the generals and the admirals and all who were risking their lives in their country's cause on land and sea and preached a fervently patriotic sermon. Old Captain Winship fell asleep in the middle of it, as he generally did, and when nudged by his wife's elbow, woke and audibly asked "Eh? What's the matter, Susan?"

At last, after the benediction, the occupants of the Day pew—the same pew Captain Elijah had sat in, and his father before him, and his father's father before that—moved slowly out to the platform. Thoph was awaiting them with the carryall and the family drove home together. Then they sat down to the dinner which Amelia had cooked for them. Conversation during the meal was mainly about Rogers. Everyone was disappointed at not having heard from him, and Grandma said she was afraid he wouldn't get here for Christmas after all. Mother—Mrs. Captain Edgar—said she had not given up hope.

"I don't remember," she added, "you and Father and everyone had given up—Edgar and I, I mean—that Christmas after the big snow—[illegible]. And we got here in time for dinner. How long ago was that? Let me see."

David answered the question. "Just 10 years ago," he said. "I was thinking about it this morning. A grand Christmas, that was."

Emily [illegible]. "I think it was the best Christmas I have ever had," she declared. "I remember telling Father so the next day, when we were on the train bound back to Boston. He said he had had a jolly time, too, and he hoped we would have a great many more like it."

The mention of Cousin Fred's name caused the talk to halt for an instant. Captain Edgar, after a quick glance at Emily, spoke.

"Christmas, when you come to think of it," he said, "has always been a lucky day for us Days. Things, and generally good things, seem to happen to us around this time. One of Father's pet yarns was about how, that time when you and he, Mother, were wrecked over in the Indian ocean and had to take to the boats, the vessel that picked you up was sighted on Christmas morning. Best Christmas he ever had, he used to swear that was."

Grandma nodded. "It isn't likely I'll ever forget it," she vowed. Then, with a look about the dining room: "It don't seem quite as Christmasy this year as it ought to, somehow. No wreaths or hog cranberry vines around. We always used to have them when the boys were young and at home. Thoph said he would get some for me, but I guess likely we both forgot it."

After breakfast next morning, Emily beckoned to David and he followed her into the sitting room.

"Dave," she said, "I have an idea. Let's you and I go up into the woods and get some Christmas greens. It will please Grandma and it will be fun, something to do, anyway. You know where to go and Thoph will drive us there, I'm sure."

But Thoph was by no means as sure. He was hard at work whitewashing the inside walls of the carriage house. "Sort of slickin' the place up for Cap'n Rogers," he announced. "The Cap'n is always a great hand for havin' everything taut and shipshape and when he fetches port I wouldn't want him to think the old man was gettin' sloppy in his old age."

It was Thoph's habit nowadays to refer to himself as an old man, but for any individual outside the family to call him that would have meant trouble. His once red hair was gray now, and his leathery jaws a trifle thinner, but he grimly declared himself able to "chew hay yet." There was no question of his ability to chew tobacco, and he was chewing it now.

"No, no, you won't neither," he vowed in answer to Dave's suggestion that they could do their own driving. "Fust place, I don't want you to, and, second, I need the horse to do an errand with down to the store. Suppose I drive you up to the Pond and then go and do my errand? Then I come up by and by, when I've got my whitewashin' done, and fetch ye both. How'll that set with ye?"

It would set very well indeed, and so it was done that way. He left them at the end of the wood road and rattled away in the two-seater. The sky had clouded over and Sandy Pond looked as chilly and desolate as it had on the afternoon, 10 years before, when the two Day boys came there, behind old Major, on the same errand. Now old Major was no more and the boys were men, but the evergreen and hog-cranberry were showing just as profusely. Even the pitch pines and scrub oaks seemed to have grown but little.

David looked about him. "I like this place," he declared, with emphasis. "I've had some good times up here, picnics and fishing in the summer and coming here in December to hunt Christmas greens, as we're doing now. Seems to belong to our Christmasses—mine and Rogers'—if you know what I mean."

"Yes, I know. It looks as if it hadn't changed, and there have been so many changes. Even two years ago who would have thought I would be living here in Bayport, that it would be my home? I can scarcely believe it, even yet."

"Yes. Yes, that's so. I—well, I guess you know how we all feel, Emily. I don't know how to say it exactly, but—but we do understand, all of us. After the home you used to have our old-fashioned place down here in the country must seem pretty—well, second-rate."

He paused, not knowing exactly how to continue. She was not looking at him, so he made another attempt. "You've been mighty plucky through it all, Em," he added. "Not one complaint. Sometimes I wonder—"

She turned now and put out her hand in protest. "Don't! Please don't!" she begged.

"Eh? Don't? Have I—"

"No, no! You haven't done anything, or said anything, either; except—only please don't talk in that way! You may me feel ashamed—almost wicked. Complaint! Why should I complain? If it hadn't been for you and Grandma and Uncle Edgar and Auntie, all of you, where should I be now? After Father died I was so all alone, or felt that I was. And then you dear people came and proved that I wasn't alone at all. You have taken me into your home and—oh, just made me feel that you really wanted me there. As if I belonged there. And I—truly I am beginning to—to hope I do belong. I love Bayport, and the old house. You mustn't call it second-rate; it is the dearest place in the world. I have always loved it, ever since I first came here as a little bit of a girl. I—oh, please don't talk so! I—"

She choked and turned away once more. David took an involuntary step toward her and then stepped back again.

"I'm sorry, Emily," he faltered. "I guess I—you see, I only meant—"

"Of course you did. And I didn't mean to say all the things I did, although I have thought them often enough. Well, we ought to be getting our evergreen, hadn't we?"

He showed her where the evergreen was thickest and how to separate the long streamers from the mat of pine needles and dead leaves. He spread the carriage robe which Thoph had left with them on the damp ground and they knelt side by side. Their hands touched as they groped amid the vines. Dave felt that he ought to talk, he must talk, but that the things he wanted most to say were those that simply must not be said.

CLYDE KENLEY FILES SUIT FOR $46,800

A personal injury suit asking $46,800 damages as the result of an automobile accident here last August has been filed in district court here by Clyde Kenley, of Monroe, against H. H. Hatten, a resident of this parish.

Kenley claims Hatten was at fault in an accident which occurred at 2:30 a.m. last August 20 at the intersection of South Grand and DeSiard streets. Kenley also claims to have suffered injuries that rendered him permanently and totally disabled.

AUTO STRIKES NEGRO CHILD, BREAKS LEG

Willie James Taylor, four-year-old negro son of James Taylor, 412 North 23rd street, suffered a fractured left leg yesterday when he was hit by an automobile driven by Louis L. Ladart, 2300 Breard street, according to a police report.

The accident occurred near 1609 Washington street about 9:15 a.m. Ladart told police he was driving west on Washington street when the boy suddenly ran into the street into the side of his car. The boy was a patient in the negro ward of St. Francis sanitarium last night.

WELFARE OFFICE NEEDS CLOTHING

Ouachita Parish Division Requests Used Garments In Good Condition

A request to the public for contributions of used clothing was issued yesterday by the Ouachita parish division of the state welfare department.

With the advent of winter weather, many appeals for warm clothing have been made to the welfare department. While requests have been made for persons of all ages, the need of clothing for school children is most urgent.

It was pointed out that in many homes there are children's garments, in good condition, which children of the homes have outgrown. Also, most adults have some garments in good condition which they no longer wear.

Persons who will contribute clothing to the welfare department are assured that their contributions will be gratefully received and will fill a vital need of those receiving them, it was stated.

Contributions may be delivered to the parish welfare department's offices in the old Central Savings Bank building on South Grand street, or a telephone call to No. 2730 will result in a collector being sent to pick up the contributions.

THE '60'S

Emily, herself, never mentioned it, to David nor, so far as he knew, to anyone else. Nevertheless he, too, took it for granted. Rogers always got what he wanted. In conversations with his younger brother—he was more confidential with the latter than with others of the family, even his father and mother—he made no secret of his ambitions. The ambitions were many, but two were fixed and unalterable. The first was to command a clipper ship; that he had already realized. The second was to marry Emily Haynes.

"Oh, I know she's got lots of fellows hanging around," he said, "but they don't worry me. And her father's got wads of money and I haven't any—yet. But I will have someday and I'll have her, too. She knows how I feel and she'll wait. Emily and I understand each other."

It was said with all the assurance in the world and David believed it. Rogers was a wonderful fellow. Rogers would be a great man and a rich man some day. Rogers reserved all the good things that might come his way. And Rogers was his brother. So, when that brother boasted of an understanding between Emily and himself, David manfully concealed his own feelings, stamped into oblivion whatever faint hopes he may have had, and offered congratulations. That night, after hours of tossing tossing wretchedness, he swore an oath; he would not be jealous and he would be loyal. Emily was worthy of the best in the world and who was better than Rogers? Certainly not he, David Day. So that was that.

The church was well-filled that morning. The masculine heads above the backs of the pews were, the majority of them, gray or black. This was usually the case in the old First Meeting house, for Bayport's young and middle-aged men, most of them, were away at sea. Just now, however, the war had taken some of the landlubbers. Zoeth Havens, who used to clerk in the general store, was in the army; so, too, was Frank Gale, the blacksmith's helper; and Darius Doane, who used to drive Doctor Parker on his rounds. Ensign Luther Baker, in uniform, his arm in a sling, came up the aisle with his mother. Luther had been wounded in the operations before Charleston and was home on leave. The girls and young ladies turned to look admiringly at him as he passed. David, while he did not grudge Lute the admiration, did envy him the wound. At least it was proof that young Baker had been where fighting was going on. Whereas typhoid—oh, bah!

The service moved slowly. The choir sang its carefully rehearsed selection, the minister prayed for the president and the generals and the admirals and all who were risking their lives in their country's cause on land and sea and preached a fervently patriotic sermon. Old Captain Winship fell asleep in the middle of it, as he generally did, and when nudged by his wife's elbow, woke and audibly asked, "Eh? What's the matter, Susan?"

At last, after the benediction, the occupants of the Day pew—the same pew Captain Elijah had sat in, and his father before him, and his father's father before that—moved slowly out to the platform. Thoph was awaiting them with the carryall and the family drove home together. Then they sat down to the dinner which Amelia had cooked for them. Conversation during the meal was mainly about Rogers. Everyone was disappointed at not having heard from him, and Grandma said she was afraid he wouldn't get here for Christmas, after all. Mother—Mrs. Captain Edgar—said she had not given up hope.

"Do you remember," she added, "how you and Father and everyone had given us up—Edgar and I, I mean—that Christmas after the big snowstorm? And we got here in time for dinner. How long ago was that? Let me see."

There was no question of his ability to chew tobacco, and he was chewing it now.

Real Estate Transfers

Dave Moore sold to Flonder Lewis a lot in Monroe for $330 cash, according to a real estate transfer recorded yesterday at the office of the clerk of court of Ouachita parish. The property in consideration was described as lot 2 of square 10 of Bryant's South Highland subdivision.

CLYDE KENLEY FILES SUIT FOR $46,800

A personal injury suit asking $46,800 damages as the result of an automobile accident here last August has been filed in district court here by Clyde Kenley, of Monroe, against H. H. Hatten, a resident of this parish.

Kenley claims Hatten was at fault in an accident which occurred at 2:30 a.m. last August 20 at the intersection of South Grand and DeSiard streets. Kenley also claims to have suffered injuries that rendered him permanently and totally disabled.

AUTO STRIKES NEGRO CHILD, BREAKS LEG

Willie James Taylor, four-year-old negro, son of James Taylor, 412 North 23rd street, suffered a fractured left leg yesterday when he was hit by an automobile driven by Louis L. Ladart, 2300 Breard street, according to a police report.

The accident occurred near 1609 Washington street about 9:15 a.m. Ladart told police he was driving west on Washington street when the boy suddenly ran into the street into the side of his car. The boy was a patient in the negro ward of St. Francis sanitarium last night.

FOR SALE

NUTLAND
Eighty Acres—60 acres in 30-year-old improved pecan trees. Best acre having produced better than $800.00 in a single season. A permanent growing investment for some one. Three tenant houses.

PECAN GROVE
One Hundred and Thirty Seven Acres—60 acres in 20-year-old grafted pecan trees. A good legacy that will increase steadily. Two tenant houses and barn.

CLOVERDALE
Four Hundred Acres—about half in cultivation. Two dwellings and two cabins. Approximately 50 top worked pecan trees. Good cotton and hay land and fine location for dairy. Can easily be divided into two or four places.

All three places are alluvial land, have good surfaced roads, and just outside city limits of Monroe. Priced reasonably. One-third cash, balance long time with 6% interest.

Fifty SHETLAND PONIES, 35 brood and young maries, 13 one and two year geldings ready to be trained and two good stallions. A good money maker for some one. Much more profitable than cattle. Large, fine lot of grafted PECAN TREES of leading varieties. Sizes ranging from large bearing trees to very small ones. Special prices this month.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO HOLD BINGO PARTY

The Thompson Wood Lee auxiliary of the Spanish-American War veterans is planning a benefit bingo party at the clubrooms, 109 1-2 South Grand street, Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The net proceeds will go to the Good Fellows fund and to help some families that the auxiliary always looks after at Christmas time.

The pastor will occupy the pulpit at both hours Sunday, speaking at the 11 o'clock hour on "Ye Are My Witnesses" and at the evening hour on "The Origin, Work and Destiny of the [illegible]." The men's chorus under the direction of Max Bramwell will sing "Praise from The Crusaders" [illegible] at the morning service. The Sunday school, B. T. U., story hour and Brotherhood all will meet at the usual time and place. We are looking forward to the coming of Dr. M. E. Dodd, who will speak at our church Thursday night of this week, December 15, on "Circling a Continent for Christ," the account of his and Mrs. Dodd's 18,000-mile airplane trip around the continent of South America. He is coming under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary society in connection with their annual program for foreign missions and the Lottie Moon offering for foreign missions. All are cordially invited to hear this great speaker.

The Sunday school which meets every Sabbath at 9:45, went beyond the hundred mark last Sunday. Two of the largest congregations seen in several weeks attended the worship services, and it is said that more communicants partook of the Lord's supper than ever known in this church. At the evening services the pastor administered the rites of baptism and the church vows to new members and also read three certificates of membership. The mid-week prayer meetings are well attended and the interest fine. The young people of the church are rendering excellent programs. The Intermediate league, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Branch, is preparing a Christmas pageant. Next Sunday being Universal Bible Sunday, the pastor will deliver a lecture at 11 a.m. on "The Wonders of the Bible." At the evening service the subject will be "The Inner Circle." At the close of the discourse, there will be a public installation of officers. We earnestly request and cordially invite one and all to come and worship with us.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS CHANGED

Registration Certificates Must Be Carried: Other Rules Listed

Fred Hanna, manager of the Motor Vehicle bureau, announced Saturday that certain regulations have been changed and now registration certificates are required to be in possession of the driver when the car or truck is being operated. This is to be in plain view and subject to inspection by any member of the department of state police or other agent or representative of the department or other public officer.

Also whenever the owner, purchaser, transferee or assignee of any vehicle seeks to procure the issuance of any registration certificate, the commissioner may require the production of the old certificate issued to the former owner of such vehicle or proof as to change of ownership or title. Also it is to be the duty of every manufacturer, dealer or other person selling or disposing of any motor vehicle in the state to equip the same with a registration certificate holder.

The law also is concerned with the transfer of registration. It states that whenever the title or interest of any person in a vehicle registered under the provisions of the act is transferred or assigned, the registration of such vehicle, together with the number plates originally assigned, shall be transferred to the transferee or assignee upon surrender of the former's registration certificate.

An owner, upon transferring a registered vehicle, is required to endorse the name of the transferee and the date of transfer upon the reverse side of certificate issued for such vehicle and to deliver same to the transferee of such vehicle, and the purchaser will be required immediately to forward such certificate to the commissioner.

In the event of the transfer or assignment of the title or interest of an owner in and to a vehicle, the registration thereof is to be suspended and the vehicle cannot be operated on the highways unless the new owner shall obtain a transfer of the registration in accordance with the new regulations, provided the commissioner or the department of state police may issue to proper persons under such rules and regulations as he shall provide, a temporary permit for the operation of such vehicle on the highways.

Before issuance of a license for any semi-trailer or tandem truck, the owner shall furnish the commissioner a serial number for said trailer or tandem truck; said serial number is to be stenciled permanently on the rear axle of semi-trailer. If the semi-trailer or tandem truck does not bear a serial number, the commissioner will assign a serial number to be placed on the truck.

In keeping with the day we are speaking to the Holy Book, and the wisdom it imparts. Our subject is "The Fountain of Life." The Sabbath school is under way at 9:40 a.m. A hearty welcome awaits you. With your presence, the attendance will reach the goal, 400. The men's class meets in the Paramount theater at 9:45 a.m. God expects His people to be loyal to the branch of His church to which they belong. Will you worship with us this Sabbath that we may honor and glorify His Holy Name, even the name of the Christ?

ST. JOSEPH CLUB RECEIVES CHARTER

ST. JOSEPH, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—A charter night program was conducted here by the St. Joseph Rotary club at the Louisiana Power and Light company's clubhouse. District Governor Jack Welch, of Baton Rouge, presented the charter and delivered the principal address.

The following program was observed: call to order, Claude Earnest, president of the local club; song, "America," by assembly; invocation, D. B. Coor; address of welcome, Philip Watson; response, Walker W. Burnside, Newellton; songs, by assembly; presentation of Rotary bell, R. C. Wilkerson, Vicksburg, Miss.; presentation of charter, and address, District Governor Welch; response, President Earnest.

Wives of the local club members served supper.

About 120 Rotarians and their wives were present, including visitors from Newellton, Vicksburg, Ferriday and Monroe.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS CHANGED

Registration Certificates Must Be Carried; Other Rules Listed

Fred Hanna, manager of the Motor Vehicle bureau, announced Saturday that cetrain regulations have been changed and now registration certificates are required to be in possession of the driver when the car or truck is being operated. This is to be in plain view and subject to inspection by any member of the department of state police or other agent or representative of the department or other public officer.

Also whenever the owner, purchaser, transferee or assignee of any vehicle seeks to procure the issuance of any registration certificate, the commissioner may require the production of the old certificate issued to the former owner of such vehicle or proof as to change of ownership or title. Also it is to be the duty of every manufacturer, dealer or other person selling or disposing of any motor vehicle in the state to equip the same with a registration certificate holder.

The law also is concerned with the transfer of registration. It states that whenever the title or interest of any person in a vehicle registered under the provisions of the act is transferred or assigned, the registration of such vehicle, together with the number plates originally assigned, shall be transferred to the transferee or assignee upon surrender of the former's registration certificate.

An owner, upon transferring a registered vehicle, is required to endorse the name of the transferee and the date of transfer upon the reverse side of certificate issued for such vehicle and to deliver same to the transferee of such vehicle, and the purchaser will be required immediately to forward such certificate to the commissioner.

In the event of the transfer or assignment of the title or interest of an owner in and to a vehicle, the registration thereof is to be suspended and the vehicle cannot be operated on the highways unless the new owner shall obtain a transfer of the registration in accordance with the new regulations, provided the commissioner or the department of state police may issue to proper persons under such rules and regulations as he shall provide, a temporary permit for the operation of such vehicle on the highways.

Before issuance of a license for any semi-trailer or tandem truck, the owner shall furnish the commissioner a serial number for said trailer or tandem truck; said serial number is to be stenciled permanently on the rear axle of semi-trailer. If the semi-trailer or tandem truck does not bear a serial number, the commissioner will assign a serial number to be placed on the truck.

How the Monroe Wholesale Drug company went over the top 100 per cent is explained by a letter which Leon G. Sugar wrote to his employes.

Here is what he wrote:

"Dear Fellow Employes: As we are at the threshold of Christmas and many a little needy fellow will go wanting for Santa Claus if the more of us who have jobs do not divide with the less fortunate, I am most anxious for us to be represented 100 per cent in the Good Fellows and this is to advise that your employer will match equal dollars and cents that the employes give toward the Good Fellows Fund. Hoping you will see this in the same spirit as the writer and give until it feels good, I am

"Yours very sincerely,

"LEON G. SUGAR."

NAZIS, FASCISTS KEEP UP TURMOIL

by the Treaty of Versailles and subsequently handed over to Lithuania. According to the Memel convention of May 8, 1924, Memel constitutes a unit under Lithuania's sovereignty but with a large measure of local autonomy.)

2. Poland is confronted with the demand of 15 Ukrainian deputies for autonomy within the framework of the Polish government for the Polish Ukraine, an area of 50,000 square miles.

Many believe that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler wants to throw the Polish Ukraine into a huge Ukrainian state carved from Poland, Soviet Russia and dismembered Czechoslovakia.

3. Rumania continued her efforts to crush the Nazi-like iron guard while some Nazis in Berlin hinted King Carol, in their opinion, might not be able to hold his throne much longer.

Carol, whose relations with Germany have cooled since he visited Hitler less than two weeks ago, sought to emphasize his attachment to France by raising Rumania's legation in Paris to an embassy and appointing his confidante, former Premier George Tatarescu, as the new ambassador.

ITALY WANTS SHARE OF SUEZ CONTROL

ROME, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Fascists muted their clamor over French Tunisia today while raising demands for a share in the control of the Suez canal.

The authoritative editor, Virginio Gayda, complained in Il Giornale d'Italia about the 175,000,000 lire ($9,210,000) Italy had to pay in Suez canal tolls during 1937.

"Italy's work of colonization and civilization in the territories of east Africa certainly could have been more extensive if this burden had been less oppressive," he asserted.

Gayda, declaring that Italian traffic through the canal was four times that of France, said Italy should have a proportionate voice in the operation of the canal.

(The Suez canal, the northern entrance to the Red sea, is ruled by 32 directors, 21 of whom are French, 10 English, representing the British government, and the other is a Netherlander. For all practical purposes the administrative control is French.)

The Suez question, Gayda conceded, is an inseparable part of the general problem of European collaboration on the basis of equality of rights, position and values of all nations in comparison with their interests."

Gayda's statement was the first precise indication of the price Italy may expect to exact from France in return for the reestablishment of friendly relations following Italian agitation the past week and a half over Tunisia, Djibouti, Corsica and other French territory, the exact Italian claims for which are yet to be defined.

Some foreign observers believed Premier Mussolini's ultimate aim is for autonomy for Italian citizens in Tunisia, north African French protectorate, and at least joint control with France over Djibouti, seaport in French Somaliland and terminus of the railroad to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The foreign affairs review Relazione Internationale asserted France could hold Tunisia "only with Italian cooperation because the Arab population is completely hostile."

(Tunis dispatches have said Arabs in Tunisia were in anti-Italian demonstrations and their leaders gave pledges they would fight with France, if necessary, in any conflict with Italy. Tunisia has a native population of 2,335,108, 94,289 Italians and 108,068 French, exclusive of the army of occupation.)

RESPONSIBILITY PUT ON PAPERS

jured up by invoking that greatly overworked phrase!

"I do not think that anyone would seriously argue that the freedom of the press to criticize the administration in office has in any manner been curtailed since the spring of 1933. A casual reading of a representative digest would reveal the fallacy of allegations to the contrary. Praise be! And may that freedom ever prevail throughout this administration and throughout every administration in all the years to come.

"A free press is essential to us as a people and to the maintenance of our form of government. That is an axiom from which no thoughtful person will dissent. On the other hand, however, our government, federal, state and municipal, has rightfully and necessarily an interest in freedom of the news as well as in the preservation of a free press."

The president's letter was part of a section on the theme "Whither America?" which added an American chapter to a notable symposium on the "drift of civilization," published 10 years ago on the fiftieth anniversary of the Post-Dispatch.

Great Britain and the United States are "cousins in democracy" amid dictatorships and should stand together.

A theater representative said a portion of the script would be re-written to include mention of Eden and his wife, who arrived last night for a week's "private" visit—his first to this country.

With almost boyish eagerness, in contrast to the reserved dignity he maintains in parliament and in Whitehall, Eden let it be known he wanted to see the "whole works" on his flying visit—shows, a view from the top of the Empire State building, art museums, night clubs and all the rest.

His biggest surprise so far, he said, was the unseasonable warmth which had New Yorkers shedding their overcoats, and he remarked about it to Mayor LaGuardia.

A crowd of 500 cheered Eden, and admiring "ohs!" and "ahs!" escaped women spectators, some of whom apparently mistook him for a Hollywood movie star.

"Is it Gable?" one woman demanded, exerting her elbows in the throng.

"More like Taylor," said another, not quite able to see over the heads in front of her.

Sales of general merchandise in small towns and rural areas were higher in October than for any previous month of 1938, but about 12 per cent lower than October, 1937.

WARNS DELEGATES AGAINST SERFDOM

the conferences should increase unity of the western hemisphere to a point where an attack on an American nation [illegible] affect the essential interests of all.

[illegible] the Buenos Aires conference of 1936 established a system of consultation in case of a threat to peace. Then the Peruvian foreign minister added:

"It is much to be hoped that America will strengthen its unity so that aggression against the sovereignty of any of the nations [illegible] will affect the essential interests of all and so that any injury to the independence of any of the American countries will compromise the security of the whole continent."

Secretary Hull, leader of the Washington delegation, made one of the most earnest and strongest speeches of his life.

Conviction rang in his voice as he warned his fellow delegates against activities from abroad which he said were aimed at undermining and destroying in other nations established institutions of government and basic social order."

KEYNOTE SPEAKER SAYS INVASIONS ARE PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Dr. David Efron, keynote speaker at a conference here on Pan-American democracy, charged today that Germany, Italy and Japan were making "actual military preparations" in the Americas in addition to striving for control through the schools and other channels.

A native of Argentina who is a professor at Sarah Lawrence college in New York, Dr. Efron told the gathering of 130 persons that his charges were supported by major official documents and other authentic information. He warned:

"Pan-American unity and unity of the democratic countries of the world is essential if this hemisphere is to be saved from the fate of Spain, if a bloody war of democracy defending itself against Fascist mercenaries is to be avoided in the Americas."

Another conference speaker, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, declared the policies adopted at the present Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, "may well determine the history of our hemisphere."

That conference, he said, "is perhaps, the most hopeful sign in a world torn by wars and crises."

Efron produced what he called documentary evidence of Nazi-Fascist activities in Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Argentina, Chile, Guatemala, Mexico, Ecuador, Colombia, Dominican Republic, and other countries.

He told of terrorist organizations in Argentina, establishment of a "German naval base, not a Peruvian" in the port of Malabrigo, on the Peruvian coast where "German warships and submarines go in and out. The concession boundaries are guarded by rows of Nazi sentries."

He charged German and Italian diplomats and officials with attempts to control the Argentine school system, and said students in German colonies wore Nazi uniforms and swastikas. He reported similar conditions in Uruguay and Chile.

He contended Nazi arms and ammunition were smuggled across the Guatemalan-Mexican frontier, for the Nazi "colonies of Soconusco, in Mexico, which have raised the banner of separation, and told of espionage in Chilean ports, factories and on German steamships stopping at Chile.

time I will continue to live in the family home at Hyde Park," he added, "and if a period collection of this kind is permanently domiciled on what is my own place, I will be able to give assistance to the maintenance of the collection during my lifetime."

The chief executive announced the project after a luncheon conference with 18 friends, most of whom are interested in history. The group will comprise an advisory council to carry out the undertaking. It will be supplemented later by leaders in the fields of economics and sociology.

Today's luncheon guests included: William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany; R. D. W. Connor, the national archivist; Ernest Lindley, columnist; Professor Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard university law school, and Frank Walker, New York business man and former director of the national emergency council.

Walker will take charge of public subscriptions for the undertaking, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Samuel Morrison of Harvard university, who attended the president's press conference, told reporters that the advisory group was "100 per cent favorable" to the undertaking.

"Other presidents have taken their papers back to their homes," Morrison said.

"Some of them have been given away by their widows. The children have played with them, and the rats have eaten them. The historian just doesn't know where to go to find them."

Mr. Roosevelt, saying that other members of his administration also might contribute material to the Hyde Park collection, added in his statement:

"An opportunity exists to set up for the first time in this country what might be called a source material collection relating to a specific period in our history."

Among his contributions to the collection, the chief executive listed his public papers, pamphlets, books and certain paintings collected since 1910. These include material dealing with his activities as a New York senator, assistant secretary of the navy, New York governor and candidate for vice-president. Mr. Roosevelt said all his presidential papers since his inauguration in 1933 would be donated.

The department of agriculture estimated in 1937 there were 123,000,000 rats in the United States, half of them on farms.

DRESSED AS WOMAN, MAN FOUND HANGED

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Rouged, wigged and attired in the garments of his mother, the body of Gale Davison was found hanged to a tree today in a suburban pasture.

The death of the former railroad brakeman on his 28th birthday [illegible] presented authorities with a [illegible] mystery.

Policemen summoned by two rabbit hunters found the body suspended from a tree [illegible] hands were manacled behind him with a pair of toy handcuffs. His head was covered with a [illegible] wig and his lips were painted scarlet.

Neither his mother, Mrs. Maude Davison, nor a girl with whom he kept company, Miss Juanita Ward, could offer an explanation of the death. Miss Ward told officers that when she saw him last night he appeared cheerful and discussed plans for celebrating his birthday.

It was not until the body was removed to a funeral parlor that it was discovered the women's clothing, complete to a corset, was a masquerade.

Davison's car, found in Galesburg and opened with keys found on his body, revealed a loaded pistol, several pairs of women's shoes and cosmetics. The luggage compartment contained his trousers and shoes.

A post-mortem examination disclosed no signs of violence except strangulation. An inquest was tentatively set for tomorrow.

dictatorship which he summed up in this impassioned outburst:

"Somebody must save the country and I will fight to the end to do so!"

In this connection, close observers have noted a hardening of public sentiment against making more concessions to the expansionist demands of Germany and Italy. There also has been a revulsion against the latest German anti-Semitic campaign.

These things have somewhat eased the premier's drive for rearmament with its attendant sacrifices for the general public, but he is, however, treading a hazardous path.

The public may be persuaded to go all the way in making the sacrifices which the premier demands, but it frankly doesn't like the program. Furthermore, the Frenchman is dead against any form of regimentation and disapproves the idea of the pseudo-dictatorship which the chamber granted Daladier to help the government over its great difficulties.

The present cabinet already has covered the span of life endured by the average French government, eight months.

A slight political misstep on the premier's part and out he would go, for his majority is as flighty as a covey of partridges.

There are 21 parties in the chamber. This government, or any other, owes its existence to a coalition of parties and invariably the ties which bind them are very loose.

Up to the moment Daladier depends on votes of his own Radical Socialist party, some of whom deserted him and fled to the left—and groups with so-called conservative tendencies. These latter are known as the nationalist bloc.

from Vienna and was composed of those whose fathers either were dead or in concentration camps. Others are to follow every two weeks.

All but 100 of the children were destined for England, where some will be trans-shipped to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, there to be trained for colonization in Ethiopia.

Jewish officials said Premier Mussolini had agreed to the establishment of a Jewish children's colony near Lake Tana.

It was long past bedtime for the smaller children, so they were carried to the train, half asleep, on the shoulders of other children charged with caring for them.

Numbers were hung around the refugees' necks—white for those going to England and red for those to be left in The Netherlands.

The children carried knapsacks, small valises, and bed linen. For passports they had only birth certificates.

old age insurance provisions of the act immediately to 2,600,000 workers in banks, charitable and religious institutions and the maritime industry and eventually to 6,000,000 farm and domestic laborers.

Several specific proposals have grown out of the three new principles.

One of these would provide that when a worker dies before reaching 65—at which age he would begin drawing insurance benefits—the benefits would go to his widow along with additional allowances for her children.

Another proposal would set up allowances for the wives of living beneficiaries over 65, to assure aged couples enough income to carry on. In case aged couples also had dependent children, such as invalid sons or daughters, provision would be made for them.

ORLEANS BUYING, COVERING BRISK

Week-End Liquidation Absorbed And Close Steady: Advances 8-14 Points

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Brisk trade buying and covering absorbed week-end liquidation in the cotton market here today and prices closed steady at net advances of 8 to 14 points.

Favorable outside markets and a belief on the part of traders that marketing quotas would be adopted in today's referendum were the main influences behind the buying movement.

At the best of the short session the market was 12 to 16 points net higher but profit taking in final dealings caused partial reactions.

December contracts closed at 8.50 bid, January 8.35 bid, March 8.35, May at 8.16, July 7.88, October 7.57-59, December new crop at 7.60 bid and March, 1940, at 7.64 bid.

The port stock yesterday was 17,700 bales and spot [illegible] 431,650 bales, an increase of 650 bales over the previous day.

Exports today were 12,638 bales.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Eight new wells in Louisiana oil fields with total initial daily production of 2,467 barrels were listed today in the weekly report of the minerals division of the department of conservation.

All of the wells were in south Louisiana. Three of the completions were east of the Atchafalaya river and two brought in new fields for the area. The largest producer listed was the Texas company's No. 1 La Terre, which brought in the Golden Meadow field in LaFourche parish, flowing at the rate of 1,094 barrels a day through a three-eighths inch choke.

Only four permits to drill new wells were issued during the week, the lowest figure for the year. This reflected the customary seasonal slump in operations in December, prior to the making up of budgets by the major companies for the next year's operations.

Daily production of crude oil in Louisiana for the week ending December 3 was estimated by the department at 260,925 barrels, of which 188,365 barrels was produced in gulf coast fields and 72,560 barrels in north Louisiana.

New wells listed in the report, with date of completion ranging from November 30 to December 4, were:

Creole, Cameron parish, Superior Oil company, No. 3 State-Gulf of Mexico, 289 barrels; Golden Meadow, LaFourche parish, the Texas company, No. 1 La Terre, 1,094 barrels; Hackberry, west, Cameron parish, Stanolind Oil and Gas company and Superior Oil company, No. 2 Kaough, 40 barrels, pumping; Iberia, Iberia parish, the Texas company, No. 5 Bryant, 528 barrels.

Jennings, Acadia parish, Gulf Refining company, No. 40 Arnaudet, 490 barrels; Lake Long, LaFourche parish, Fohs Oil company, No. 6 State, 388 barrels; Lake Verret, St. Martin parish, Shell Petroleum corporation, No. 1 Hazel Burdin, 250 barrels; Ville Platte, Evangeline parish, Continental Oil company, No. 2 Tate-McDaniel, 288 barrels.

Permits to drill new wells were issued during the week to the following:

Acadia parish, Humble Oil and Refining company; Caddo parish, Waldrip and Williams; Evangeline parish, the Texas company; St. Mary parish, Pan-American Production company.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Grain prices dipped fractionally here early today. Wheat followed a decline of almost a cent at Liverpool, while the corn pit absorbed profit-taking attracted by the week's 3 to 4 1-4 cent advance.

Opening 1-8 to 1-4 lower, December 64 1-4, May 67 1-8 to 67, Chicago wheat then lost more. Corn started 1-8 up to 1-4 off, December 51 3-8 to 1-4, May 53 1-4 to 53.

Wheat closed 1-8 to 3-8 lower, Dec. 64 1-8 to 1-4, May 67 to 67 1-8, corn unchanged to 3-3 down, Dec. 51, May 52 7-8 to 53; oats 1-8 lower to 1-8 higher.

STEEL, MOTORS IN MILD PICK-UP

Aircrafts Also Leader In Recovery Jog; Gains From Fractions To Point

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Stocks dug in for a modest rally today with market leaders retrieving fractions to a point or so of recent losses.

Activity picked up a bit on the comeback, although the pace never inconvenienced the ticker tape. Transfers were around 450,000 shares for the two hours.

There was little change in the business picture, which continued moderately cheerful for the long term, but foreign tension seemed to have lessened a bit as a market brake and the notable drying up of tax selling in the past several sessions was thought to have attracted some traders to the buying side.

Steels, aircrafts, motors, mail orders and specialties were favored the greater part of the time, although none stepped very far out in front. Rails and utilities hugged a slim groove. There were a few fair-sized losers in evidence at the close.

Bonds were selectively higher and some commodities improved.

Among stocks on the rising side were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, American Can, du Pont, United States Gypsum, General American Transportation, Paramount, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, North American, Transamerica and United States Rubber.

National Supply, weak yesterday on dividend cuts, chipped down an early loss of two points. New York Shipbuilding preferred was a backslider for several points.

Steels had to contend with forecasts of another slip-up in mill operations next week, but a decline would not be surprising to the financial district in view of slackening specifications prompted by inventory periods as the year ends.

Light offerings kept Reed Roller Bit, Electric Bond and Share, Raymond Concrete Pile and Cities Service in the background in the curb. Colts Patent Fire Arms ran up more than 4.

GOOD FELLOWS FUND LEAPS UP

great need right now with winter weather upon us.

Out of the many letters we will give but one this morning. It is a frank earnest request for aid and we are sure that Santa Claus won't overlook this one. Here it is:

"Dear Good Fellows: I am writing you to not forget me and my two little sisters. My mother is on the welfare and we don't get enough to hardly live on. My sister, eight years old, needs a coat awful bad. My sister, 10 years old, needs a pair of shoes and I would like to have a twin sweater suit. We are very small for our ages. Please do not forget us, for all we will have for Christmas dinner is what you Good Fellows bring us. We are like other children, we like to get toys but when we go to town we can't buy toys, all we can do is to look at them, and then turn away with a sad heart. We don't have a daddy to buy for us, so please don't forget us. Don't forget mother, too. My age is 12 years and sisters are 10 and eight."

How the Monroe Wholesale Drug company went over the top 100 per cent is explained by a letter which Leon G. Sugar wrote to his employes.

Here is what he wrote:

"Dear Fellow Employes: As we are at the threshold of Christmas and many a little needy fellow will go wanting for Santa Claus if the ones of us who have jobs do not divide with the less fortunate, I am most anxious for us to be represented 100 per cent in the Good Fellows, and this is to advise that your employer will match equal dollars and cents that the employes give toward the 'Good Fellows Fund. Hoping you will see this in the same spirit as the writer and give until it feels good, I am

"Yours very sincerely,

"LEON G. SUGAR."

by the Treaty of Versailles and subsequently handed over to Lithuania. According to the Memel convention of May 8, 1924, Memel constitutes a unit under Lithuania's sovereignty but with a large measure of local autonomy.)

2. Poland is confronted with the demand of 15 Ukrainian deputies for autonomy within the framework of the Polish government for the Polish Ukraine, an area of 50,000 square miles.

Many believe that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler wants to throw the Polish Ukraine into a huge Ukrainian state carved from Poland, Soviet Russia and dismembered Czechoslovakia.

3. Rumania continued her efforts to crush the Nazi-like iron guard while some Nazis in Berlin hinted King Carol, in their opinion, might not be able to hold his throne much longer.

Carol, whose relations with Germany have cooled since he visited Hitler less than two weeks ago, sought to emphasize his attachment to France by raising Rumania's legation in Paris to an embassy and appointing his confidante, former Premier George Tatarescu, as the new ambassador.

ITALY WANTS SHARE OF SUEZ CONTROL

ROME, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Fascists muted their clamor over French Tunisia today while raising demands for a share in the control of the Suez canal.

The authoritative editor, Virginio Gayda, complained in Il Giornale d'Italia about the 175,000,000 lire ($9,210,000) Italy had to pay in Suez canal tolls during 1937.

"Italy's work of colonization and civilization in the territories of east Africa certainly could have been more extensive if this burden had been less oppressive," he asserted.

Gayda, declaring that Italian traffic through the canal was four times that of France, said Italy should have a proportionate voice in the operation of the canal.

(The Suez canal, the northern entrance to the Red sea, is ruled by 32 directors, 21 of whom are French, 10 English, representing the British government, and the other is a Netherlander. For all practical purposes the administrative control is French.)

The Suez question, Gayda concluded, is an "inseparable part of the general problem of European collaboration on the basis of equality of rights, positions and values of all nations in comparison with their interests."

Gayda's statement was the first precise indication of the price Italy may expect to exact from France in return for the reestablishment of friendly relations following Italian agitation the past week and a half over Tunisia, Djibouti, Corsica and other French territory, the exact Italian claims for which are yet to be defined.

Some foreign observers believed Premier Mussolini's ultimate aim is for autonomy for Italian citizens in Tunisia, north African French protectorate, and at least joint control with France over Djibouti, seaport in French Somaliland and terminus of the railroad to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The foreign affairs review Relazionze Internationale asserted France could hold Tunisia "only with Italian cooperation because the Arab population is completely hostile."

(Tunis dispatches have said Arabs in Tunisia were in anti-Italian demonstrations and their leaders gave pledges they would fight with France, if necessary, in any conflict with Italy. Tunisia has a native population of 2,395,108, 94,289 Italians and 108,068 French, exclusive of the army of occupation.)

RESPONSIBILITY PUT ON PAPERS

jured up by invoking that greatly overworked phrase!

"I do not think that anyone would seriously argue that the freedom of the press to criticize the administration in office has, in any manner, been curtailed since the spring of 1933. A casual reading of a representative digest would reveal the fallacy of allegations to the contrary. Praise be! And may that freedom ever prevail—throughout this administration and throughout every administration in all the years to come.

"A free press is essential to us as a people and to the maintenance of our form of government. That is an axiom from which no thoughtful person will dissent. On the other hand, however, our government, federal, state and municipal, has rightfully and necessarily an interest in freedom of the news as well as in the preservation of a free press."

The president's letter was part of a section on the theme "Whither America?" which added an American chapter to a notable symposium on the "drift of civilization," published 10 years ago on the fiftieth anniversary of the Post-Dispatch.

Great Britain and the United States are "cousins in democracy" amid dictatorships and should stand together.

A theater representative said a portion of the script would be re-written to include mention of Eden and his wife, who arrived last night for a week's "private" visit—his first to this country.

With almost boyish eagerness, in contrast to the reserved dignity he maintains in parliament and in Whitehall, Eden let it be known he wanted to see the "whole works" on his flying visit—shows, a view from the top of the Empire State building, art museums, night clubs and all the rest.

His biggest surprise so far, he said, was the unseasonable warmth which had New Yorkers shedding their overcoats, and he remarked about it to Mayor LaGuardia.

A crowd of 500 cheered Eden, and admiring "ohs!" and "ahs!" escaped women spectators, some of whom apparently mistook him for a Hollywood movie star.

"Is it Gable?" one woman demanded, exerting her elbows in the throng.

"More like Taylor," said another, not quite able to see over the heads in front of her.

Sales of general merchandise in small towns and rural areas were higher in October than for any previous month of 1938, but about 12 per cent lower than October, 1937.

the conferences should increase unity of the western hemisphere to a point where an attack on any American nation would "affect the essential interests of all."

Concha recalled that the Buenos Aires conference of 1936 established a system of consultation in case of a threat to peace. Then the Peruvian foreign minister added:

"It is now to be hoped that America will strengthen its unity so that aggression against the sovereignty of any of the nations . . . will affect the essential interests of all and so that any injury to the independence of any of the American countries will compromise the security of the whole continent."

Secretary Hull, leader of the Washington delegation, made one of the most earnest and strongest speeches of his life.

Conviction rang in his voice as he warned his fellow delegates against activities from abroad which he said were aimed at "undermining and destroying in other nations established institutions of government and basic social order."

KEYNOTE SPEAKER SAYS INVASIONS ARE PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Dr. David Efron, keynote speaker at a conference here on Pan-American democracy, charged today that Germany, Italy and Japan were making "actual military preparations" in the Americas in addition to striving for control through the schools and other channels.

A native of Argentina who is a professor at Sarah Lawrence college in New York, Dr. Efron told the gathering of 130 persons that his charges were supported by maps, official documents and other authentic information. He warned:

"Pan-American unity and unity of the democratic countries of the world is essential if this hemisphere is to be saved from the fate of Spain, if a bloody war of democracy defending itself against Fascist mercenaries is to be avoided in the Americas."

Another conference speaker, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, declared the policies adopted at the present Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, "may well determine the history of our hemisphere."

That conference, he said, "is perhaps, the most hopeful sign in a world torn by wars and crises."

Efron produced what he called documentary evidence of Nazi-Fascist activities in Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Argentina, Chile, Guatemala, Mexico, Ecuador, Colombia, Dominican Republic, and other countries.

He told of terrorist organizations in Argentina, establishment of a "German naval base, not a Peruvian" in the port of Malabrigo, on the Peruvian coast where "German warships and submarines go in and out. The concession boundaries are guarded by rows of Nazi sentries."

He charged German and Italian diplomats and officials with attempts to control the Argentine school system, and said students in German colonies wore Nazi uniforms and swastikas. He reported similar conditions in Uruguay and Chile.

He contended Nazi arms and ammunition were smuggled across the Guatemalan-Mexican frontier, for the Nazi "colonies of Soconusco, in Mexico, which have raised the banner of separation, and told of espionage in Chilean ports, factories and on German steamships stopping at Chile.

ROOSEVELT WILL GIVE U. S. HOME

time I will continue to live in the family home at Hyde Park," he added, "and if a period collection of this kind is permanently domiciled on what is my own place, I will be able to give assistance to the maintenance of the collection during my lifetime."

The chief executive announced the project after a luncheon conference with 18 friends, most of whom are interested in history. The group will comprise an advisory council to carry out the undertaking. It will be supplemented later by leaders in the fields of economics and sociology.

Today's luncheon guests included: William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany; R. D. W. Connor, the national archivist; Ernest Lindley, columnist; Professor Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard university law school, and Frank Walker, New York business man and former director of the national emergency council.

Walker will take charge of public subscriptions for the undertaking, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Samuel Morrison of Harvard university, who attended the president's press conference, told reporters that the advisory group was "100 per cent favorable" to the undertaking.

"Other presidents have taken their papers back to their homes," Morrison said.

"Some of them have been given away by their widows. The children have played with them, and the rats have eaten them. The historian just doesn't know where to go to find them."

Mr. Roosevelt, saying that other members of his administration also might contribute material to the Hyde Park collection, added in his statement:

"An opportunity exists to set up for the first time in this country what might be called a source material collection relating to a specific period in our history."

Among his contributions to the collection, the chief executive listed his public papers, pamphlets, books and certain paintings collected since 1910. These include material dealing with his activities as a New York senator, assistant secretary of the navy, New York governor and candidate for vice-president. Mr. Roosevelt said all his presidential papers since his inauguration in 1933 would be donated.

The department of agriculture estimated in 1937 there were 123,000,000 rats in the United States, half of them on farms.

DRESSED AS WOMAN, MAN FOUND HANGED

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Rouged, wigged and attired in the garments of his mother, the body of Gale Davison was found hanged to a tree today in a suburban pasture.

The death of the former railroad brakeman on his 28th birthday anniversary presented authorities with a fantastic mystery.

Policemen summoned by two rabbit hunters found the body suspended from a tree by a dog chain. Davison's hands were manacled behind him with a pair of toy handcuffs. His head was covered with a brown wig and his lips were painted scarlet.

Neither his mother, Mrs. Maude Davison, nor a girl with whom he kept company, Miss Juanita Ward, could offer an explanation of his death. Miss Ward told officers that when she saw him last night he appeared cheerful and discussed plans for celebrating his birthday.

It was not until the body was removed to a funeral parlor that it was discovered the women's clothing, complete to a corset, was a masquerade.

Davison's car, found in Galesburg and opened with keys found on his body, revealed a loaded pistol, several pairs of women's shoes and cosmetics. The luggage compartment contained his trousers and shoes.

dictatorship which he summed up in this impassioned outburst:

"Somebody must save the country and I will fight to the end to do so!"

In this connection, close observers have noted a hardening of public sentiment against making more concessions to the expansionist demands of Germany and Italy. There also has been a revulsion against the latest German anti-Semitic campaign.

These things have somewhat eased the premier's drive for rearmament with its attendant sacrifices for the general public, but he is, however, treading a hazardous path.

The public may be persuaded to go all the way in making the sacrifices which the premier demands, but it frankly doesn't like the program. Furthermore, the Frenchman is dead against any form of regimentation and disapproves the idea of the pseudo-dictatorship which the chamber granted Daladier to help the government over its great difficulties.

The present cabinet already has covered the span of life endured by the average French government, eight months.

A slight political misstep on the premier's part and out he would go, for his majority is as flighty as a covey of partridges.

There are 24 parties in the chamber. This government, or any other, owes its existence to a coalition of parties, and invariably the ties which bind them are very loose.

Up to the moment Daladier depends on votes of his own Radical Socialist party—some of whom deserted him and fled to the left—and groups with so-called conservative tendencies. These latter are known as the nationalist bloc.

from Vienna and was composed of those whose fathers either were dead or in concentration camps. Others are to follow every two weeks.

All but 100 of the children were destined for England, where some will be trans-shipped to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, there to be trained for colonization in Ethiopia.

Jewish officials said Premier Mussolini had agreed to the establishment of a Jewish children's colony near Lake Tana.

It was long past bedtime for the smaller children, so they were carried to the train, half asleep, on the shoulders of other children charged with caring for them.

Numbers were hung around the refugees' necks—white for those going to England and red for those to be left in The Netherlands.

The children carried knapsacks, small valises, and bed linen. For passports they had only birth certificates.

EXTENDED SOCIAL SECURITY SOUGHT

old age insurance provisions of the act immediately to 2,600,000 workers in banks, charitable and religious institutions and the maritime industry and eventually to 6,000,000 farm and domestic laborers.

Several specific proposals have grown out of the three new principles.

One of these would provide that when a worker dies before reaching 65—at which age he would begin drawing insurance benefits—the benefits would go to his widow along with additional allowances for her children.

Another proposal would set up allowances for the wives of living beneficiaries over 65, to assure aged couples enough income to carry on. In case aged couples also had dependent children, such as invalid sons or daughters, provision would be made for them.

ORLEANS BUYING, COVERING BRISK

Week-End Liquidation Absorbed And Close Steady; Advances 8-14 Points

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Brisk trade buying and covering absorbed week-end liquidation in the cotton market here today and prices closed barely steady at net advances of 8 to 14 points.

Favorable outside markets and a belief on the part of traders that marketing quotas would be adopted in today's referendum were the main influences behind the buying movement.

At the best of the short session the market was 12 to 16 points net higher but profit taking in final dealings caused partial reactions.

December contracts closed at 8.50 bid, January 8.38 bid, March 8.35, May at 8.16, July 7.88, October 7.57-59, December, new, at 7.60 bid and March, 1940, at 7.64 bid.

The turnover yesterday was 17,700 bales and open commitments 431,650 bales, an increase of 650 bales over the previous day.

Exports today were 13,038 bales.

Livestock

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—(USDA)—Hogs 8,000, including 7,500 direct; only very few fresh hogs on sale; largely a cleanup market; steady to 10 lower than Friday's average; some inquiry on shipper account; scattered lots and few loads scaling 180 to 260 lbs. 7.30-50; strictly choice light weights absent; shippers took 400; 500 holdovers; compared with week ago light hogs steady to 10 higher; medium weight butchers little change; heavies 5 to 10 lower; packing sows 15-25 off.

Cattle 100; calves none; fed steers and yearlings predominated and sold irregularly this week following a 10-day strike period; sharp declines developed early but there was a prompt comeback, followed by another reaction on medium to good grade heavies; however, closing prices 50 over low time and generally 25 over markets immediately preceding the strike; market on yearlings and light steers active; long yearlings topped at 13.00, the week's peak, paid also for heavy steers; few heavies above 12.00, but liberal supply yearlings 11.75-12.50; mixed yearlings up to 11.00 and heifers 10.50; no strictly prime heavy steers or strictly choice heifer yearlings offered; most fed steers 8.50-11.25; short feds predominated; heifers strong to 25 higher; all cows uneven, about steady; bulls active, 15-25 higher; vealers 1.00 lower.

Sheep 1,000, including 200 direct; late Friday fat lambs closed steady to 10 higher; top 9.50; bulk fed westerns 9.25-9.40; best natives 9.40; slaughter ewes 3.75-4.25; for week ending Friday 8,200 direct; fluctuations in fat lamb prices gave rise to considerable unevenness in the hoof market this week; early trade, following a 10-day strike period, showed market decline, but close featured price recovery; top lambs at close were back to week's 9.50 top, also paid early; top on low day 9.35; week's bulk fed western lambs 8.75-9.40; natives 8.75-9.25; slaughter yearlings 6.50-8.00, top 8.50; slaughter ewes 3.50-4.25; feeding lambs 8.25-8.50 mostly, top 8.75.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Sugar futures moved irregularly today. The No. 4 held steady on a little covering while the No. 3 eased under liquidation and hedge selling.

No. 4 closed unchanged to one point higher with sales of only two lots, March at 1.10 and May 1.12.

Refined was unchanged locally at 4.50-4.55 for fine granulated but the undertone was unsettled by announcement two southern refiners had reduced prices 20 points to 4.30.

Raw sugar was unchanged at 2.85 with no sales reported.

Sugar futures No. 3 closed 2-3 lower. Sales 2,700 tons. Closed: Jan. 1.83b; March 1.90b; May 1.94b.

CHICAGO—Wheat easy; moisture prospect southwest. Corn lower; profit-taking. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs steady to 10 lower.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Eight new wells in Louisiana oil fields, with total initial daily production of 3,467 barrels, were listed today in the weekly report of the minerals division of the department of conservation.

All of the wells were in south Louisiana. Three of the completions were east of the Atchafalaya river and two brought in new fields for the area. The largest producer listed was the Texas company's No. 1 La Terre, which brought in the Golden Meadow field in LaFourche parish, flowing at the rate of 1,094 barrels a day through a three-eighths inch choke.

Only four permits to drill new wells were issued during the week, the lowest figure for the year. This reflected the customary seasonal slump in operations in December, prior to the making up of budgets by the major companies for the next year's operations.

Daily production of crude oil in Louisiana for the week ending December 3 was estimated by the department at 260,925 barrels, of which 188,365 barrels was produced in gulf coast fields and 72,560 barrels in north Louisiana.

New wells listed in the report, with date of completion ranging from November 30 to December 4, were:

Creole, Cameron parish, Superior Oil company, No. 3 State-Gulf of Mexico, 389 barrels; Golden Meadow, LaFourche parish, the Texas company, No. 1 La Terre, 1,094 barrels; Hackberry, west Cameron parish, Stanolind Oil and Gas company and Superior Oil company, No. 2 Kaough, 40 barrels, pumping; Iberia, Iberia parish, the Texas company, No. 5 Bryant, 528 barrels.

Jennings, Acadia parish, Gulf Refining company, No. 40 Arnaudet, 490 barrels; Lake Long, LaFourche parish, Fohs Oil company, No. 6 State, 388 barrels; Lake Verret, St. Martin parish, Shell Petroleum corporation, No. 1 Hazel Burdin, 250 barrels; Ville Platte, Evangeline parish, Continental Oil company, No. 2 Tate-McDaniel, 288 barrels.

Permits to drill new wells were issued during the week to the following: Acadia parish, Humble Oil and Refining company; Caddo parish, Waldrip and Williams; Evangeline parish, the Texas company; St. Mary parish, Pan-American Production company.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Grain prices dipped fractionally here early today. Wheat followed a decline of almost a cent at Liverpool, while the corn pit absorbed profit-taking attracted by the week's 3 to 4 1-4 cent advance.

Opening 1-8 to 1-4 lower, December 64 1-4, May 67 1-8 to 67, Chicago wheat then lost more. Corn started 1-8 up to 1-4 off, December 51 3-8 to 1-4, May 53 1-4 to 53.

Wheat closed 1-8 to 3-8 lower, Dec. 64 1-8 to 1-4, May 67 to 67 1-8, corn unchanged to 3-8 down, Dec. 51, May 52 7-8 to 53; oats 1-8 lower to 1-8 higher.

STEEL, MOTORS IN MILD PICK-UP

Aircrafts Also Leader In Recovery Jog; Gains From Fractions To Point

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Stocks dug in for a modest rally today with market leaders retrieving fractions to a point or so of recent losses.

Activity picked up a bit on the comeback, although the pace never inconvenienced the ticker tape. Transfers were around 450,000 shares for the two hours.

There was little change in the business picture, which continued moderately cheerful for the long term, but foreign tension seemed to have lessened a bit as a market brake and the notable drying up of tax selling in the past several sessions was thought to have attracted some traders to the buying side.

Steels, aircrafts, motors, mail orders and specialties were favored the greater part of the time, although none stepped very far out in front. Rails and utilities hugged a slim groove. There were a few fair-sized losers in evidence at the close.

Bonds were selectively higher and some commodities improved.

Among stocks on the rising side were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, American Can, du Pont, United States Gypsum, General American Transportation, Paramount, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, North American, Transamerica and United States Rubber.

National Supply, weak yesterday on dividend cuts, chipped down an early loss of two points. New York Shipbuilding preferred was a backslider for several points.

Steels had to contend with forecasts of another slip-up in mill operations next week, but a decline would not be surprising to the financial district in view of slackening specifications prompted by inventory periods as the year ends.

Light offerings kept Reed Roller Bit, Electric Bond and Share, Raymond Concrete Pile and Cities Service in the background in the curb. Colts Patent Fire Arms ran up more than 4.

FARM BUREAU TO CONVENE MONDAY

Leaders Begin Arriving In New Orleans For Annual Meeting

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Farm leaders arriving here today for the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation next week began their drafts and discussions of plans for the future stand of the organization on AAA farm legislation and suggestions for balancing agriculture, industry and labor.

Hotel reservations for the 5,000 delegates expected indicated today that the attendance would be above normal.

Edward A. O'Neal, Florence, Ala., farmer and president of the national federation, here ironing out details for the meeting with the board, expressed the belief that the national federation would continue sponsorship of the AAA legislation.

It was pointed out by officials of the federation that many of the state federations had gone on record as favoring continuation of the present program at their state meetings, generally endorsing production control, commodity loans, parity payments and soil conservation but had suggested some minor changes in administrative features.

O'Neal in pre-convention discussion described the AAA program as "not perfect but the best law we have yet had" and the closest attainment to the goal for which the organized farmers have been working for the past 17 years.

Agriculture must be balanced with industry and labor, he said, for an enduring economy.

The four-day discussion of cooperative buying, marketing, processing, insurance, legislative program, foreign trade, production and finance will open Monday in City auditorium, although lighter subjects such as rural youth, production of fruits, vegetables, livestock, dairying and the like will be taken up then in sectional conferences.

Among the Monday speakers are Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state, and N. C. Williamson, president of the American Cotton Cooperative association. Mr. O'Neal will deliver his annual report at the Monday night session when Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, Senator-elect Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, M. L. Wilson, undersecretary of agriculture, and others prominent in governmental, labor, industrial and agricultural affairs will speak.

Ransom E. Aldrich, president of the Mississippi Farm bureau and chairman of the cotton section, headed a large delegation of Mississippians to New Orleans.

In a statement he charged that there were "groups in the nation that are jealous of gains being made by the farm groups" and urged farmers to attend the meeting and take steps "to demand their fair share of the national income."

landers. He said his party wanted only strict application of the Memel autonomy statute, full cultural freedom for Germans and reorganization of Memel economic life with changes in Lithuanian customs, tariffs and foreign policy.

(A dispatch from Berlin said the Sunday voting was regarded by responsible Nazis there as merely the forerunner to complete Memel autonomy.

(Memelland, in the Nazi opinion, will be another Danzig—nominally independent of Germany but actually run from Berlin. If Lithuania "plays ball" and permits the Memellanders to do as they please—such as introduce Nazi principles of government—autonomy at present will satisfy Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was said.)

Hundreds of nervous Jewish families moved from Memelland into the Lithuanian hinterland. It was reported that the equivalent of $5,000,000 invested capital had been withdrawn from Memelland.

Jews who remained here said they had received threatening letters telling them to stay away from the polls tomorrow. Thousands of Lithuanians were said to have been deprived of voting rights by election officials.

Confident followers of Memelland's "horse doctor fuehrer," Ernst Neumann, a 50-year-old veterinarian, shouted slogans containing such words as "plebiscite" and "back to the Reich."

Neumann's pictures were everywhere, captioned, "We follow thee."

The "little fuehrer" was just back from Berlin. He declared that his followers were "Lithuanian citizens in name only. No intrinsic bond exists between Memel Germans and Lithuanians."

The Nazis expected to win all but two seats in the 29-member diet which is not to be confused with the 49-member Lithuanian parliament.

In the 1935 Memel diet election Germans won 24 seats to five for the Lithuanians but veto of numerous bills since then by the Lithuanian governor—recently replaced by a Memellanderer—blocked much legislation.

L. P. Moreland officiating, assisted by Rev. Charles B. Robinson. Interment followed in the Choudrant cemetery.

The child, only six weeks old, is survived by his parents; one sister, and two brothers.

WOMAN ENJOINED IN DRUG PROBE

Mrs. Carol E. Coster Restrained From Using $100,000 Brokerage Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Carol E. Coster was temporarily restrained today from using her $100,000 brokerage account as State Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. investigating the financial affairs of McKesson and Robbins, Inc. [illegible] that the [illegible] $18,000,000 [illegible].

The restraining order, signed by Supreme Court Justice A. Steuer on the application of Assistant Attorney General Joseph F. Ruggieri, requires Mrs. Coster and her husband, Dr. Donald Coster, and her broker, Steiner, Rouse and company, to appear in court December 19 with all books and records relating to the inquiry into McKesson and Robbins.

The giant firm, wholesaler, distributor and manufacturer of drugs, filed a petition Thursday in federal court to reorganize under the new Chandler bankruptcy act, after a private investigation of the crude drugs department by one of the firm's directors.

It was brought out then that huge supplies of drugs listed in the inventories might not actually have existed.

W. I. Cummings, a director, described the financial affairs of the company as "fantastic" in a statement to a New York stock exchange committee.

Ruggieri, applying for the restraining order, presented to Justice Steuer an affidavit which said in part:

"The deponent has reason to believe that by reason of the * * * practices (of the McKesson and Robbins company) resulting in tremendous losses to the public, which in the investigation, may be traced as funds derived from such * * * practices * * *."

The attorney general, Ruggieri said, felt it was in the public interest that the Costers and the broker be examined "concerning the practices of the defendants in relation to such alleged frauds in the sale of the company's securities to the public."

The two witnesses heard at today's hearing, conducted by Assistant Attorney-General Ambrose V. McCall, were Albert B. Ritts, chief accountant for the auditing firm of Price, Waterhouse and company, and George Rowbothan, a partner in the auditing firm.

Ritts said his examination of the financial standing of McKesson and Robbins a year ago showed assets of $87,152,765, but added that "of that figure at least $18,000,000 is subject to question."

Such a markup in assets, he said, would result from the listing of $10,000,000 in crude drug store inventory and $8,000,000 in accounts receivable, both items which may be nonexistent, officials of the firm told the stock exchange inquiry. Coster had direct supervision of the crude drugs department.

The company's records showed most of the crude drug inventory was held in warehouses in Canada and other parts of the British empire by W. W. Smith and company, English commission brokers, who acted as agents for McKesson and Robbins.

Ritts testified he relied on what he believed to be genuine Dun and Bradstreet reports on the financial condition of W. W. Smith and company, as a basis for estimating the assets as bona fide.

These reports, described yesterday by Dun and Bradstreet's president, Arthur D. Whiteside, as forgeries, were sent to him, Ritts said, by George Dietrich, assistant treasurer of the McKesson and Robbins company, who was in charge of the crude stock department under Coster's supervision.

"How was it possible to deceive you?" asked McCall.

"The bills of lading, the shipping advices and other records which we examined must have been false," Ritts said.

He and other examiners for Price, Waterhouse and company, he testified, had received communications from a "Manning and company" in Montreal, confirming alleged deposits with that concern by the Smith concern.

"There seems now to be a question as to whether 'Manning and company' exists," he said.

Tabulation of the votes was scheduled to start shortly after the polls closed at 5 p.m., local time, in the 19 states where the balloting was conducted.

AAA officials said approval of the proposals would place the administration in a strong position to insist that congress do little with existing farm legislation except to reenact its existing taxes to provide more funds for benefit payments.

Rejection of marketing quotas, coming a month after New Deal election losses in the mid-western farm belt, would put the administration in a position where it might be forced to accept major changes in policy, these officials said.

Administration leaders based their hopes for favorable results on the outcome of similar elections conducted last March, when growers of cotton voted 1,406,068 to 120,940 for marketing quotas on this year's crop. Similarly, growers of flue-cured tobacco voted 219,842 to 55,252 for quotas. Rice growers voted for the first time today on a control program.

AAA officials acknowledged they did not expect results of today's referenda to be as favorable as those of last March. Since the previous elections, farmers have had a season's trial of the marketing control system. It was to be expected, officials said, that a number would be dissatisfied with its operation and results.

If quotas were approved, cotton growers would be restricted to the sale of cotton produced on 27,500,000 acres to be allotted to them on the basis of a formula prescribed by the farm law.

The rice quota would be 11,974,000 barrels, and the flue-cured tobacco quota would be 754,240,000 pounds.

Sales in excess of quotas would be subject to penalty taxes of 3 cents a pound on cotton, 25 cents a hundred pounds on rice and half the market price on tobacco.

At 10:30 p.m., central standard time, tabulation by states of the incomplete vote from the cotton marketing quota included:

Louisiana—For 73,614; against 4,737.

Ouachita parish cotton producers, voting yesterday in the referendum on cotton marketing quotas for 1939, voted by an overwhelming majority to support the government's cotton program in the coming year.

UNION PARISH IS 95.4 PER CENT IN FAVOR

FARMERVILLE, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Union parish farmers were 95.4 per cent in favor of the government's cotton quota plan for 1939, according to the tabulation of ballots in today's referendum vote in this parish. A total of 2,336 votes were cast, 2,220 in favor of continuance of the cotton program, and 107 against.

CALDWELL FARMERS ARE 91.6 PER CENT FAVORABLE

COLUMBIA, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Cotton farmers of Caldwell parish voted 91.6 per cent in favor of the cotton acreage quota for 1939 here today. The vote was 886 for and 81 against.

FRANKLIN IS STRONG FOR COTTON PROGRAM

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Franklin parish cotton producers voted 3,352 in favor of the government's 1939 cotton program while only 125 voted against the next year's plans. The majority was 96.4 per cent in favor.

FARM BUREAU TO CONVENE MONDAY

Leaders Begin Arriving In New Orleans For Annual Meeting

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Farm leaders arriving here today for the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation next week began their drafts and discussions of plans for the future stand of the organization on AAA farm legislation and suggestions for balancing agriculture, industry and labor.

Hotel reservations for the 5,000 delegates expected indicated today that the attendance would be above normal.

Edward A. O'Neal, Florence, Ala., farmer and president of the national federation, here ironing out details for the meeting with the board, expressed the belief that the national federation would continue sponsorship of the AAA legislation.

It was pointed out by officials of the federation that many of the state federations had gone on record as favoring continuation of the present program at their state meetings, generally endorsing production control, commodity loans, parity payments and soil conservation but had suggested some minor changes in administrative features.

O'Neal in pre-convention discussion described the AAA program as "not perfect but the best law we have yet had" and the closest attainment to the goal for which the organized farmers have been working for the past 17 years.

Agriculture must be balanced with industry and labor, he said, for an enduring economy.

The four-day discussion of cooperative buying, marketing, processing, insurance, legislative program, foreign, trade production and finance will open Monday in City auditorium, although lighter subjects such as rural youth, production of fruits, vegetables, livestock, dairying and the like will be taken up then in sectional conferences.

Among the Monday speakers are Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state, and N. C. Williamson, president of the American Cotton Cooperative association. Mr. O'Neal will deliver his annual report at the Monday night session when Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, Senator-elect Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, M. L. Wilson, undersecretary of agriculture, and others prominent in governmental, labor, industrial and agricultural affairs will speak.

Ransom E. Aldrich, president of the Mississippi Farm bureau and chairman of the cotton section, headed a large delegation of Mississippians to New Orleans.

In a statement he charged that there were "groups in the nation that are jealous of gains being made by the farm groups" and urged farmers to attend the meeting and take steps "to demand their fair share of the national income."

MEMEL GRIPPED BY NAZI FEVER

landers. He said his party wanted only strict application of the Memel autonomy statute, full cultural freedom for Germans and reorganization of Memel economic life with changes in Lithuanian customs, tariffs and foreign policy.

(A dispatch from Berlin said the Sunday voting was regarded by responsible Nazis there as merely the forerunner to complete Memel autonomy.

(Memelland, in the Nazi opinion, will be another Danzig—nominally independent of Germany but actually run from Berlin. If Lithuania "plays ball" and permits the Memellanders to do as they please—such as introduce Nazi principles of government—autonomy at present will satisfy Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was said.)

Mrs. Carol E. Coster Restrained From Using $100,000 Brokerage Fund

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Carol E. Coster was temporarily restrained today from using her $100,000 brokerage account as State Attorney-General John J. Bennett, Jr., investigating the financial affairs of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., $87,000,000 drug concern headed by her husband, heard testimony that the company's estimates of crude drugs in stock might be $18,000,000 too high.

The restraining order, signed by Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer on the application of Assistant Attorney-General Joseph F. OUACHITA PRODUCERS OVERWHELMINGLY FAVORABLE

Ouachita parish cotton producers, voting yesterday in the referendum on cotton marketing quotas for 1939, voted by an overwhelming majority to support the government's cotton program in the coming year.

The vote in Ouachita parish was 95.5 per cent in favor of the cotton acreage program, and similar majorities were being reported in neighboring parishes. A total of 1,552 votes were cast by Ouachita cotton producers, 1,468 for the program and only 84 against.

In order for the government program for 1939 to become effective, however, the cotton marketing quotas must be approved by a two-thirds majority of all cotton producers throughout the south who vote in the referendum.

The voting in Ouachita parish was:

Ward 1 (Lamkin): 140 for; none against.
Ward 1 (Sterlington): 128 for; none against.
Ward 2 (Swartz): 82 for; four against.
Wards 3 and 10 (courthouse): 433 for; 21 against.
Ward 4 (Bosco): 167 for; two against.
Ward 5 (J. C. Sanford's store): 60 for; nine against.
Ward 6 (Calhoun): 201 for; 17 against.
Ward 7 (Cadeville): 130 for; nine against.
Ward 8 (Sandel Berry's store): 90 for; eight against.
Ward 9 (Hendricks' store): 35 for; 14 against.

UNION PARISH IS 95.4 PER CENT IN FAVOR

FARMERVILLE, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Union parish farmers were 95.4 per cent in favor of the government's cotton quota plan for 1939, according to the tabulation of ballots in today's referendum vote in this parish. A total of 2,336 votes were cast, 2,229 in favor of continuance of the cotton program, and 107 against.

CALDWELL FARMERS ARE 91.6 PER CENT FAVORABLE

COLUMBIA, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Cotton farmers of Caldwell parish voted 91.6 per cent in favor of the cotton acreage quota for 1939 here today. The vote was 886 for and 81 against.

FRANKLIN IS STRONG FOR COTTON PROGRAM

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Franklin parish cotton producers voted 3,352 in favor of the government's 1939 cotton program while only 125 voted against the next year's plans. The majority was 96.4 per cent in favor.

MONROE CLUB SELLS TWO PLAYERS, BUYS ONE

WHITE SOX GET PITCHER SPEER OF HOT SPRINGS

Center Fielder Rhea And First Baseman Rock Go To Williamsport

Monroe's White Sox bought one player and sold two during the meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues at New Orleans last week, Manager Doug Taitt announced yesterday on his return.

The Sox bought Pitcher Floyd Speer from the Hot Springs club and sold Beauford Rhea, center fielder, and Lee Rock, first baseman, to Williamsport, Pa., of the Eastern league. All were straight cash deals.

Speer, making his debut in organized baseball, won 10 games and lost 13 for the last-place Hot Springs club. He's a rangy fellow and is considered a real prospect. Manager Taitt said the Monroe club was offered a substantial profit on the pitcher two hours after they had purchased him from the Bathers.

Speer, a righthander, appeared in 33 games, pitched 225 innings, allowed 235 hits, 106 earned runs, walked 96 opposing batsmen and struck out 31. Wildness was his chief trouble but Taitt believes he can be cured of this difficulty. Speer batted .209 and had a perfect fielding average in 38 games.

Rock was regarded as the club's regular first sacker at the start of last season and played in 33 games before he was incapacitated in a night club fight and was lost for the remainder of the season. He received a broken jaw but is reported fully recovered now. Rhea, who stole 79 bases last season for what is believed to be a Cotton States league record, batted .303 and was considered one of the best outfielders in the circuit.

Manager Taitt also announced that there is a strong possibility that Nashville of the Southern association will train here next spring. Larry Gilbert, for years manager of the New Orleans Pelicans and now manager and part owner of the Vols, will come here Monday to inspect the local plant and make a decision concerning the Monroe offer. Gilbert will arrive here about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and will be guest of honor at a dinner at the Hotel Virginia Monday evening, Taitt said. The Vols would be here approximately one month and several exhibition games would be scheduled for Monroe.

Taitt also announced that the Monroe club would play the Philadelphia Athletics in an exhibition game at Casino park on April 5, and that the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians would play one of their exhibition games here next spring.

Although nothing definite is available on the personnel of the White Sox for 1939, it is thought that several outstanding players who helped to win the 1938 championship for Monroe will be back. The Dallas club recalled Bobby Schang, first string catcher, and last week traded him to Fort Worth. The Steers also recalled Al Bronkhurst, big righthanded pitcher, and claimed Glenn Murray, stellar outfielder, under their working agreement with the Sox. Tom Perry, the league's leading pitcher, was recalled by Shreveport, and Pete Medak, first sacker of the championship team, was recalled by the St. Louis Browns and later sold to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league.

However, Johnny Conway, shortstop voted the team's most valuable player; Frank Hackney, voted the league's best second baseman; Hank Taylor, catcher; "Red" Pruitt, third baseman, and Frank Narbut, John Yelovic, Tex Nugent and "Red" Andrews, pitchers, as well as Manager Taitt, will be back next spring unless deals are made for them within the next month.

With the purchase of Speer, the pitching staff needs only one more winning pitcher. The club must obtain a first baseman and two outfielders, but Monroe officials have been assured that reinforcements will be forthcoming from several different clubs.

PARKER HALL MAY PLAY PRO FOOTBALL

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Parker Hall, Ole Miss' all-America halfback, said today he probably would sign a contract to play professional football with the Cleveland Rams, if they make a "sufficiently interesting" offer.

Hall was drawn by the Rams yesterday in the professional football draft.

The Ole Miss star said he would like to play pro ball very much and indicated his decision would be made some time before January 1, pending a visit by a representative of the Cleveland team.

Hall, 195-pound triple-threater from Tunica, played an important role in the nine victories the Rebels won in 11 games during the past season.

HOOK STONE SIGNED AS MILLSAPS COACH

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Henry L. "Hook" Stone of Copiah-Lincoln Junior college at Wesson, Miss., was today formally signed as football coach at Millsaps college here, it was announced tonight by Dr. M. L. Smith, president of the college. His acceptance of the Millsaps post has been rumored for several weeks.

Coach Tracy Gaddy resigned at Millsaps in the midst of a disastrous season, but his resignation was not revealed until today. In a 10-game schedule Millsaps won no college games and its only victory was a breather tilt over a junior college.

Stone, like Gaddy, was a stellar athlete at Mississippi State college in his student days. Gaddy has announced no plans.

Gossip Has It At Southeastern Session That Wolves Are After Thomas

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Smoke-ring conversation heard at the Southeastern conference meeting of football coaches, athletic directors and college presidents here:

Several sources said they had "inside information" that Veteran Pop Warner was through coaching at Temple . . . that the alumni wolves had been nipping at Frank Thomas' heels because Alabama didn't produce a Rose Bowl team this season . . . that the Florida state board of control would do something about the Gator coaching situation the first of the week.

The Miami Orange Bowl committee, busy helping the University of Florida entertain the visiting coaches and managers, made no formal request for Southeastern conference approval of the New Year's game but did a good job of greeting and make-yourself-at-homing. . . .

The University of Georgia was scheduled to play host to the conference at Athens next December 4, but President H. W. Caldwell asked to be excused, explaining Georgia had scheduled a football game with the University of Miami in Miami for that day. . . . W. O. Payne, Georgia faculty chairman, said Georgia's unexpected defeat by the Miami Hurricanes this year made it necessary "for us to take every available man, including the faculty, to Miami next year." . . . So Tulane invited the conference to meet in New Orleans next December and Georgia gets the meeting in 1940.

Coach Bob Neyland and President James D. Hoskins of the University of Tennessee thanked conference members for the speedy way they granted permission for the Volunteers to play Oklahoma in Miami January 2. . . . Dr. B. F. Finney, retiring head of the 13-member conference, replied by saying if Tennessee lost to the Sooners the whole conference would be unhappy.

The Louisiana state delegation—President James Monroe Smith, Athletic Director T. P. (Red) Heard and Coach Bernie Moore—left the meeting as soon as the business sessions were finished. . . . They expained they had to catch a train and could not wait for the annual banquet. . . . Shortly after they had departed word leaked out that Heard and Moore had signed Red Sanders, one of Josh Cody's assistants at Florida. . . . Moore didn't even tell Cody about it when he said goodbye.

W. D. Funkhouser of Kentucky, secretary-treasurer of the conference, told the meeting most of the Southeastern sports tournaments had been paying their own way. . . . The few that showed deficits were in the red only a small amount. . . . The largest deficit on any one tournament was just a little more than $200. . . . Funkhouser reported the conference had more than $6,000 on the credit side of its books.

SOUTHPAW SMOLL BOUGHT BY ATLANTA CRACKERS

ATLANTA, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers purchased Clyde Smoll, 23-year-old southpaw pitcher, from Fort Worth of the Texas league today for an unannounced sum. He won 11 games and lost 12 last season.

Earle Mann, president of the Southern association club, also announced the contract of Buster Chatham has been "assigned to Fort Worth at Chatham's own request." Chatham, an Atlanta shortstop for seven years, thus will be near his Waco, Tex., home.

60,000 FOOTBALL FANS TO WITNESS FIGHT FOR CROWN

Scramble For Seats Indicates Plenty Of 'Sugar' For Participants

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Close to 60,000 fans will bank themselves in the Polo Grounds tomorrow to watch the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers fight for the championship of the National Professional league.

It is the season's real "sugar" bowl game, with the players of the contending teams splitting 60 per cent of the gate receipts and the respective owners also doing very well for themselves, thank you.

Each member of the winning side will realize something like $600 to help him through the winter, while the losing gladiators will pocket about $400 apiece. This in addition to the fairly fat salaries they have received in the past several months.

The scramble for seats has been so enthusiastic that even the federal agents are trying to find out what happened to all the seats between the 10-yard lines. Tim Mara, owner of the Giants, is trying hard to explain to their satisfaction.

Exactly 10 years ago, when professional football was very young, Mara announced that the season had cost him a cool $50,000, and 11 years back, almost to the day, the Giants and the Chicago Bears played at the Polo Grounds before 80 cash customers.

Professional football, the boy wonder of sports, has grown up so suddenly that nobody even noticed when his voice changed.

The game is regarded as a toss-up, despite the fact the Giants gave the western division champions a thorough going-over their last visit here. The Packers, on that occasion, gained practically all the ground, but the Giants scored the touchdowns. Tomorrow the Packers will have Don Hutson, the best pass receiver in the league, back in their line-up.

A week ago the Giants looked like one of the hottest elevens in history as they squelched the Washington Redskins, 36 to 0, for the eastern division title. There is slight chance of such a one-sided result tomorrow, as Green Bay is a well-knit, powerful team that never gets shoved around much.

The Giants' greatest offensive threat is big Ed Danowski, formerly of Fordham, who in the past five seasons has completed 255 out of 512 passes thrown. Green Bay owns in Cecil Isbell, out of Purdue university, the outstanding "sophomore" back of the year.

Clark Hinkle of Green Bay is called by many critics the hardest running ball-carrier since the days of Bronko Nagurski. The Giants have in Tuffy Leemans and Ward Cuff a runner-blocker combination that reminds the old-timers of Grange and Britton at Illinois. The two lines, of course, are composed of the biggest, toughest hombres that have come out of the colleges in the last eight years. Mel Hein, the Giants' "one man line," has been all-league center for five straight years.

Probable lineups:

Giants.	Pos.	Packers.
Poole	LE	Hutson
Widseth	LT	Seibold
Dell Isola	LG	Letlow
Hein	C	Mulleneaux
Tuttle	RG	Goldenberg
Parry	RT	Lee
Howell	RE	Gantenbein
Danowski	QB	Schneidman
Soar	LH	Isbell
Cuff	RH	Laws
Shaffer	FB	Hinkle

GRIFFITH TO TRY CUBAN EXPERIMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, is going to undertake another Cuban experiment.

This one is little Roberto Estalella, who can whale the seams off a baseball but who has been having trouble fielding it.

Griffith had him before, and he's going to give him another chance with the Nats. Roberto was listed as a third baseman then.

Roberto was sent to Chattanooga and then to Charlotte, where he belted the ball at a .351 clip. Last year he continued his fence-rapping performance in the Piedmont league, and Griffith sent a friend down to look him over again.

What looked to be bean balls greeted Roberto on two consecutive appearances at the plate, the scout reported and both times he ducked and smashed a homer on the next pitch.

"I like that kind of boy," said the Old Fox.

As for Estalella's fielding, said Griff, he's not a third baseman anymore. He's an outfielder and, boy, you ought to see him throw that ball!"

Griffith, great on Cuban experiments, once was so eager to sign a Cuban player that he took on an interpreter for the athlete.

The Old Fox found his Cuban couldn't play, fumed at the money he had spent, and then handed the interpreter a uniform and told him to try his hand.

The interpreter turned out to be Senor Marsans, the big league outfielder of not so many years ago.

STADIUM TO BE BUILT

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Ground will be broken at Hattiesburg next Wednesday for the new dormitory-stadium at State Teachers college, it was announced here today by Secretary J. A. Ellard of the board of trustees of state colleges. The announcement followed award of the contract to B. L. Knost and company of Pass Christian, Miss., for $125,450.

Clark Hinkle of Green Bay is called by many critics the hardest running ball-carrier since the days of Bronko Nagurski. The Giants have in Tuffy Leemans and Ward Cuff a runner-blocker combination that reminds the old-timers of Grange and Britton at Illinois. The two lines, of course, are composed of the biggest, toughest hombres that have come out of the colleges in the last eight years. Mel Hein, the Giants' "one man line," has been all-league center for five straight years.

Probable lineups:

Giants.	Pos.	Packers.
Poole	LE	Hutson
Widseth	LT	Seibold
Dell Isola	LG	Letlow
Hein	C	Mulleneaux
Tuttle	RG	Goldenberg
Parry	RT	Lee
Howell	RE	Gantenbein
Danowski	QB	Schneidman
Soar	LH	Isbell
Shaffer	FB	Hinkle

GRIFFITH TO TRY CUBAN EXPERIMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, is going to undertake another Cuban experiment.

This one is little Roberto Estalella, who can whale the seams off a baseball but who has been having trouble fielding it.

Griffith had him before, and he's going to give him another chance with the Nats. Roberto was listed as a third baseman then.

Roberto was sent to Chattanooga and then to Charlotte, where he belted the ball at a .351 clip. Last year he continued his fence-rapping performance in the Piedmont league, and Griffith sent a friend down to look him over again.

What looked to be bean balls greeted Roberto on two consecutive appearances at the plate, the scout reported and both times he ducked and smashed a homer on the next pitch.

"I like that kind of boy," said the Old Fox

As for Estalella's fielding, said Griff, "he's not a third baseman anymore. He's an outfielder and, boy, you ought to see him throw that ball!"

Griffith, great on Cuban experiments, once was so eager to sign a Cuban player that he took on an interpreter for the athlete.

The Old Fox found his Cuban couldn't play, fumed at the money he had spent, and then handed the interpreter a uniform and told him to try his hand.

The interpreter turned out to be Senor Marsans, the big league outfielder of not so many years ago.

Ouachita Cagers To Play 2 Double Headers

GOLDBERG PLANS UPON CAREER OF SPORTS WRITING

Only One Of Year's Crop Of Senior Stars With Journalistic Aspirations

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP)—If the 1938 all-America football team does nothing else, it is likely to contribute to the sports writing profession a football expert with an authoritative slant on the game. For sports writing, after a few seasons as coach, is the career that Mad Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh's two-time all-American, has mapped out for himself.

Mad Marshall is the only one of the year's crop of senior stars with journalistic aspirations.

Four of his mates on the all-senior first eleven are interested in professional football, though two of them attach strings to that interest.

Johnny Pingel, Michigan State's backfield ace, didn't want a pro job unless he landed with the Detroit Lions, and did so in Friday's draft. R[illegible] "Waddy" Young, star end of the Oklahoma Sooners, is waiting to see how he makes out in the coming wrestling season. If he does well enough to rate a place on the 1940 Olympic team, he'll try for that. Otherwise it's pro football.

Definitely committed to post-graduate pigskinnery are Ki Aldrich, towering Texas Christian center, and Ralph Heikkinen, Michigan guard and the season's outstanding lineman in the Big Ten. Aldrich plans to work in the oil fields during the summer and play pro ball for two or three years, probably with the Chicago Cardinals. Heikkinen will take a whirl at pro ball before settling down to study law.

GAMES THIS WEEK SET FOR PLAY IN WISNER, COLUMBIA

No Other Engagements Now Listed Until After Christmas Holidays

The Ouachita Parish High school cage teams appear in two double headers this week, both out of the city, when they meet the combinations of Wisner and Columbia high schools.

Coach Leo Hartman's boys and Mrs. Elizabeth Manheim's defending state champion girls will meet the Wisner aggregations Tuesday night at Wisner, then on Thursday night the locals will journey to Columbia to meet the Tide's sextet and quintet in the features of the dedication program of Columbia High school's new gymnasium.

No games have been announced as scheduled for next week and no games will be played during the Christmas holidays.

But with the reopening of school after the holidays, the Ouachita aggregations will immediately go into action, facing the Wisner boys and girls here January 2. Ogden High school's boys and girls come here January 6.

Coach Hartman's boys go to Bastrop on January 10 and give the Rams a return game here January 18. The Bolton Bears will meet the local boys at Alexandria on January 20 and here the following night.

Two dates with the Byrd High school Yellow Jackets are as yet unsettled, but Ouachita and the Shreveport five expect to play two games about February 3 and 8. No games will be played during mid-term examinations during the week of January 23 through 27.

Thus far Coach Hartman's boys have won three games against no defeats, stopping Oak Ridge on two occasions and beating Calhoun, defending parish champions, here Friday night.

Mrs. Manheim's girls have only one member of the 1937-38 state championship team back in the lineup this year, but they looked fairly good against the inexperienced Grayson team Friday night as they won their initial victory of the season. Ruth Campbell, forward, and only remaining veteran of the state title teams of the past three years, scored all Ouachita's points against Grayson.

Other members of the Ouachita girls' squad are Tempee Griffith, Peggy Moffett, Lucy Jane Gerson, Mary Lee George, Florine Furlow, Mildred Hankins, Will Edna Tarbutton, Willie Mae Elkins, Evelyn West and Marie Coleman.

Coach Hartman's Lion squad is composed of Dean Fields, Lynwood Sanford, Douglas Crews, Julian Crews, Bill Reed, Richard Potter, Bob LeBrum, Jack Holloway, and Andrew Hammett. Reed joined the squad last week after a season of football, and Alvin Fleming and Warren Seivers, also football players, are expected to join the squad soon. Two other good prospects, Evans and Francis Whitlock, members of last season's aggregation, are expected to be back in uniform after mid-term.

TONY LAZERRI JOINS DODGERS

Accepts One-Year Contract To Play Second Base With Brooklyn

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10—(AP)—Tony Lazzeri, who obtained his release from the Chicago Cubs a few days ago, announced today he had accepted terms to play second base for the Brooklyn Dodgers next year.

Lazzeri telegraphed Larry McPhail his acceptance of a one-year contract after telephone negotiations with the Brooklyn official yesterday.

He declined to disclose salary terms but expressed satisfaction with the deal. He said he was most happy over the fact he would get back into player's harness.

He emphasized he was joining Brooklyn with the agreement he was to play second base regularly.

"Mr. McPhail and I were in complete accord on the matter," he said. "He understood what I wanted and I told him I was certain I could produce for him. This is the break I have been waiting for."

Star of many World Series while playing for the Yankees 12 years, the husky San Francisco Italian drew his release and signed this year with the Chicago Cubs as utility player and coach.

After the season, he said he would not rejoin the Cubs because he "wanted to play, not warm the bench." He asked for and received his release from the Cubs last Tuesday, saying at that time he was considering several offers.

Lazzeri, despite his long service in the majors, said he thought he was "good for many years as a player."

LUKE HAMILTON WINS CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10—(AP)—Luke Hamilton of Louisiana State university finished first in the annual S. A. A. U. cross-country race over a four and a half mile course in City park today. The L. S. U. team defeated Southwestern Louisiana institute by one point.

Hamilton crossed the line about 50 yards ahead of Louis deLassus, competing for the Holy Rosary C. Y. O. Randall Stelly of Southwestern was several yards back of deLassus. Fourth place went to George McRae of L. S. U. behind were three S. L. I. men, Carroll Baggott, Joe Coords and Irwin Stirling.

Hamilton's time was 24 minutes and 22 seconds, almost a minute behind the record of 23:32.6 established last year. Fifteen athletes competed. William Breeze of Southwestern, who might have brought his team victory, was forced to return home before the start of the race because of the death of his father.

Only Two Grid Officials Got Headlines This Year

Aside From Getchell And Friesell, They Were Just Men In White Knickers

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—(AP)—Football officials went through the 1938 season wearing their customary cloak of anonymity with the exception of Referee John Getchell, who was accused of short-changing Carnegie Tech out of a down in the Notre Dame game, and Referee Red Friesell, who got his name in the papers by calling three illegal pass penalties on Yale against Harvard and another on Navy against Army.

They were merely figures in white knickers to the customers in the country's stadia. But to Asa Bushnell, director of the central office of Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics, and to his crew of "scouts," they were the most important figures on the field.

Bushnell, to the many duties of his office, this year added the task of seeking to improve football officiating. He felt the best way to do this was to reduce the E. I. A.'s roster of 275 accredited officials to the best 150, thus providing more work for a more competent group of men.

He couldn't effect that reduction without first investigating the capabilities of the referees, umpires, head linesmen and field judges. Nor could he investigate all of them himself. Therefore he appointed a number of scouts, many of them former officials, to help him.

Each Saturday these scouts attended the games of some of the association's 34 member colleges. Unknown to the working officials, they were able to make a close study of their subjects.

The officials didn't take to the idea when Bushnell first proposed it. "A spy system" was one of the milder names they applied to it. But before long they realized that it was to their own interests to have their work judged by impartial observers rather than to trust to reports turned in by the naturally-biased athletic directors and graduate managers of the colleges whose games they were handling.

The system worked well. Bushnell had confidence in his scouts and their weekly reports, the officials knew they were getting fair treatment, and at the end of the season Bushnell had a very good idea of which were his best men.

"The reason for reducing our staff is obvious," said the former Princeton graduate manager. "With 275 men on our list, none of them were getting enough work. And experience, it's been proved, is the best way for an official to improve. Only experience can teach him instinctively to make the right decision at the right time, for football is a good deal like bridge, no matter how much you may study the rules, there always will be plenty of hands you've never seen before."

The weeding-out system he used, Bushnell believes, was the most practical of a number of suggested means of reaching the same goal.

"One of the proposals was to set a hard and fast age limit," he explained. "That wouldn't work because it automatically would qualify men who weren't capable and exclude others who, despite advancing years, still might be among our most reliable workers.

"But we did take a step in that direction. We stiffened the physical examination. That should prevent any repetition of such unfortunate incidents as the collapse and death of Harry Moriarty during the N. Y. U.-North Carolina game."

There also was a recent suggestion from George Preston Marshall, president of the professional Washington Redskins, that football officials be put on a full-time salary basis, like baseball umpires, to improve the standard of their work.

"That's obviously impractical under our set-up," said Bushnell. "After all, it's rare when an official works more than one game a week. Obviously, we wouldn't be able to afford more than [illegible] for that pay.

"We [illegible] want the [illegible]"

"Mr. McPhail and I were in complete accord on the matter," he said. "He understood what I wanted and I told him I was certain I could produce for him. This is the break I have been waiting for."

Star of many World Series while playing for the Yankees 12 years, the husky San Francisco Italian drew his release and signed this year with the Chicago Cubs as utility player and coach.

After the season, he said he would not rejoin the Cubs because he "wanted to play, not warm the bench." He asked for and received his release from the Cubs last Tuesday, saying at that time he was considering several offers.

Lazzeri, despite his long service in the majors, said he thought he was "good for many years as a player."

LUKE HAMILTON WINS CROSS-COUNTRY RACE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Luke Hamilton of Louisiana State university finished first in the annual S. A. A. U. cross-country race over a four and a half mile course in City park today. The L. S. U. team defeated Southwestern Louisiana institute by one point.

Hamilton crossed the line about 50 yards ahead of Louis deLassus, competing for the Holy Rosary C. Y. O. Randall Stelly of Southwestern was several yards back of deLassus. Fourth place went to George McRae of L. S. U. behind were three S. L. I. men, Carroll Baggott, Joe Coords and Irwin Stirling.

Hamilton's time was 24 minutes and 22 seconds, almost a minute behind the record of 23:32.6 established last year. Fifteen athletes competed. William Bresie of Southwestern, who might have brought his team victory, was forced to return home before the start of the race because of the death of his father.

TOURNAMENT DATES SET BY SEMI-PRO CONGRESS

WICHITA, Kas., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Award of the fifth annual National Semi-Pro Baseball tournament for United States teams to Wichita, August 11 to 23, 1939, and scheduling of the Canadian championship tournament at St. John, New Brunswick, starting the same date, were announced by the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress today.

State tournaments already scheduled for 1939 included:

Mississippi, at Laurel, July 15 to 23, tentative.

BILL AND GABBY DO SOME TRADING

Aside From Getchell And Friesell, They Were Just Men In White Knickers

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Football officials went through the 1938 season wearing their customary cloaks of anonymity, with the exception of Referee John Getchell, who was accused of "shortchanging" Carnegie Tech out of a down in the Notre Dame game, and Referee Red Friesell, who got his name in the papers by calling three illegal pass penalties on Yale against Harvard and another on Navy against Army.

They were merely figures in white knickers to the customers in the country's stadia. But to Asa Bushnell, director of the central office of Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics, and to his crew of "scouts," they were the most important figures on the field.

Bushnell, to the many duties of his office, this year added the task of seeking to improve football officiating. He felt the best way to do this was to reduce the E. I. A.'s roster of 275 accredited officials to the best 150, thus providing more work for a more competent group of men.

He couldn't effect that reduction without first investigating the capabilities of the referees, umpires, head linesmen and field judges. Nor could he investigate all of them himself. Therefore he appointed a number of scouts, many of them former officials, to help him.

Each Saturday these scouts attended the games of some of the association's 34 member colleges. Unknown to the working officials, they were able to make a close study of their subjects.

The officials didn't take to the idea when Bushnell first proposed it. "A spy system" was one of the milder names they applied to it. But before long they realized that it was to their own interests to have their work judged by impartial observers rather than to trust to reports turned in by the naturally-biased athletic directors and graduate managers of the colleges whose games they were handling.

The system worked well, Bushnell had confidence in his scouts and their weekly reports, the officials knew they were getting fair treatment, and at the end of the season Bushnell had a very good idea of which were his best men.

"The reason for reducing our staff is obvious," said the former Princeton graduate manager. "With 275 men on our list, none of them were getting enough work. And experience, it's been proved, is the best way for an official to improve. Only experience can teach him instinctively to make the right decision at the right time, for football is a good deal like bridge, no matter how much you may study the rules, there always will be plenty of hands you've never seen before."

The weeding-out system he used, Bushnell believes, was the most practical of a number of suggested means of reaching the same goal.

"One of the proposals was to set a hard and fast age limit," he explained. "That wouldn't work because it automatically would qualify men who weren't capable and exclude others who, despite advancing years, still might be among our most reliable workers.

"But we did take a step in that direction. We stiffened the physical examination. That should prevent any repetition of such unfortunate incidents as the collapse and death of Harry Moriarty during the N. Y. U.-North Carolina game."

There also was a recent suggestion from George Preston Marshall, president of the professional Washington Redskins, that football officials be put on a full-time salary basis, like baseball umpires, to improve the standard of their work.

"That's obviously impractical under our set-up," said Bushnell. "After all, it's rare when an official works more than one game a week. Obviously, we wouldn't be able to afford more than very meager salaries. And we don't want the kind of men who could work for that pay.

"We do want the type of man we now have—the man who retains his enthusias mfor football, wants to keep in close contact with the game, makes a conscientious study of the rules and, while he willingly accepts the check he receives for his services, would work just as hard and just as well if the pay were abolished entirely."

JACKSON, ELIZABETHTON TO BATTLE FOR TITLE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Golden Bears of Jackson marched today to the West Tennessee prep school football championship for the third successive year, defeating Memphis Tech 10 to 6.

Quarterback Jimmy Matlock was the hero of the piece, turning in a brilliant job of signal-calling and reeling off touchdown runs of 55 and 20 yards, the former on the run-back of a punt.

Aspiring for the state title, Jackson next Saturday will take on Elizabethton, which licked Shelbyville today 26-0.

WARLAINE WINNER OF JEFFERSON HANDICAP

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Warlaine, a 3-year-old son of Man o' War owned by Weston W. Adams of Boston, Mass., beat a field of eight others in the $1,500 Jefferson Handicap at the Fair Grounds race track here today. Lightly weighted with 102 pounds and well handled by Jockey Eddie Robart, Warlaine overhauled Gato, owned by Mrs. A. M. Creech, in the stretch and won the mile and one-sixteenth feature going away. Warlaine paid $9.20 for $2 to win.

MARINE NAMED NAVY'S COACH

Captain Emery Larson Succeeds Lieutenant Hardwick At Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Navy placed its 1939 football hopes today in the knowing hands of Captain Emery E. (Swede) Larson, a marine renowned throughout the service for the good fortune that always has followed his coaching efforts.

Captain Larson's appointment as head coach to succeed Lieutenant H. J. (Hank) Hardwick was announced by Captain E. W. McKee, director of athletics at the naval academy. He becomes the first marine officer to coach a Navy football team.

In appointing Larson, present commander of the marine detachment at the naval academy, the Navy stuck to its graduate-coach policy. Hardwick, it was announced, will return to sea duty at his own request. No other changes in the coaching staff were made.

Hard luck has been Hardwick's lot in the past two years. His teams lost to Army and fared badly against other major opponents. This year he produced an air-minded team that outgained nearly every opponent, but won only one major game.

Good luck on the other hand has always followed Larson. His success as a service coach at stations from Parris Island, S. C., to Shanghai has been pronounced and "Larson luck" has been a by-word since he led three Navy teams to victory over Army as a Middy center.

In 1935 and 1936, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania teams he coached won two successive fleet championships. Ten years before that he had coached the all-Navy team in Hawaii. In 1928, he was line coach at the University of Hawaii.

Larson was varsity center on the 1919, 1920 and 1921 Navy teams that whipped the Army, and named in 1921 on Walter Camp's second-string all-America eleven. An all-America lacrosse player, he received the Thompson trophy for athletic achievement upon his graduation in 1922.

TRADES EXPECTED WHEN BIG LEAGUE MAGNATES GATHER

Sessions Of Major Circuits To Start Tuesday And End Thursday

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Hotel [illegible] sales pa[illegible] baseballs [illegible] meet here in the [illegible] for the annual major [illegible]

The New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs jumped the gun at New Orleans in announcing a triple play deal in which the Giants got Ken O'Dea, Frank Demaree and Bill Jurges in return for Gus Mancuso, Dick Bartell and Hank Leiber, and the fans got headaches trying to figure out who got the best of the transaction. However, other major deals are sizzling.

For instance, the Giants are expected to make a grab for Zeke Bonura, Washington first baseman who has been waived by other American league clubs.

Several deals were reported put on the fire at the meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs at New Orleans this week, and these may come to a boil here.

It was reported that the St. Louis Cardinals were ready to trade Outfielder Enos Slaughter to the Cubs for Outfielder Augie Galan, and that the Chicago White Sox would be only too glad to give utility Infielder Boze Berger to the St. Louis Browns, with the only stipulation that the Browns hand over Pitcher Russ Van Atta.

Another transaction which will be watched with interest is that which will reveal the destination of Fred Hutchinson, Pacific Coast league hurling ace on whom is reported to dangle a $50,000 price tag. The Pittsburgh Pirates are supposed to have the inside track for his services.

'MORE VALUABLE ON BENCH'

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—There's very little chance that Bill Terry, who is officially "general manager" of the New York Giants, will move up to the front office and hire Frankie Frisch as bench manager.

When Owner Horace Stoneham returned yesterday from the minor league meetings at New Orleans, one of the first questions asked was "how about Frisch?"

Said Stoneham, "even if we had 15 minor league clubs to be handled, I would not have Terry run them. We would get somebody else to aid. We know he is more valuable on the bench. Frisch definitely will not be with our club. We do not need him."

FOX, NEGRO FIGHTER, CRITICALLY STABBED

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Tiger Jack Fox, negro light heavyweight boxer who police said was stabbed during an altercation with a woman, was pronounced in a critical condition today at Harlem hospital.

Physicians said it was doubtful whether Fox, if he recovered, would ever be able to box again. He had been scheduled to meet Melio Bettina next month for New York state recognition as light heavyweight champion.

Police said a woman they booked as Edna Boyd, 23, a negro maid, told them she had stabbed Fox in self-defense early yesterday in a Seventh avenue hotel. She was held on a charge of felonious assault.

Hotel officials broke down the door after they heard the woman's screams. Hospital physicians said that the boxer, stabbed below the heart, was weak from loss of blood.

Fox won his match for the title, which the state athletic commission ordered John Henry Lewis to vacate, through a victory over Al Gainer November 29.

COLLEGE GIRLS WILL BE SUGAR BOWL BALL MAIDS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Herbert A. Benson, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports association, announced today 13 young women representing colleges and universities will be maids in the court of the annual Sugar Bowl ball January 1.

Those who have accepted are Misses Marian Smedes, Rice institute; Kathryn White, Mississippi State college; Barbara Smith, Baylor university; Betty Dunn, Birmingham-Southern college; Loraine Fowler, Spring Hill college; Lou Ella Black, University of Arkansas; Patricia Woodward, Tulane university; Martha Shepard, Centenary college; Shelby Faget, Loyola university; Jane Aycock, Louisiana State university; Bess Spencer Wood, University of Mississippi; Helen D'Abadie, Louisiana Normal college, and Fay Wilson, Texas A. and M. Other universities invited to select representatives are Southern Methodist, Auburn, Texas Christian, Texas and Louisiana Tech.

RUGBY PLAYER 'LOSES HEAD'

The ball looks as though it has taken the place of J. K. Andean's head in this strange action shot as the London Scottish player tackles a Richmond man in an English rugby match in Surrey.

TECH PREPARING FOR BASKETBALL AND FOR BOXING

13 Candidates Out For Cage Team; 21 Seeking Berths On Fistic Squad

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech has started preparations for its indoor sports season, with 13 candidates for the basketball team reporting to Coach Herb Diggins and 21 boxing aspirants working out with Coach Eddie Wojecki.

Of the prospective cagemen six experienced varsity men include L. T. Whitten, Joe Williams, W. A. Jones, Gordon Adams, Huey Williamson and Howard Barker. Other candidates, mostly sophomores, are Ora Merriott, Charles H. Carr, Robert Phillips, William Andreola, C. O. Golson, Dick Brannen and Ralph O'Haver.

Besides the opener with the Sparcolene quintet here on December 16, the basketball card at present includes 17 intercollegiate games, with dates for two contests with the Louisiana State Normal five yet to be arranged.

The schedule to date is as follows: December 16, Sparcolene team of Shreveport, here; December 21, Illinois Wesleyan university, here; January 6, Louisiana college, here; January 9, Birmingham-Southern, here; January 10, Birmingham-Southern, here; January 13, Centenary, Shreveport; January 16, Centenary, here; January 21, Alabama State Teachers, here; January 30, Southwestern Louisiana institute, here; February 1, Loyola university at New Orleans; February 2, Loyola university at New Orleans; February 3, Southwestern, Lafayette; February 4, Louisiana college, Pineville; February 8, Loyola, here; February 9, Loyola, here; February 14, Centenary, Shreveport; February 16, Howard college, here; February 20, Centenary, here.

115-pound class, Joe Wojecki and Al Rich; 125, "Soapy" Hand, Rex Holstead, Jack Watson, Eugene Pesnell and W. L. Johnson; 135, Merle Bazer and Eddie Welsh; 145, Jack Jones, Charlie Svetlecic, John Wiley and "Cotton" Gleason; 155, Guy Carroll; 165, J. E. Rabun, Merton Barnett, J. W. Johnson and Henry DeBroeck; 175, "Rip" Pipes; and heavyweight, Bruce Bartlemay, Randall Chadwick and Pete Ashton.

Of that group, Holstead, Bazer, Jones, Wiley, Barnett and Pipes were members of the Tech boxing squad last year.

GOLDBERG PLANS SPORTS WRITING

ave "positively" will play no more football, but will carry his geological studies into the Texas oil fields; Brud Holland of Cornell will quit his pet end-around play in favor of social service work, probably in a Harlem settlement house; and Ed Bock, Iowa State guard, and Al Wolff, Santa Clara tackle, will go into mechanical engineering. Parker (Bullet) Hall, Mississippi's ace back, expects to go into insurance or play pro ball. Joe Beinor, Notre Dame tackle, hasn't begun planning or worrying about the future yet.

Marvin Franklin, this season's Vanderbilt captain, will shift from the conflict of the football field to the calm of Yale's divinity school. Marty Glickman, former Olympic team sprinter and Syracuse halfback, wants to be a radio announcer, and Charley Cascales of U. C. L. A. is going to step out as a leader of a dance orchestra.

Four of Charley's teammates have been bitten by the movie bug and, with the help of Comedian Joe E. Brown, hope to land on the studios' extra list, while two others plan to enter the army air corps. Dick Strickler, V. M. I., has his eye on a commission in the United States marine corps.

Jim Thomas, Oklahoma guard, would like a pro football job to help pay for singing lessons. Pitt Halfback Harold Stebbins is an enthusiastic crooner but expects to wind up as a salesman. Billy Payne of Tulane will go into plantation operation, and Bill Matheny, North Carolina State guard, wants to be a detective.

Don McNeil, captain and center of Southern California's Rose Bowl team, has high-flying aspirations. He plans to go into the McNeil Construction company, which undertakes major building jobs for the Union Pacific railroad. The firm was founded by Don's grandfather and eventually he hopes to work up to the presidency—an office held by his father until the latter's death a year ago.

Sid Luckman, Columbia's versatile backfield star, will go into a Brooklyn trucking and transportation business with his brother. Bill Daddio, Pitt's fine end, first plans to split his time between being a golf pro in the summer and a coach in the fall, and then will sell hookless fasteners for a home-town concern. Cornell Captain Al Van Ranst will go into the hotel business and teammate Sid Roth will become a photoengraver.

Forestry has lured Barney McGarry, Utah tackle, and Dave Anderson, California fullback, while Joe Wendlich, Oregon State end, plans to join the federal biological survey. The Harvard business school will draw two students from the Crimson's chief rivals—Captain Bill Platt of Yale and Captain Tom Mountain of Princeton.

Eddie Collins, Jr., of Yale leads the contingent that would like to take a crack at professional baseball. Eric (the Red) Tipton of Duke, Vic Bradford of Alabama, Bud Winterbottom of California and Joe Agee of Vanderbilt also want to switch from gridiron to diamond.

As for potential football coaches, the roster includes Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee end; I. B. Hale, T. C. U. tackle; Dick Todd, Texas A. and M.; Steve Maronic, North Carolina; Tony Calvelli, Stanford; John Wysocki, Villanova, and Sammy Roeder, the east's high scorer and a first-string "little all-American" from Franklin and Marshall.

Pro football looks attractive to Howie Weiss of Wisconsin, but only if he gets a very good offer; Larry Buhler of Minnesota, Charley Brock of Nebraska, Al Cruver of Washington, who already has been contacted by the New York Giants; Quinton Lumpkin of Georgia, and Lloyd Woodell of Arkansas.

FOUR ELEVENS STILL POSSESS PLENTY BACKS

Notre Dame, Fordham, Cornell And Villanova Won't Have To Rely On Sophs

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Graduation next June will strike hard at many of the teams that dominated the 1938 college football parade. But a glance over this season's performances and rosters make it obvious that in 1939 the nation's top teams will come up with the usual array of talent.

Four of the teams that should be best-equipped in the backfield next season, with little need to rely on upcoming sophomores, are Notre Dame, Fordham, Cornell and Villanova.

The Irish, chief practitioners of gridiron mass production, will lose some of their star operatives but they'll still have such human balls of fire as Steve Sitko, Ben Sheridan, Bob Saggau, Harry Stevenson, Milt Piepul and Lou Zontini.

Fordham, with Tackle John Kuzman and Center Lou DeFilippo as main holdovers in the line, will have a whole mess of good kickers, passers and runners. For one thing there'll be an all-senior combine of Bill Krywicki, Steve Kazlo, Pete Holovak and Dom Principe. Len Eshmont, recovered from this year's hobbling knee injury, will be set for his second season as climax runner, while Jimmy Blumenstock, who raised hob with the Army Plebes this fall, is a glittering sophomore prospect.

The loss of Brud Holland and Carl Spang, star ends, Center Al Van Ranst, Tackle Bill McKeever and Guard Sid Roth, will make Carl Snavely's main task at Cornell one of trying to weld a puncture-proof line, with the help of Tackles Nick Drahos and Fred West. In the backfield, though, he'll have blocking Walt Matuszczak, bulling Vince Eichler, Hal McCullough, Mal Baker and Ken Brown.

Clipper Smith's backfield larder at Villanova will be almost as well-stocked as Elmer Layden's. The Clipper loses John (Socker) Wysocki at end, it's true. But Nick Basca, Harry Mazzei, Gordon Shader and John Hewlett, the regular foursome who helped the Wildcats go through unbeaten this season, will be back at work in 1939, supplemented by a wealth of seasoned linemen.

Graduation will take its heaviest toll at Texas Christian, where Davey O'Brien, Ki Aldrich and I. B. Hale will get their diplomas. Still, Leo (Dutch) Meyer can start rebuilding with a two-man nucleus of Don Looney, who caught most of the O'Brien passes, and Ball-Toter Connie Sparks.

Pitt, losing three-quarters of its "dream" backfield, will have to rely chiefly on Dick Cassiano, while Duke, with Eric (The Red) Tipton and Dan Hill gone, still will have Willard (Bolo) Perdue, who blocked the kick to beat Pitt; Halfback Wes McAfee, Guard Tony Ruffa and Tackle Frank Ribar.

Tennessee, Southeastern conference ruler, will seek to repeat with only three of its regulars gone and Halfback George (Bad News) Cafego and Guard Bob Suffridge, one of the best in the south, on hand to lead the way for Major Bob Neyland. George Franck, Hal Van Every and Marty Christiansen will be set to tote the mail for Minnesota. Michigan will be weakened considerably in the line but retains Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer as twin offensive threats.

Others who have given promise of great deeds to come are Les Stanczyk, whose task it is to fill Sid Luckman's big brogans at Columbia; Ray Anderson of Yale and elusive Torbie MacDonald of Harvard; Ollie Hahnenstein of Northwestern; Tackles Harry Stella of Army and Al Bergner of Navy, the former Kankakee (Ill.) High school chums; Ronny Cahill, Andy Giardi and Joe Osmanski, a nice backfield inheritance for the man who succeeds Eddie Anderson as coach at Holy Cross; Bill Hutchinson of Dartmouth, Merlyn Condit and George Muha of Carnegie Tech, Paul Christman of Missouri, and Joe Mellendeck and Jules Koshlap, as well as a raft of powerful linemen, at Georgetown, only major eastern team to finish this season unbeaten and untied.

MURRAY OUTPOINTED BY TONY CANZONERI

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, hero of a famous boxing comeback several years ago when he won the lightweight title a second time after losing it to Barney Ross, moved along the comeback trail again by outpointing Jimmy Murray, young Brooklyn welterweight, in an eight-round bout at Ridgewood Grove. Canzoneri weighed 143 1-4 to Murray's 141.

A capacity crowd of about 4,500 saw the former champion start slowly, then earn a decisive victory by his harder punching and more expert boxing. He had Murray a little rocky in the sixth when he landed a haymaker on Jimmy's jaw and had no no trouble at all taking the decision.

STRATTON GETS LIFE-TIME JOB

Pitcher Disabled By Accident Offered White Sox Office Position

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Baseball offered a life-time job today to Monty Stratton, the ace Chicago White Sox pitcher who recently underwent amputation of his right leg after suffering a gunshot wound.

J. Louis Comiskey, White Sox president, notified Stratton that as soon as he is fully recovered he can step into a permanent position with the White Sox office organization. At the same time, Comiskey said a benefit game for Stratton will be played April 17 between the White Sox and the Chicago Cubs, the city's National league entry.

On November 27, Stratton was target shooting on his mother's farm near Greenville, Tex., when his revolver accidentally discharged. The bullet struck below the hip, coursing down to the knee, and he lost much blood before his wife, Ethel, got him to a Dallas hospital. The next day amputation was performed at the knee.

"Monty has a job with us as long as he wants it," said Comiskey. "He was a fine pitcher and is a finer man. Baseball can't afford to lose him."

Stratton's son, Monty, Jr., was a year old the day the amputation operation was performed.

Harry Grabiner, White Sox vice-president, said Stratton was "coming along fine" and may leave the hospital in two weeks. He was a big factor in White Sox hopes for 1939, having won 15 games the past season, even though out of action with a sore arm for the first month of the campaign.

EL CHICO RATED BEST AMONG JUVENILE RACERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—John B. Campbell, the Jockey club's handicapper, figures William Ziegler, Jr.'s, unbeaten colt, El Chico, two pounds better than any other juvenile racer of 1938, if all the leaders could be brought together for one big race.

In his annual "experimental handicap," announced today, Campbell gave El Chico the scale weight of 126 pounds and George D. Widener's Eight Thirty and William Woodward's Johnstown, his nearest rivals, 124 pounds. The handicap list is made up not for any list but merely to show how Campbell figures the horses rate on one season's form.

Among others, he rated W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, W. L. Brann's Challedon and Mrs. Bessie Franzheim's Xalapa Clown at 122 pounds each and the Saratoga stable's Volitant and E. R. Bradley's Benefactor at 120. Herbert M. Woolf's Inscoelda was given top weight among the fillies, 116 pounds.

'COACH OF THE YEAR' TITLE AWARDED KERN

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The New York World-Telegram, with the official endorsement of four major conference officials, today awarded to Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech the title of 1938 college football's "coach of the year." Kern's Tartans, defeated only by Notre Dame in the regular season, meet Texas Christian in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl January 2.

Kern is the fourth coach to be honored by the World-Telegram. Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern was the choice in 1935, Dick Harlow of Harvard in 1936 and Hooks Mylin of Lafayette in 1937.

ISTROUMA TEAM SOUTH LOUISIANA GRID CHAMPIONS

Baton Rouge Eleven To Meet Haynesville For State Class AA Title

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Istrouma High school of Baton Rouge defeated Warren Easton of New Orleans today, 21 to 13, for the south Louisiana class AA football championship.

Istrouma thus won the right to meet Haynesville, the north Louisiana champions, in the play-off for the state class AA title.

Nearly 7,500 spectators saw a sensational game. Fred Bankston, Istrouma end, ran back the opening kick-off 85 yards for a touchdown to start the fireworks. T. J. Bankston, hard driving back, passed to Hazelton for a net gain of 54 yards for the visitors' second marker, and tossed to Fred Bankston for his team's third score.

Ghersanich, Thomas and Reese tallied for Warren Easton. The victory margin was supplied by T. J. Bankston's three boots for extra points.

Easton led in first downs 13 to 10. Istrouma piled up 248 yards running and passing to 244 for the Orleanians.

REBEL CAGERS END WEEK OF PRACTICE

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Ole Miss Rebel cagers completed their first week of practice today in preparation for a heavy schedule that begins Thursday night with a game here against the Mississippi college Choctaws, winners of the Dixie conference championship last year.

The Rebels went to the finals of the Southeastern conference tournament last season but, with only one of the five regulars, Jesse Ward, returning, Coach Frank Johnson faced the task of building a new team.

Johnson's lineup at present consisted of Jesse Ward and Irving Kellar at forwards, Burnell Egger on the pivot position and Charles Ward and Anse Blackwell at guards.

Egger, Charles Ward and Blackwell are new men who starred last year on Hook Stone's Copiah-Lincoln college team. The guard positions will be strengthened after Christmas holidays when Parker Hall and Kimble Bradley return from the North-South football game.

Conference play begins with a two-game series January 6-7 in Jackson against Mississippi State college.

WATCH THE DIRT COME OUT

This Machine Does The Trick

For a long time automotive engineers and oil company chemists have tried to prevent the formation of sludge, gum, and grit deposits in automobile motors. Air cleaners and crankcase ventilators help in a small way, but a large amount of the sludge and gum found in every automobile engine is produced by the combustion of gasoline and air in contact with oil in the motor. The formation of this sludge and gum cannot be avoided, but with our new Graco Vitalizer we are able to remove these harmful deposits at regular mileage intervals. Bring your car in today and let us show you how little it costs to restore new car performance with new pep . . . more power . . . greater economy in the operation of your automobile.

OREGON STATE, U. C. L. A. BATTLE TO 6-6 TIE

UCLANS OUTPLAY FOES BUT LACK SCORING PUNCH

Roll Up 23 First Downs And Gain 388 Yards But Able To Tally But Once

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Pacific Coast conference grid wars came to an end here today as the Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles and Oregon State's Beavers struggled to a 6 to 6 tie before a disappointing crowd of fewer than 10,000.

The Uclans rolled up 23 first downs to 3, and gained 388 yards to 114 but were unable to push over more than one touchdown.

Oregon State scored in the first two minutes of play. Hal Higgins took the Bruin opening kickoff, ran it back 84 yards to the six yard stripe and carried it over two plays later.

The Bruins, after passing deep into Beaver territory, scored in the fourth when Washington passed over the goal to Jim Mitchell, substitute end.

MARINE NAMED NAVY'S COACH

Captain Emery Larson Succeeds Lieutenant Hardwick At Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Navy placed its 1939 football hopes today in the knowing hands of Captain Emery E. (Swede) Larson, a marine renowned throughout the service for the good fortune that always has followed his coaching efforts.

Captain Larson's appointment as head coach to succeed Lieutenant H. J. (Hank) Hardwick was announced by Captain E. W. McKee, director of athletics at the naval academy. He becomes the first marine officer to coach a Navy football team.

In appointing Larson, present commander of the marine detachment at the naval academy, the Navy stuck to its graduate-coach policy. Hardwick, it was announced, will return to sea duty at his own request. No other changes in the coaching staff were made.

Hard luck has been Hardwick's lot in the past two years. His teams lost to Army and fared badly against other major opponents. This year he produced an air-minded team that outgained nearly every opponent, but won only one major game.

Good luck, on the other hand, has always followed Larson. His success as a service coach at stations from Parris Island, S. C., to Shanghai has been pronounced and "Larson luck" has been a by-word since he led three Navy teams to victory over Army as a Middy center.

In 1935 and 1936, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania teams he coached won two successive fleet championships. Ten years before that he had coached the all-Navy team in Hawaii. In 1928, he was line coach at the University of Hawaii.

Larson was varsity center on the 1919, 1920 and 1921 Navy teams that whipped the Army, and named in 1921 on Walter Camp's second-string all-America eleven. An all-America lacrosse player, he received the Thompson trophy for athletic achievement upon his graduation in 1922.

LEE HIGH VICTORIOUS

COLUMBUS, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Adrian Dodson, sensational fullback, led the Lee High Generals of Columbus to a 14-13 victory over Austin High of Chicago here last night in an intersectional contest witnessed by 5,300 fans, including Governor Hugh L. White.

TRADES EXPECTED WHEN BIG LEAGUE MAGNATES GATHER

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Hotel lobbies and secluded rooms will double as country lanes and sales pavillions next week when baseball's David Harums meet here in their winter swapfest, the annual major league meetings.

The American and National leagues will meet separately Tuesday and Wednesday, and jointly Thursday with Commissioner K. M. Landis presiding.

Although numerous other items of business, such as the New York Yankee's suggestion that a player's salary be spread out over a 12-month period, and the advisability of the American league approving night baseball, will be taken up, the fans' interest centers on who will get who from whom, and for how much.

The New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs jumped the gun at New Orleans in announcing a triple-play deal in which the Giants got Ken O'Dea, Frank Demaree and Bill Jurges, in return for Gus Mancuso, Dick Bartell and Hank Leiber, and the fans got headaches trying to figure out who got the best of the transaction. However, other major deals are sizzling.

For instance, the Giants are expected to make a grab for Zeke Bonura, Washington first baseman who has been waived by other American league clubs.

Several deals were reported put on the fire at the meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs at New Orleans this week, and these may come to a boil here.

It was reported that the St. Louis Cardinals were ready to trade Outfielder Enos Slaughter to the Cubs for Outfielder Augie Galan, and that the Chicago White Sox would be only too glad to give utility Infielder Bose Berger to the St. Louis Browns, with the only stipulation that the Browns hand over Pitcher Russ Van Atta.

Another transaction which will be watched with interest is that which will reveal the destination of Fred Hutchinson, Pacific Coast league hurling ace on whom is reported to dangle a $50,000 price tag. The Pittsburgh Pirates are supposed to have the inside track for his services.

'MORE VALUABLE ON BENCH'

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—There's very little chance that Bill Terry, who is officially "general manager" of the New York Giants, will move up to the front office and hire Frankie Frisch as bench manager.

When Owner Horace Stoneham returned yesterday from the minor league meetings at New Orleans, one of the first questions asked was "how about Frisch?"

Said Stoneham, "even if we had 15 minor league clubs to be handled, I would not have Terry run them. We would get somebody else to aid. We know he is more valuable on the bench. Frisch definitely will not be with our club. We do not need him."

FOX, NEGRO FIGHTER, CRITICALLY STABBED

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Tiger Jack Fox, negro light heavyweight boxer who police said was stabbed during an altercation with a woman, was pronounced in a critical condition today at Harlem hospital.

Physicians said it was doubtful whether Fox, if he recovered, would ever be able to box again. He had been scheduled to meet Melio Bettina next month for New York state recognition as light heavyweight champion.

Police said a woman they booked as Edna Boyd, 23, a negro maid, told them she had stabbed Fox in self-defense early yesterday in a Seventh avenue hotel. She was held on a charge of felonious assault.

Hotel officials broke down the door after they heard the woman's screams. Hospital physicians said that the boxer, stabbed below the heart, was weak from loss of blood.

Fox won his match for the title, which the state athletic commission ordered John Henry Lewis to vacate, through a victory over Al Gainer November 29.

COLLEGE GIRLS WILL BE SUGAR BOWL BALL MAIDS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Herbert A. Benson, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports association, announced today 13 young women representing colleges and universities will be maids in the court of the annual Sugar Bowl ball January 1.

Those who have accepted are Misses Marian Smedes, Rice institute; Kathryn White, Mississippi State college; Barbara Smith, Baylor university; Betty Dunn, Birmingham-Southern college; Loraine Fowler, Spring Hill college; Lou Ella Black, University of Arkansas; Patricia Woodward, Tulane university; Martha Shepard, Centenary college; Shelby Faget, Loyola university; Jane Aycock, Louisiana State university; Bess Spencer Wood, University of Mississippi; Helen D'Abadie, Louisiana Normal college, and Fay Wilson, Texas A. and M. Other universities invited to select representatives are Southern Methodist, Alabama, Texas Christian, Texas and Louisiana Tech.

TECH PREPARING FOR BASKETBALL AND FOR BOXING

13 Candidates Out For Cage Team; 21 Seeking Berths On Fistic Squad

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech has started preparations for its indoor sports season, with 13 candidates for the basketball team reporting to Coach Herb Duggins and 21 boxing aspirants working out with Coach Eddie Wojecki.

Of the prospective cagemen, six experienced varsity men include L. T. Whitten, Joe Williams, W. A. Jones, Gordon Adams, Huey Williamson and Howard Barker. Other candidates, mostly sophomores, are Ora Merriott, Charles H. Carr, Robert Phillips, William Andreola, C. O. Golson, Dick Brannon and Ralph O'Haver.

Besides the opener with the Sparcolene quintet here on December 16, the basketball card at present includes 17 intercollegiate games, with dates for two contests with the Louisiana State Normal five yet to be arranged.

The schedule to date is as follows: December 16, Sparcolene team of Shreveport, here; December 21, Illinois Wesleyan university, here; January 6, Louisiana college, here; January 9, Birmingham-Southern, here; January 10, Birmingham-Southern here; January 13, Centenary, Shreveport; January 16, Centenary, here; January 21, Alabama State Teachers, here; January 30, Southwestern Louisiana institute, here; February 1, Loyola university at New Orleans; February 2, Loyola university at New Orleans; February 3, Southwestern, Lafayette; February 4, Louisiana college, Pineville; February 8, Loyola, here; February 9, Loyola, here; February 14, Centenary, Shreveport; February 16, Howard college, here; February 20, Centenary, here.

115-pound class, Joe Wojecki and Al Rich; 125, "Soapy" Hand, Rex Holstead, Jack Watson, Eugene Pesnell and W. L. Johnson; 135, Merle Bazer and Eddie Welsh; 145, Jack Jones, Charlie Svetlecic, John Wiley and "Cotton" Gleason; 155, Guy Carroll; 165, J. E. Rabun, Merton Barnett, J. W. Johnson and Henry DeBroeck; 175, "Rip" Pipes; and heavyweight, Bruce Bartlemay, Randall Chadwick and Pete Ashton.

Of that group, Holstead, Bazer, Jones, Wiley, Barnett and Pipes were members of the Tech boxing squad last year.

The boxing schedule is as follows: January 10, Centenary, here; January 18, Loyola, New Orleans; January 27, Centenary, Shreveport; February 10, Centenary, here; February 16, Centenary, Shreveport; February 22, Columbus university, Washington, D. C.; February 27, Loyola, here.

AUGUSTA GOLF TOURNEY WON BY WASHINGTON PRO

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Although he was eight over par, Fred McLeod, Washington, D. C., pro, won the second annual Seniors' Golf tournament here yesterday.

Fifty-six-year-old McLeod's 80 beat Otto Hackbarth of Cincinnati, who finished with 82 in the playoff. Hackbarth took sixes on two par-four holes to lose out over the Augusta National course. It was a 36-hole route, the number being cut from a scheduled 54 when rain prevented one day's play.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Rice 40; Tulane 18.

Tennessee 29; Clemson 24.

Arkansas 36; Southeastern Oklahoma Teachers 21.

University of Kentucky 57; Kentucky Wesleyan 18.

Michigan 41; Michigan State 34.

WOMAN NET STAR BUSY WRITING MYSTERY NOVEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody, the tennis queen, is writing a mystery novel and has a publisher for it already, even before she has thought up a title.

Mrs. Moody disclosed the latest activity to add to her list as lecturer, sketcher, and designer of sports clothes today. She expects to take her mystery tale to her publisher next month.

GOLDBERG PLANS SPORTS WRITING

sive, "positively" will play no more football, but will carry his geological studies into the Texas oil fields; Brud Holland of Cornell will quit his pet end-around play in favor of social service work, probably in a Harlem settlement house; and Ed Bock, Iowa State guard, and Al Wolff, Santa Clara tackle, will go into mechanical engineering. Parker (Bullet) Hall, Mississippi's ace back, expects to go into insurance or play pro ball. Joe Beinor, Notre Dame tackle, hasn't begun planning or worrying about the future yet.

Marvin Franklin, this season's Vanderbilt captain, will shift from the conflict of the football field to the calm of Yale's divinity school. Marty Glickman, former Olympic team sprinter and Syracuse halfback, wants to be a radio announcer, and Charley Cascales of U. C. L. A. is going to step out as a leader of a dance orchestra.

Four of Charley's teammates have been bitten by the movie bug and, with the help of Comedian Joe E. Brown, hope to land on the studios' extra list, while two others plan to enter the army air corps. Dick Strickler, V. M. I., has his eye on a commission in the United States marine corps.

Jim Thomas, Oklahoma guard, would like a pro football job to help pay for singing lessons. Pitt Halfback Harold Stebbins is an enthusiastic crooner but expects to wind up as a salesman. Billy Payne of Tulane will go into plantation operation, and Bill Matheny, North Carolina State guard, wants to be a detective.

Don McNeil, captain and center of Southern California's Rose Bowl team, has high-flying aspirations. He plans to go into the McNeil Construction company, which undertakes major building jobs for the Union Pacific railroad. The firm was founded by Don's grandfather and eventually he hopes to work up to the presidency—an office held by his father until the latter's death a year ago.

Sid Luckman, Columbia's versatile backfield star, will go into a Brooklyn trucking and transportation business with his brother. Bill Daddio, Pitt's fine end, first plans to split his time between being a golf pro in the summer and a coach in the fall, and then will sell hookless fasteners for a home-town concern. Cornell Captain Al Van Ranst will go into the hotel business and teammate Sid Roth will become a photoengraver.

Forestry has lured Barney McGarry, Utah tackle, and Dave Anderson, California fullback, while Joe Wendlich, Oregon State end, plans to join the federal biological survey. The Harvard business school will draw two students from the Crimson's chief rivals—Captain Bill Platt of Yale and Captain Tom Mountain of Princeton.

Eddie Collins, Jr., of Yale leads the contingent that would like to take a crack at professional baseball. Eric (the Red) Tipton of Duke, Vic Bradford of Alabama, Bud Winterbottom of California and Joe Agee of Vanderbilt also want to switch from gridiron to diamond.

As for potential football coaches, the roster includes Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee end; I. B. Hale, T. C. U. tackle; Dick Todd, Texas A. and M.; Steve Maronic, North Carolina; Tony Calvelli, Stanford; John Wysocki, Villanova, and Sammy Roeder, the east's high scorer and a first-string "little all-American" from Franklin and Marshall.

Pro football looks attractive to Howie Weiss of Wisconsin, but only if he gets a very good offer; Larry Buhler of Minnesota, Charley Brock of Nebraska, Al Cruver of Washington, who already has been contacted by the New York Giants; Quinton Lumpkin of Georgia, and Lloyd Woodell of Arkansas.

FOUR ELEVENS STILL POSSESS PLENTY BACKS

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Graduation next June will strike hard at many of the teams that dominated the 1938 college football parade. But a glance over this season's performances and rosters make it obvious that in 1939 the nation's top teams will come up with their usual array of talent.

Four of the teams that should be best-equipped in the backfield next season, with little need to rely on upcoming sophomores, are Notre Dame, Fordham, Cornell and Villanova.

The Irish, chief practitioners of gridiron mass production, will lose some of their star operatives but they'll still have such human balls of fire as Steve Sitko, Ben Sheridan, Bob Saggau, Harry Stevenson, Milt Piepul and Lou Zontini.

Fordham, with Tackle John Kuzman and Center Lou Defilippo as main holdovers in the line, will have a whole mess of good kickers, passers and runners. For one thing there'll be an all-senior combine of Bill Krywicki, Steve Kazlo, Pete Holovak and Dom Principe. Len Eshmont, recovered from this year's hobbling knee injury, will be set for his second season as climax runner, while Jimmy Blumenstock, who raised hob with the Army Plebes this fall, is a glittering sophomore prospect.

The loss of Brud Holland and Carl Spang, star ends, Center Al Van Ranst, Tackle Bill McKeever and Guard Sid Roth, will make Carl Snavely's main task at Cornell one of trying to weld a puncture-proof line, with the help of Tackles Nick Drahos and Fred West. In the backfield, though, he'll have blocking Walt Matusczak, bulling Vince Eichler, Hal McCullough, Mal Baker and Ken Brown.

Clipper Smith's backfield larder at Villanova will be almost as well-stocked as Elmer Layden's. The Clipper loses John (Socker) Wysocki at end, it's true. But Nick Basca, Harry Mazzei, Gordon Shader and John Hawlett, the regular foursome who helped the Wildcats go through unbeaten this season, will be back at work in 1939, supplemented by a wealth of seasoned linemen.

Graduation will take its heaviest toll at Texas Christian, where Davey O'Brien, Ki Aldrich and I. B. Hale will get their diplomas. Still, Leo (Dutch) Meyer can start rebuilding with a two-man nucleus of Don Looney, who caught most of the O'Brien passes, and Ball-Toter Connie Sparks.

Pitt, losing three-quarters of its "dream" backfield, will have to rely chiefly on Dick Cassiano, while Duke, with Eric (The Red) Tipton and Dan Hill gone, still will have Willard (Bolo) Perdue, who blocked the kick to beat Pitt; Halfback Wes McAfee, Guard Tony Ruffa and Tackle Frank Ribar.

Tennessee, Southeastern conference ruler, will seek to repeat with only three of its regulars gone and Halfback George (Bad News) Cafego and Guard Bob Suffridge, one of the best in the south, on hand to lead the way for Major Bob Neyland. George Franck, Hal Van Every and Marty Christiansen will be set to tote the mail for Minnesota. Michigan will be weakened considerably in the line but retains Tom Harmon and Paul Kromer as twin offensive threats.

Others who have given promise of great deeds to come are Les Stanczyk, whose task it is to fill Sid Luckman's big brogans at Columbia; Ray Anderson of Yale and elusive Torbie MacDonald of Harvard; Ollie Hahnenstein of Northwestern; Tackles Harry Stella of Army and Al Bergner of Navy, the former Kankakee (Ill.) High school chums; Ronny Cahill, Andy Giardi and Joe Osmanski, a nice backfield inheritance for the man who succeeds Eddie Anderson as coach at Holy Cross; Bill Hutchinson of Dartmouth, Merlyn Condit and George Muha of Carnegie Tech, Paul Christman of Missouri, and Joe Mellendeck and Jules Koshlap, as well as a raft of powerful linemen, at Georgetown, only major eastern team to finish this season unbeaten and untied.

MURRAY OUTPOINTED BY TONY CANZONERI

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, hero of a famous boxing comeback several years ago when he won the lightweight title a second time after losing it to Barney Ross, moved along the comeback trail again by outpointing Jimmy Murray, young Brooklyn welterweight, in an eight-round bout at Ridgewood Grove. Canzoneri weighed 143 1-4 to Murray's 141.

A capacity crowd of about 4,500 saw the former champion start slowly, then earn a decisive victory by his harder punching and more expert boxing. He had Murray a little rocky in the sixth when he landed a haymaker on Jimmy's jaw and had no no trouble at all taking the decision.

COACH'S MOTHER DIES

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Lyda Lee Whitworth, 56, mother of J. B. Whitworth, football line coach at Louisiana State university, died at a hospital today after a long illness. Other survivors include her husband, another son and two daughters. The funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

STRATTON GETS LIFE-TIME JOB

Pitcher Disabled By Accident Offered White Sox Office Position

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Baseball offered a life-time job today to Monty Stratton, the ace Chicago White Sox pitcher who recently underwent amputation of his right leg after suffering a gunshot wound.

J. Louis Comiskey, White Sox president, notified Stratton that as soon as he is fully recovered he can step into a permanent position with the White Sox office organization. At the same time, Comiskey said a benefit game for Stratton will be played April 17 between the White Sox and the Chicago Cubs, the city's National league entry.

On November 27, Stratton was target shooting on his mother's farm near Greenville, Tex., when his revolver accidentally discharged. The bullet struck below the hip, coursing down to the knee, and he lost much blood before his wife, Ethel, got him to a Dallas hospital. The next day amputation was performed at the knee.

"Monty has a job with us as long as he wants it," said Comiskey. "He was a fine pitcher and is a finer man. Baseball can't afford to lose him."

Stratton's son, Monty, Jr., was a year old the day the amputation operation was performed.

Harry Grabiner, White Sox vice-president, said Stratton was "coming along fine" and may leave the hospital in two weeks. He was a big factor in White Sox hopes for 1939, having won 15 games the past season, even though out of action with a sore arm for the first month of the campaign.

EL CHICO RATED BEST AMONG JUVENILE RACERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—John B. Campbell, the Jockey club's handicapper, figures William Ziegler, Jr.'s, unbeaten colt, El Chico, two pounds better than any other juvenile racer of 1938, if all the leaders could be brought together for one big race.

In his annual "experimental handicap," announced today, Campbell gave El Chico the scale weight of 126 pounds and George D. Widener's Eight Thirty and William Woodward's Johnstown, his nearest rivals, 124 pounds. The handicap list is made up not for any list but merely to show how Campbell figures the horses rate on one season's form.

Among others, he rated W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, W. L. Brann's Challedon and Mrs. Bessie Franzheim's Xalapa Clown at 122 pounds each and the Saratoga stable's Volitant and E. R. Bradley's Benefactor at 120. Herbert M. Woolf's Inscoelda was given top weight among the fillies, 116 pounds.

'COACH OF THE YEAR' TITLE AWARDED KERN

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The New York World-Telegram, with the official endorsement of four major conference officials, today awarded to Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech the title of 1938 college football's "coach of the year." Kern's Tartans, defeated only by Notre Dame in the regular season, meet Texas Christian in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl January 2.

Kern is the fourth coach to be honored by the World-Telegram. Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern was the choice in 1935, Dick Harlow of Harvard in 1936 and Hooks Mylin of Lafayette in 1937.

ISTROUMA TEAM SOUTH LOUISIANA GRID CHAMPIONS

Baton Rouge Eleven To Meet Haynesville For State Class AA Title

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Istrouma High school of Baton Rouge defeated Warren Easton of New Orleans today, 21 to 19, for the south Louisiana class AA football championship.

Istrouma thus won the right to meet Haynesville, the north Louisiana champions, in the play-off for the state class AA title.

Nearly 7,500 spectators saw a sensational game. Fred Bankston, Istrouma end, ran back the opening kick-off 85 yards for a touchdown to start the fireworks. T. J. Bankston, hard driving back, passed to Harelson for a net gain of 54 yards for the visitors' second marker, and tossed to Fred Bankston for his team's third score.

Ghersanich, Thomas and Reese tallied for Warren Easton. The victory margin was supplied by T. J. Bankston's three boots for extra points.

Easton led in first downs 13 to 10. Istrouma piled up 248 yards running and passing to 244 for the Orleanians.

REBEL CAGERS END WEEK OF PRACTICE

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Ole Miss Rebel cagers completed their first week of practice today in preparation for a heavy schedule that begins Thursday night with a game here against the Mississippi college Choctaws, winners of the Dixie conference championship last year.

The Rebels went to the finals of the Southeastern conference tournament last season but, with only one of the five regulars, Jesse Ward, returning, Coach Frank Johnson faced the task of building a new team.

Johnson's lineup at present consisted of Jesse Ward and Irving Kellar at forwards, Burnell Egger on the pivot position and Charles Ward and Anse Blackwell at guards.

Egger, Charles Ward and Blackwell are new men who starred last year on Hook Stone's Copiah-Lincoln college team. The guard positions will be strengthened after Christmas holidays when Parker Hall and Kimble Bradley return from the North-South football game.

Conference play begins with a two-game series January 6-7 in Jackson against Mississippi State college.

This Machine Does The Trick

For a long time automotive engineers and oil company chemists have tried to prevent the formation of sludge, gum, and grit deposits in automobile motors. Air cleaners and crankcase ventilators help in a small way, but a large amount of the sludge and gum found in every automobile engine is produced by the combustion of gasoline and air in contact with oil in the motor. The formation of this sludge and gum cannot be avoided, but with our new Graco Vitalizer we are able to remove these harmful deposits at regular mileage intervals. Bring your car in today and let us show you how little it costs to restore new car performance with new pep . . . more power . . . greater economy in the operation of your automobile.

PEGGY TOWNSEND TO SING IN CLUB

Will Join Ranks Of Social Register Group Which Goes 'New Yorky'

By Beth Campbell

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Peggy Townsend, who will join the ranks of social register night club singers shortly, thinks it's all right for Washington debutantes like herself to "go New Yorky"—if they don't go too far.

There's a movement among capital debs, she said, to "try to have a little more cafe society," like New York's.

And it's fine, pretty Peggy added, if capital debutantes "don't get the idea that toughness makes for glamor."

"We want to keep the things that make Washington individual—the old families, the old houses, the conservative people," she insisted.

Peggy, tall and slim at "18 and a half," will sing twice a night in a cocktail lounge, beginning Monday, partly because of the "New Yorky" trend, and partly because she "always liked the idea of women getting out and doing things."

Earlier the same day, she will mingle with capital's society at the first of the famous morning musicales, sponsored each season by her aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend.

When Peggy was six years old, she sat on the lap of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at one of the musicales. She's been brought up on classical music, and two months ago began to study singing—the conventional kind.

But laryngitis chased her voice down to the low registers, and scouts for a new cocktail lounge like her throat singing.

"Now I think they'd like for me to stand out by the Potomac river every night to catch cold," Peggy laughed.

TEXAS POLITICIAN BURIED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Cullen F. Thomas, 70, stalwart of state, church and party, was buried here today.

"I have never known, honestly I have never known, a man as appreciative of his friends," said former Governor Pat M. Neff, now president of Baylor university, in eulogizing Thomas.

"He may be the last, but not the least of the great statesmen Tennessee has contributed to Texas" said Judge Tom McCullough, a college roommate.

Thomas, who had been active for many years in the Democratic party, in the prohibition movement and in the promotion and celebration of the Texas centennial, died here Thursday.

HURT IN ROAD MISHAP

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—J. C. Caleb received treatment at a local hospital for a back injury suffered when an automobile in which he was riding with Charles Thompson ran off a road near Mangham. Thompson received minor bruises.

NOTICE TO BRIDGE CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals for the construction of the following project will be received by the Louisiana Highway Commission, Room No. 203, Highway Office Annex, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, until 9:45 A. M. on Wednesday, December 21, 1938. Proposals will not be received after this hour. At 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the same day and date they will be publicly opened and read in the Chamber of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol.

STATE BOND F. R. PROJECT NO. [illegible] BAYOU D'ARBONNE BRIDGE AND APPROACHES AT WHITES FERRY, on the MONROE-FARMERVILLE HIGHWAY, located in OUACHITA PARISH, Route No. 483.

DESCRIPTION: 280-foot Steel Truss Span with Creosoted Pile and Timber Rest Piers and Reinforced Concrete Center Pier. Twenty-one Timber Trestle Approach Spans each 19 feet long and 4713.83 feet of earthwork approaches with gravel surfacing. Steel Truss Span Superstructure will be furnished at Columbia, Louisiana, by Louisiana Highway Commission. Length of Bridge, 694.17 feet. Bridge Roadway width 19.75 feet. Total length of Project, 1.025 miles.

Proposal forms will be issued only to "general contractors" licensed by the "Louisiana State Licensing Board for General Contractors," Room 201, Reymond Building, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, or to an authorized representative of a licensed contractor, and in no event will proposal forms be issued later than twenty-four hours prior to the hour and date set for receiving proposals. It will be necessary for the bidder to show evidence of license before a proposal is issued, in accordance with Act No. 327 of the Regular Session of 1938 of the Legislature of Louisiana. The rules and regulations of the Louisiana State Licensing Board for General Contractors, dated February 11, 1937, will apply.

Proposal forms will be issued to non-licensed contractors when the estimated cost of the improvement is less than $10,000.00, but in no event will proposal forms be issued later than twenty-four hours prior to the hour and date set for receiving proposals.

Full information and proposal forms are available at the offices of the Highway Commission at Baton Rouge. Plans and specifications may be inspected at said office or will be furnished upon payment of $4.00 (not to be refunded).

L. P. ABERNATHY, Chairman.
Louisiana Highway Commission.

PEGGY TOWNSEND TO SING IN CLUB

Will Join Ranks Of Social Register Group Which Goes 'New Yorky'

By Beth Campbell

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Peggy Townsend, who will join the ranks of social register night club singers shortly, thinks it's all right for Washington debutantes like herself to "go New Yorky"—if they don't go too far.

There's a movement among capital debs, she said, to "try to have a little more cafe society," like New York's.

And it's fine, pretty Peggy added, if capital debutantes "don't get the idea that toughness makes for glamor."

"We want to keep the things that make Washington individual—the old families, the old houses, the conservative people," she insisted.

Peggy, tall and slim at "18 and a half," will sing twice a night in a cocktail lounge, beginning Monday, partly because of the "New Yorky" trend, and partly because she "always liked the idea of women getting out and doing things."

Earlier the same day, she will mingle with capital's society at the first of the famous morning musicales, sponsored each season by her aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend.

When Peggy was six years old, she sat on the lap of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at one of the musicales. She's been brought up on classical music, and two months ago began to study singing—the conventional kind.

But laryngitis chased her voice down to the low registers, and scouts for a new cocktail lounge like her throat singing.

"Now I think they'd like for me to stand out by the Potomac river every night to catch cold," Peggy laughed.

TEXAS POLITICIAN BURIED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Cullen F. Thomas, 70, stalwart of state, church and party, was buried here today.

"I have never known, honestly I have never known, a man as appreciative of his friends," said former Governor Pat M. Neff, now president of Baylor university, in eulogizing Thomas.

"He may be the last, but not the least of the great statesmen Tennessee has contributed to Texas" said Judge Tom McCullough, a college roommate.

Thomas, who had been active for many years in the Democratic party, in the prohibition movement and in the promotion and celebration of the Texas centennial, died here Thursday.

HURT IN ROAD MISHAP

WINNSBORO, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—J. C. Caleb received treatment at a local hospital for a back injury suffered when an automobile in which he was riding with Charles Thompson ran off a road near Mangham. Thompson received minor bruises.

NOTICE TO BRIDGE CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals for the construction of the following project will be received by the Louisiana Highway Commission, Room No. 202, Highway Office Annex, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, until 9:45 A. M. on Wednesday, December 21, 1938. Proposals will not be received after this hour. At 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the same day and date they will be publicly opened and read in the Chamber of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol.

STATE (BOND F. R.) PROJECT NO. 1211, BAYOU D'ARBONNE BRIDGE AND APPROACHES AT WHITE'S FERRY, on the MONROE-FARMERVILLE HIGHWAY, located in OUACHITA PARISH, Route No. 489.

DESCRIPTION: 290-foot Steel Truss Span with Creosoted Pile and Timber Rest Piers and Reinforced Concrete Center Pier, Twenty-one Timber Trestle Approach Spans each 19 feet long and 4715.83 feet of earthwork approaches with gravel surfacing. Steel Truss Span Superstructure will be furnished at Columbia, Louisiana, by Louisiana Highway Commission. Length of Bridge, 694.17 feet; Bridge Roadway width 16.75 feet. Total length of Project, 1.025 miles.

Proposal forms will be issued only to "general contractors" licensed by the "Louisiana State Licensing Board for General Contractors," Room 203, Reymond Building, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, or to an authorized representative of a licensed contractor, and in no event will proposal forms be issued later than twenty-four hours prior to the hour and date set for receiving proposals. It will be necessary for the bidder to show evidence of license before a proposal is issued, in accordance with Act No. 397 of the Regular Session of 1938 of the Legislature of Louisiana. The rules and regulations of the Louisiana State Licensing Board for General Contractors, dated February 11, 1937, will apply.

Proposal forms will be issued to non-licensed contractors when the estimated cost of the improvement is less than $10,000.00, but in no event will proposal forms be issued later than twenty-four hours prior to the hour and date set for receiving proposals.

Full information and proposal forms are available at the offices of the Highway Commission at Baton Rouge. Plans and specifications may be inspected at said office or will be furnished upon payment of $4.00 (not to be refunded).

L. P. ABERNATHY, Chairman,
Louisiana Highway Commission.
Nov. 26 through Dec. 13, 1938.

The [illegible] conference of the [illegible]

[illegible]

The [illegible] the Christian church.

"The A. M. E. church is committed to the [illegible] of establishing peace on earth and promoting good will among men. In concluding the bishop congratulated France and Germany upon the signing of the peace pact."

The conference passed a resolution reaffirming its allegiance to the bishop and addressing letters to the 1940 general conference requesting his return to the state of Mississippi and Louisiana for four more years. The quadrennial session will be held at Detroit when Bishop Greene who has served these two states for the last eight years will make reports of his trip abroad where he represented the church at the World Commission Life and Work and Faith and Order at Holland last May.

Dr. J. C. Crowe, pastor of Lake Providence station, preached the missionary sermon. The missionary program was presided over by the wife of G. T. Stinson.

Speakers on Friday's program included Dr. B. G. Dawson, Jacksonville, Fla., Rev. V. M. Townsend, Little Rock, Ark., and Dr. J. H. Clayborn, editor of the Southern Christian Recorder, Little Rock.

Dr. R. A. Scott, president of Campbell college, and Dr. S. D. Greene, Jr., dean of the school of theology at Campbell college at Jackson, Miss., delivered educational addresses at 8 o'clock last night.

The ordination sermon will be delivered today at 11 a.m. The bishop will read the appointments tonight.

DR. DODD WILL LECTURE HERE

Prominent Lecturer And Globe Traveler Will Deliver Address Thursday

Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, an outstanding speaker and religious leader who has with his wife recently returned from an 18,000-mile airplane trip through South America, will lecture at the First Baptist church here Thursday night. His theme will be "Circling a Continent for Christ."

Dr. Dodd is a popular speaker and attracts capacity houses wherever he goes. He is a native of Tennessee and his pastorates have been at Fulton, Paducah and Louisville, Ky., and at Shreveport since 1912. The Shreveport church has grown under his ministry from 600 to 4,800 members and its income has increased to $100,000 annually. The original church building represented $30,000 at the time Dr. Dodd went to Shreveport. Today the church edifice is valued at $500,000.

Dodd college in Shreveport was established through Dr. Dodd's efforts in 1927 and has become an important junior college for girls.

Dr. Dodd was a sergeant in the Second Tennessee Volunteers during the Spanish-American war and did welfare and religious work in the Y. M. C. A. during the World war. He is a member of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce, of the Masonic fraternity and is also a Rotarian.

He served as president of the Louisiana Baptist convention in 1926-27, and president of the Southern Baptist convention 1935-36, and is a member of the executive committee of the Baptist World alliance.

He is a popular radio speaker and his church was the first church in the world to own and operate its own broadcasting station.

Dr. Dodd is a prolific writer, 31 books and tracts having been written by him, many of which embody the results of his extensive experiences as pastor, lecturer and world traveler. In 1934, with his wife he toured the world, visiting and preaching in many foreign lands. Their most recent trip was that through South America by airplane and which will form the basis of his address to be given here Thursday night.

TRAFFIC BUREAU HOLDS MEETING

Numerous Accomplishments Of Past Year Are Cited In Reports

The Monroe Traffic bureau has just held its annual meeting and reports were rendered of accomplishments that have been achieved during the past year. Among the number the following were cited by H. J. Fernandez, bureau manager:

Opposed further increases in railroad transportation rates, which had already been increased five cents per hundred and had tariffs corrected. Also had numerous other rates corrected which produced increases that were erroneously published.

Intervened in support of application to continue rate of $1 on apples from Washington and other western points.

Opposed further increase in rates on fruits and vegetables from California points.

Proposal to increase rates on box shooks 10 per cent opposed.

Cut-back rates on cottonseed, carloads to West Monroe reestablished.

Helped to prevent further increase on malt liquors and empties, returned.

Readjustment of rates on rice between points in Louisiana.

Prevented increase in rate on whisky, carloads from New Orleans to Monroe.

Had continued in effect low rates on cotton factory products from southeastern producing points to Monroe.

Had extended special rates on cotton and cotton linters from Monroe to New Orleans.

Helped to prevent increases in rate on scrap iron.

Opposed increases in rates on wrought iron pipe.

Readjustment of rates on sugar between points in Louisiana.

Considerable discrimination existed against Monroe due to a system of transport rates applied by the railroads, which were corrected by us, thereby enabling us to do business throughout the state on a relative equality with our competitors. The same situation also existed with regard to the motor carrier rates, which, after considerable effort, was finally straightened out and the discrimination removed.

Many other items are pending action and of the number the following are cited:

Readjustment of rates on common brick.

Readjustment of rates on beer from New Orleans to Monroe.

Readjustment of rates on petroleum and its products in less-than-carload lots.

Revision of rates on nitrate of soda.

Revision of rates on rough material, lumber, bolts, etc.

Increase in present charge for stopover privilege from $6.93 to $7.25.

Readjustment of rates on potatoes from western points to Monroe.

Increase in express rates.

Increase in minimum charge on single shipments from 55 cents to $1.00.

Readjustment of rates on grain and grain products.

As to the future of transportation, Mr. Fernandez had the following to say:

"It is common knowledge that the railroads of the country are in a dire financial condition and that unless something radical is done they will pass into government control. Such action, we are sure, is not desired by the business interests of the country. In order to put the roads on their feet the president has appointed a committee to formulate proper legislation to correct the situation, which will no doubt be presented to the next session of congress. Whatever legislation is passed by congress will no doubt not only affect the economic condition of the country but will also disturb the present adjustment of rates throughout the country. If and when this happens, it is going to be necessary for us to be prepared to see that the transportation charges are properly adjusted under any new scheme that may come out of this legislation."

The continued support of the public is asked by the manager for this group which he heads and which plays such an important economic role in the life of the community.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION SURVEY WELL UNDER WAY

WINNSBORO, Dec. 10—(Special)—The preliminary rural electrification survey in Franklin and Richland parishes is well under way, with 22 miles of line already mapped, according to H. F. Miller, representative of a Kentucky firm of engineers which specializes in mapping power lines under the rural electrification project.

Mr. Miller started work in Ward 9 Tuesday morning and completed 12 miles of the proposed line. Wednesday he continued in Ward 8, north of Fort Necessity, and completed 10 miles.

The required customer density is 2.5 per mile, which means that for 100 miles of line there must be 250 users of electricity. Mr. Miller said approximately 100 miles will be needed to cover the two parishes. The survey to date shows that the territory is just about meeting the 2.5 requirement.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 11 ALARMS

Members of the Monroe fire department answered eleven alarms yesterday, extinguishing nine grass fires, an automobile fire and a garage fire.

The automobile, owned by Fay Brown, was said to have become ignited because of a short in wiring. The fire occurred at 320 Jackson. The garage fire, said to have been caused by a grass fire, was at the home of Elmo Nappier, 3012 Lee avenue.

Grass fires yesterday were located at 104 South 26th street, 2000 Island drive, in Marks alley, at North Seventh and Erin streets, 600 DeSiard street, 207 Reed street, 306 Moore street, at Webster and McGuire streets and at North Sixth and Glenmar.

T. B. CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

More Succumb Yearly Than Were Wiped Out In World War

Unused Christmas seals will not help to wipe out tuberculosis. So declared a member of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association, who is interested in helping Claude Harrison, campaign manager of the seal sale, complete the job successfully.

Much talk is heard about war and its destructive forces but few realize that more persons die each year from tuberculosis than were slain in the World war. In the United States each year 70,000 lives are sacrificed to tuberculosis.

Bringing it closer home, there were 12 deaths in Ouachita parish last year from this disease. But a gleam of light is given when one considers that in the year before that there were 16 lives so lost here, which indicates that four lives were perhaps saved through the mission of the little Christmas seals.

Another phase of the ravages of tuberculosis is given in that for every life lost, the community loses $10,000. This is a figure arrived at as an average which takes into consideration the cost of medical care and treatment, and the loss of earning power and also of spending power by the individual whose life is cut short.

When all these things are considered, it would seem that everybody should buy those seals and see that all letters from now to Christmas bear this emblem, be they business or personal letters and certainly all Christmas packages should bear these seals.

The senate of Eire by a 30-15 vote declined to elect Senator Patrick Baxter to position of vice-chairman because he had not a competent knowledge of the Irish language. There was no other nomination.

CONFERENCE IS NEARING CLOSE

Negro Conclave Will Be Brought To Conclusion Here Tonight

The north Louisiana annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church, in session at the Allen chapel, Eleventh and Pine streets, heard a special address delivered by Bishop S. L. Greene, Little Rock, Ark., chairman of the conclav in which he said in part:

"War should no longer be tolerated by an intelligent and God-fearing civilization. This barbaric program, to my way of thinking, belongs to the jungle period of human development and should be branded as an iniquitous procedure. The triumph of war seldom establishes right and justice. It always leaves in its wake destruction, sorrow, hatred, and crushed humanity.

"The very atmosphere of war should be changed because man is by nature too great to be bound to such vicious and inhuman methods of settling disputes or making international adjustments and right relations in the world. Every effort to wreck the entire war system should be vigorously supported and loudly applauded by the Christian church.

"The A. M. E. church is committed to the proposition of establishing peace on earth and promoting good will among men." In concluding the bishop congratulated France and Germany upon the signing of the peace pact.

The conference passed a resolution reaffirming its allegiance to the bishop and addressing letters to the 1940 general conference requesting his return to the state of Mississippi and Louisiana for four more years. Such action, we are sure, is not desired by the business interests of the country. In order to put the roads on their feet the president has appointed a committee to formulate proper legislation to correct the situation, which will no doubt be presented to the next session of congress. Whatever legislation is passed by congress will no doubt not only affect the economic condition of the country but will also disturb the present adjustment of rates throughout the country. If and when this happens, it is going to be necessary for us to be prepared to see that the transportation charges are properly adjusted under any new scheme that may come out of this legislation."

The continued support of the public is asked by the manager for this group which he heads and which plays such an important economic role in the life of the community.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION SURVEY WELL UNDER WAY

WINNSBORO, Dec. 10.—(Special)—The preliminary rural electrification survey in Franklin and Richland parishes is well under way, with 22 miles of line already mapped, according to H. F. Miller, representative of a Kentucky firm of engineers which specializes in mapping power lines under the rural electrification project.

Mr. Miller started work in Ward 9 Tuesday morning and completed 12 miles of the proposed line. Wednesday he continued in Ward 8, north of Fort Necessity, and completed 10 miles.

The required customer density is 2.5 per mile, which means that for 100 miles of line there must be 250 users of electricity. Mr. Miller said approximately 100 miles will be needed to cover the two parishes. The survey to date shows that the territory is just about meeting the 2.5 requirement.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 11 ALARMS

Members of the Monroe fire department answered eleven alarms yesterday, extinguishing nine grass fires, an automobile fire and a garage fire.

The automobile, owned by Fay Brown, was said to have become ignited because of a short in wiring. The fire occurred at 3200 Jackson. The garage fire, said to have been caused by a grass fire, was at the home of Elmo Nappier, 3902 Lee avenue.

Grass fires yesterday were located at 104 South 20th street, 2000 Island drive, in Marks' alley, at North Seventh and Erin streets; 4000 DeSiard street, 507 Reed street, 506 Moore street, at Webster and McGuire streets and at North Sixth and Glenmar.

T. B. CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

More Succumb Yearly Than Were Wiped Out In World War

Unused Christmas seals will not help to wipe out tuberculosis. So declared a member of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association who is interested in helping Claude Harrison, campaign manager of the seal sale, complete the job successfully.

Much talk is heard about war and its destructive forces but few realize that more persons die each year from tuberculosis than were slain in the World war. In the United States each year, 70,000 lives are sacrificed to tuberculosis.

Bringing it closer home, there were 32 deaths in Ouachita parish last year from this disease. But a gleam of light is given when one considers that in the year before that there were 36 lives so lost here, which indicates that four lives were perhaps saved through the mission of the little Christmas seals.

Another phase of the ravages of tuberculosis is given in that for every life lost, the community loses $10,000. This is a figure arrived at as an average which takes into consideration the cost of medical care and treatment, and the loss of earning power and also of spending power by the individual whose life is cut short.

When all these things are considered, it would seem that everybody should buy those seals and see that all letters from now to Christmas bear this emblem, be they business or personal letters and certainly all Christmas packages should bear these seals.

The senate of Eire by a 38-15 vote declined to elect Senator Patrick Baxter to position of vice-chairman because he had not a competent knowledge of the Irish language. There was no other nomination.

Miss Elizabeth Bell Of West Monroe Will Become Bride Of James Elliott

Marriage Is Planned During Yule Holidays

Monroe Society Welcomes Mrs J Lenwood Inabnett, The Former Miss Miller Of Minden

Claiming the interest of friends today is the announcement made by Mr and Mrs Charles Clyde Bell of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bell, to Mr James Elliott.

The marriage will be an interesting but quiet event of the holidays.

A [illegible] Monroe society [illegible] Lenwood Inabnett [illegible] wedding [illegible] Miller, daughter [illegible] Mrs Joseph R Miller.

The [illegible] was [illegible] at the home of the bride's [illegible] in the afternoon [illegible] Rev N F Jones, pastor [illegible] Methodist church [illegible].

The [illegible] of the spacious [illegible] was decorated with white [illegible] chrysanthemums [illegible] southern smilax. The [illegible] was hung from the [illegible] entwined with smilax [illegible] framed the double doors [illegible] living and dining [illegible]. White wicker floor standards [illegible] white and yellow chrysanthemums and plumosus fern marked the doorway through which the bridal party passed after descending the stairs to the altar in the living room. Baskets and other arrangements of the handsome flowers were placed at vantage points.

The mantel in the living room before which vows were exchanged, was banked with ferns. A large central arrangement of white chrysanthemums and Oregon fern was flanked by standards of the white and yellow flowers and seven-branched candelabra burning white and yellow tapers. On the mantel shelf, at either side of the mirror, were massive brass candlesticks burning white tapers.

Guests were received by Mrs Joe R Miller, mother of the bride, who wore a becoming afternoon dress of black crepe and a shoulder corsage of gold ranunculi. While they were assembling Mrs B. G. McIntyre, at the [illegible] played "Venetian Love Song" (Nevin) and a "Nocturne" (Chopin).

At the first strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" the bride's attendants descended the stairs. The first to come was Mrs James G Byrd, wearing a foliage green damask dress made with high empire waistline and short sleeves puffed and corded. The plain neckline was adorned with an antique gold chain and locket which were the gift of the bride. Her bouquet was of yellow and gold chrysanthemums and gold ranunculi tied with streamers of green and gold ribbon.

The matron of honor, Mrs Walter Coquitt of Shreveport, wore an identical dress of old gold damask and about her neck the locket and chain which were the gift of the bride. Her flowers were chrysanthemums and ranunculi with sprays of blue delphinium tied with wide satin ribbons of blue and old gold.

The bride descended with her father, who gave her in marriage. She presented the image of an ivory miniature in an old-fashioned wedding gown of sheerest ivory batiste worn over a heavy satin slip. The empire bodice was fashioned of bands of puffing and Valenciennes lace with a double row of lace forming a soft frill about the square neck. Bands of lace formed front and back panels on the skirt which lengthened to a train and was finished with an edging of lace. A veil of illusion was caught to her hair with a cluster of lilies of the valley and fell gracefully over the train. Her bouquet was Claudius Pernet roses whose rich yellow tones harmonized with the ivory of her gown. They were combined with lilies of the valley and Canterbury bells and tied with scarves of white brocaded satin and maline.

The bridegroom awaited her at the altar with his brothers, the Messrs Ed Inabnett of Natchitoches, who served him as best man, and Kenneth Inabnett of Monroe, groomsman.

The Sundial

Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Benj. Franklin.

By Eve C. Bradford

THE world grows more glamorous and mystical and will continue to do so until the last eggnog becomes a New Year's memory. Scores of family dinners for all generations are being planned for Christmas day—parties for the college set as well as their mothers' and fathers' friends, open-house affairs which have become a tradition in certain Monroe families, formal tea dances and balls at hotels. All climax in a gala New Year's eve celebration.

There's the Henry Biedenharn home, for instance. In the spacious rooms at Bethaven, holly wreaths are being hung and soon the Christmas tree will be ablaze with lights. Elizabeth, her husband and their two children, home from Rochester for the holidays, and Henry Biedenharn, Jr., home from college, will gather around the festive board on Christmas. Joseph Biedenharn, representing the first of four generations, will be absent from the feast—he is spending the holidays with his daughter, Emma Louise in London.

At the Joseph Washburn home on Island Drive three generations will be seated at the long table on Christmas day. There will be Violet and Floyd Martin and Floyd, Jr., and Winifred and Fletcher Ashcraft and son Wyche with Viola and Joe presiding at either end of the table.

Three generations will sit down to the shining mahogany table in the great dining room at Layton Castle with Robert and Carol, host to Mr. and Mrs C. M. Flower, Maud Stubbs and two sons and daughter, and Marilyn Bush and daughter. As customary a huge holly tree will be brought in from the plantation and will occupy its accustomed place in the alcove in the spacious hall where the Layton family for years and years have decorated a holly tree.

The Judge Harpers and their three sub-deb daughters will welcome a visit from St. Nickolas for the first time in their handsome new home on Island Drive.

The S. E Hueys will gather around the flaming logs on the cheery hearth and enjoy the first Christmas in their new home. Three generations will sit down to the feast on Christmas day when India and Guy and India Stubbs arrive to complete the family party.

Four generations will make merry at the C. W. Wallace home with Grandmother Foster, as she is affectionately called, seated at the table with Charlie and Mabel, Foster and Helen and Foster, Jr., and great aunt, Sara Foster.

Four generations of Sholars will be together as customary on Christmas day. Mrs. D M Sholars and her son Allan and his two daughters, Charlotte James and Satchie Cooper and their interesting little families will gather at the old home on Riverside where Charlotte and Satchie were born.

Arthur and Stella Dryburgh anticipated the pleasure of having their year old grandson seated at the table with them on Christmas day, but this member of the family, making the third generation, is with his parents, Baskin and Jean Wright in far off Oregon where Baskin is on an important government commission.

And so the story goes. Hearts grow lighter and smiles grow brighter as we wend out way toward home where the mystery, the excitement and the enchantment of childhood is recaptured for a few precious hours.

Love of Christmas music prompted Thelma Gunby to revive the ancient custom of minstrels strolling through the streets on Christmas eve. Dressed in crimson caps and capes reminiscent of the Yuletide in old England, youngsters strolled through the residential district last year, singing the songs Thelma had taught them. This year they are even more enthusiastic and the number has greatly increased. They gather around the piano in the Gunby living room and sing lustily such songs as "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "Noel," "Silent Night" "I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing In," and "We Three Kings of Orient Are." A lighted candle in the window will be your invitation to the carolers to pause at your doorstep. These enthusiastic youngsters are David King, Sam Brothers, Buddie Boardman, Jack Easterling, Jimmy Ewing, Aylmer Montgomery, Jr., Thomas Flournoy, Carl Tidwell, George Monk, Elmer Slagle, Jr., and Gordon Surguine. Thelma believes that children feel a deeper, more satisfying pleasure in Christmas if they can give vent to their feelings in the songs of the ages. Carol singing, she believes, is an outlet for their exuberance.

Christmas came early to the Walter Kellogg menage. A handsome new saddle horse was Walter's gift to Suzanne last week. His name is Smokey and he is the answer to Suzanne's prayer. She has been borrowing Enola Rogers' horse on occasion when the owner was out of town, but the ever increasing desire to ride her own mount culminated in the purchase of Smokey.

Mary Black's horse suffered a bad knee when he bolted the fence one fine day and left for greener pastures. After a week's absence he was finally located but came home limping. All is well now and Mary, as portrayed in today's pictures, is riding on frosty mornings when most of her friends are huddling around the fire.

Frances McHenry, home from New York, is not bubbling over as usual, with talk of theaters, the shops and the night clubs, but of a magician who entertained members of the Southern Carbon company at their annual dinner, with tricks that left them quite breathless. He placed an article in Frances hand but when she opened it she found not one but several articles. Frances vows she has been unable ever since to fully regain her breath.

Adelia Sandel Fitzpatrick, home from Indiana, as vivacious and as attractive as ever, breezed into Josephine Millsaps' living room the other day, fairly exuding her love of life in the north. In years past it was generally believed that southern girls couldn't be transplanted to northern soil without drooping and dying of sheer homesickness. Adelia explodes this theory into a cocked hat—she loves the Yankees, she loves the snow and ice and loves life generally in this northern clime. Mrs. Victor Barringer gathered Adelia's cronies together over the coffee cups at the Lotus club last week, and such a chattering and babble of voices! The girls, who were born about the same time, grew up together and went to school together, found much to talk about and it wasn't about cabbages and kings. There were Ellen Kent Millsaps, Rosalee Herring Womack, Ann Platt, Lucille Mangham Trousdale and Elizabeth Biedenharn Haydn. Elizabeth is another southern flower transplanted successfully in northern soil.

Instead of visiting the Shreveport shops where the glory of Christmas is reflected at every turn, Lessie Madison was calmly sipping tea from the cups that once belonged to Dolly Madison, wife of the fourth president of the United States. Lessie has been delving deeply into the history of the Madison family and recently learned that an Episcopal minister in Shreveport was in possession of the famous tea cups. Letters passed between them, thus the invitation to drink tea and discuss their lineage. Lessie, in her study of genealogy, has gathered interesting information of the Madison family which dates far beyond the days of James Madison, our fourth president.

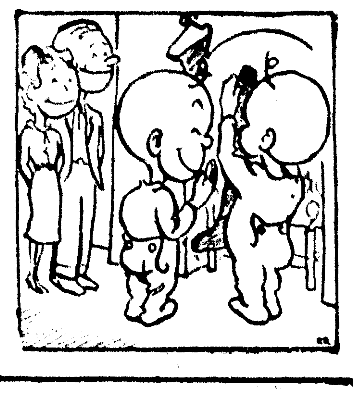
"THE SOPHISTICATED TWINS"

'Twas their third Christmas Eve
And they laughed up their sleeve—
Did Winnie and Willie, her brother.
They hung up their sock
By the fire 'neath the clock
To humor their father and mother.



Said Willie to Winnie
"My dear little twinnie,
Have you heard about Santa?—
's fake!
That man over there
Surrounded by hair
Is Pop beyond any mistake."

But they kept up the illusion—
The fond, happy delusion
Of their parents who beamed on them sweetly.

Miss Elizabeth Bell Of West Monroe Will Become Bride Of James Elliott

Marriage Is Planned During Yule Holidays

Monroe Society Welcomes Mrs. J. Lenwood Inabnett, The Former Miss Miller Of Minden

Claiming the interest of friends today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Clyde Bell of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bell, to Mr. James Elliott.

The marriage will be an interesting but quiet event of the holidays.

A delightful acquisition to Monroe society is Mrs. J. Lenwood Inabnett, who, before her recent wedding in Minden, was Miss Roy Wilmot Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Miller.

The wedding, of impressive beauty, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with Rev. N. E. Joyner, pastor of the Minden Methodist church, officiating.

The entire lower floor of the spacious Miller home was decorated with white and yellow specimen chrysanthemums, fern and southern smilax. The rail of the stairway rising from the central hall was entwined with smilax, which also framed the double doors leading from hall to living and dining rooms. White wicker floor standards with white and yellow chrysanthemums and plumosus fern marked the doorway through which the bridal party passed, after descending the stairs, to the altar in the living room. Baskets and other arrangements of the handsome flowers were placed at vantage points.

The mantel in the living room, before which vows were exchanged, was banked with ferns. A large central arrangement of white chrysanthemums and Oregon fern was flanked by standards of the white and yellow flowers and seven-branched candelabra burning white and yellow tapers. On the mantel shelf, at either side of the mirror, were massive brass candlesticks burning white tapers.

Guests were received by Mrs. Joe R. Miller, mother of the bride, who wore a becoming afternoon dress of black crepe and a shoulder corsage of gold ranunculi. While they were assembling Mrs. B. G. McIntyre, at the piano, played "Venetian Love Song" (Nevin) and a "Nocturne" (Chopin).

At the first strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" the bride's attendants descended the stairs. The first to come was Mrs. James G. PORTRAITS IN RHYME

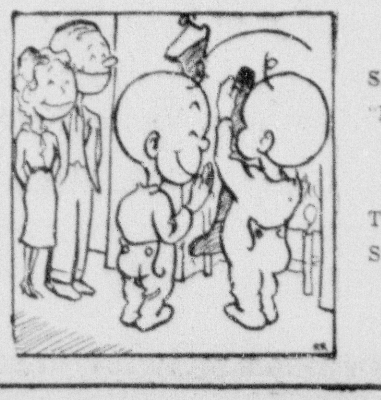
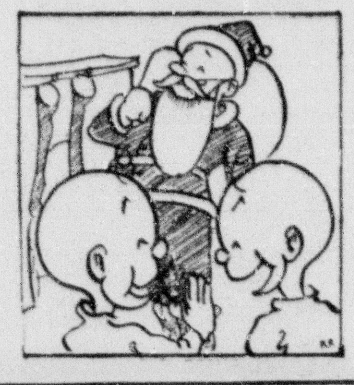
"THE SOPHISTICATED TWINS"

'Twas their third Christmas Eve
And they laughed up their sleeve—
Did Winnie and Willie, her brother.
They hung up their sock
By the fire 'neath the clock
To humor their father and mother.



Said Willie to Winnie
"My dear little twinnie,
Have you heard about Santa?—
's fake!
That man over there
Surrounded by hair
Is Pop beyond any mistake."



But they kept up the illusion—
The fond, happy delusion
Of their parents who beamed on them sweetly.
And the twins were content
For their bikes had been sent
From the Monroe Furniture Company.

Children Enjoy Pre-Christmas Party As Guests Of Little Maralyne Ramey

Women's Club Scene Of Charming Affair

Fifty Or More Small Guests Are Present, Kiddies Stand In Receiving Line Like Grown-Ups

Anticipating their Christmas time supremacy by two weeks, younger beaux and belles of the city stepped into the limelight with their own series of holiday festivities on Thursday when Maralyne Ramey, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ramey, inaugurated the Christmas social season with a party at the Business and Professional Women's club house on Jackson street.

Against a background of holly boughs, mistletoe and prancing reindeer, Maralyne, assisted by six lovely girls in floor length taffeta models with flowers in their curls, welcomed the fifty or more guests.

Maralyne wore a bouffant pink taffeta frock with a chaplet of pink blossoms in her hair. In the diminutive receiving line were Katherine Fox, Sara Frances and Rai Fergus, Marion Taylor, Martha Whitfield and Rhoda Browning.

Each guests brought Maralyne a beautiful birthday gift and they were received by George Lofton Jr., Wyche Ashcraft, Dennis Hemphill, Sonny Black, John Naylor, Ted Barton and Bert Kramer.

The climax to a wonderful afternoon was the refreshment hour. The doors to the dining room were opened and the children seated at long candelit tables decorated with Christmas colors. At each cover a crimson taper burned and individual gifts wrapped in red cellophane, were placed. The cutting of the birthday cake, a gorgeous confection embossed the Christmas colors, was the moment supreme, with Maralyne who blew out the candles, the cynosure of all eyes.

Among the guests were noted Ann Wesley Allen, Ken Abbington, Mary Neil Goison, Katherine Fox, Phillips Lynch, John Peters, Martha Sparks, Wayne Wood, Wilma Sandel, Raymond Wilenzick, Rosemary McGinn, Peggy Strauss, Gene Strauss, Martha Hatchell, Barbara Ann Kelsoe, Robert Ewing, Francis Barringer, Will Johnson, Thomas Fryant, John Peters, George Lofton, Jr., Custer Primos, Mary Lee, Elizabeth Leigh, Harold Dixon, Jr., Carolyn Peters, Linda Hair, Margaret Ann Lee, Gene Frazer, Lelia Kite, Ann Holcombe, Frank Fox, David Wadsworth, Mary Worley, Betty Bamburg, Paula Smith, Ralph King, Virginia Bell, John Thompson, Judy Mitchell, Mary Worley, Horace Walters Perry Lassiter, Craig Morgan, X. Holt, Jr., Lloydelle Walters, Jerry Carter, Brian Davis, Mary Drake Henry, Elaine Kimball, Jo Frances Petagna, Dick Guerriero, Billie Ferguson, Charles Martin, Ted Barton, Olan Black, Jr., Mary Black, Ward Whitfield, Martha Whitfield, Marion Taylor, Delmas Jackson, John Naylor, Henson Coon, Jr., James Ferguson, Lelia Stevens, Dianne Ducote, Nancy Barfield, Georgia Blanchard, Rhoda Browning, Sara Fergus, Rai Fergus, Kate DeLarot, Peter Marx, Jo Ann Fuller, Frances Black, Dennis Hemphill, Nancy Trousdale, Linda Thompson, Lenord Shlenker, Jr., Dick Cotton, Robert Garrison, Ralph Riley, Louisette Trousdale, Pete McVay, Carol Rhodes, Clara Mumholland, Bill Blanchard, John Wooten, Jane Blanchard, Suzanne Phebus, Mary Anita Lennon, Nora Marie Lennon, Jo Ann McVay.

Music Study Club Holds Meeting

The Music Study club held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday when the life of Ludwig von Beethoven was studied. The current events were given by Miss Johnette Register.

First on the program was a paper, "The Greatest of the Sonata Writers—The Symphony," by Mr. Billy Regan. Following this Mr. Lowry Jefferson gave a paper on the "Development of the Piano Under Beethoven." Then a piano number, "First Movement from Moonlight Sonata," was given by Miss Anna Nichols. Miss Marie Winkler gave a piano solo, "Sonata, C Minor." Following this a duet, "Pastoral Symphony" (first movement, Beethoven), was given by Miss Mack Fay Hammons and Miss Sarah Tabb. Then some records were played by Mr. Wayne Wamsley.

Immediately after the program was over the guests enjoyed delicious refreshments served by the hostess, Miss Johnette Register.

Pointers Given On Transplanting Shrubs

Mrs. Fred Fudickar, president of the Monroe Garden club takes pleasure in answering the many questions gardeners are now asking in regard to transplanting shrubs. She says:

"Good drainage is very important. Dig the hole 18 or 24 inches or more, depending on the size of the shrub. Break up the subsoil and fill the bottom of the hole with pieces of brick, stones or cinders an inch or more deep.

"Over this drainage material good top soil or loam ought to be put, and to this it is a good idea to add humus or peat moss. The shrub and ball can now be [illegible] and it is important that the [illegible] be set deeper than it was before.

"Good drainage is very important Dig the hole 18 or 24 inches or more, depending on the size of the shrub Break up the subsoil and fill the bottom of the hole with pieces of brick stones or cinders an inch or more deep.

"Over this drainage material good top soil or loam ought to be put, and to this it is a good idea to add humas or peat moss. The shrub and ball can now be put in place and it is important that the plant never be set deeper than it was before.

"If the plant is being transplanted without being balled, care should be taken not to expose the bare roots to the wind and sun and it should be put in the ground as quickly as possible.

"Well rotted manure can be placed underneath the soil on which the plant is set or bone meal can be mixed with the soil that is put over it. It is not good to use commercial fertilizers on newly planted shrubs because of the danger of burning the tender feeding roots that will be put out.

"After the shrub is set in the hole at the proper depth the soil must be worked in around the roots firmly. When this is done more soil should be used to fill in and should be well tamped down then watered. As the water soaks in more soil will be needed, but it should not be hilled around the plant, instead a depression should be left.

"Even with the most careful digging some of the root system is bound to have been destroyed, it is therefore necessary to trim the top to restore a balance. The shape ought not be damaged but where possible the oldest branches can be removed and the newer ones shortened.

"Since pruning promotes new growth, do not prune established plants at this time. Mulch the roots now and in the spring before the new growth puts out use your shears.

"The time for each particular shrub, however, must be determined by its habit and blooming time. Most of the early spring bloomers make their flowers in the preceding summer, so they should be pruned immediately after they finish blooming in order not to interfere with next year's buds. Spirea and weigela belong to this class. Later summer bloomers generally make their flowers on the new growth of the year, therefore they can be pruned in the cold weather while dormant. Crepe myrtle, altheas, vitex and abelia belong to this class."

Review Club Meets In Holloway Home

Mrs. A. R. Holloway extended the hospitality of her home to members of the Review club for the regular bi-monthly meeting.

After a routine business session Mrs. C. C. Colvert discussed the international relations institute which was held at Northeast Center of L. S. U. on December 3. She also proposed, in connection with her work as chairman of the club's department of education, a number of projects which might be undertaken to further adult education.

The program for the afternoon dealt with the life of the distinguished Louisiana historian, statesman, jurist and scholar, Charles Gayarre. Mrs. DeWitt Henry, who presented the material, said in part:

"Destined for great things from birth [illegible] his ancestry [illegible] Charles Gayarre became during the [illegible] years of his lifetime, one of Louisiana's greatest sons. The brilliant and versatile mind which manifested itself at a very early age soared to the heights in the political world in which Gayarre held many important positions, such as assistant attorney general of Louisiana, secretary of state and superintendent of education.

"In the literary world his writings made him a well known figure in all [illegible] and Louisiana is greatly indebted to him for his History of Louisiana, which is nowhere in American literature equalled by any historical record of any state."

At the conclusion of the program a delightful social hour was enjoyed, during which the club had the privilege of welcoming two guests, Mrs. McGimsey of New Orleans and Mrs. Jack Cline of Shreveport. Mrs. Holloway served delicious refreshments to the following in addition to the guests: Mesdames Henry Colbert, C. C. Colvert, E. P. Cudd, W. T. Davis, Fred Fudickar, Allen Givens, Roy Hale, W. R. Hatchell, DeWitt Henry, Reese Major, Sr., C. V. McGimsey, D. M. Moore, C. A. Nenney, Walter Rhodes and W. J. Veazey.

Forum Sponsored By University Women Largely Attended

Prominent Speakers Appear On Program

Mrs. C. C. Colvert Introduces Mr. Norton, Dr. Kendall And Dr. Robbins; Europe Discussed

No brief account can do justice to the devoted, intelligent service which the American Association of University Women groups all over the country, and especially here in Monroe, are rendering to their membership and to the community, nor can such an account adequately describe the influence which the association has exerted on the education and on the position of women in this country in the more than half a century of its existence.

The international relations forum sponsored by members of the Monroe A. A. U. W. at Northeast Center auditorium last week gave at least a suggestion of the wonderful work being accomplished.

Mrs. C. C. Colvert presided over the forum and was privileged to introduce such eminent speakers as Mr. Leslie M. Norton, member of Northeast Center faculty, who is well informed on European conditions.

Other prominent educators, Dr. Willmore Kendall of Louisiana State university, and Dr. James R. Robbins of Tulane university were speakers of the day.

As part of its program of study the A. A. U. W. seeks a better understanding of international problems as manifested in the international relations forum. Members find that they can render a very useful service to education through legislative activity, thus more and more they are launching state-wide programs particularly in the field of educational legislation.

The forum held in this city was widely attended by many educators in the Fifth district in addition to many others who are interested in international affairs.

Mrs. Colvert, presiding in characteristic gracious manner, wore the beautiful corsage presented to her by members of the Altrurian club of West Monroe.

The American Association of University Women held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Noble White with Mrs. George Holland and Dr. Julia Hunter, co-hostesses.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, president, presided at the business meeting. During the business session Mrs. Elmer Slagle, chairman of the fellowship committee, and Mrs. George Holland, chairman of the membership committee, gave reports. Dr. Florence Gangstad was appointed to serve as chairman of the arts committee. Mrs. C. C. Colvert, chairman of international relations, gave a report on the international relations institute which was held in Monroe recently, and sponsored by the A. A. U. W.

The theme of the program was "Louisiana Arts." Mrs. W. C. Oliver presided as chairman of the program. Guest speakers and musicians made the program very interesting. Mrs. B. D. Allbritton rendered a piano composition, "Last Hope" by Gottschalk, a Louisiana composer. Mrs. J. Norman Coon discussed Louisiana music in a delightful manner. Mrs. Coon, accompanied by Mrs. Albritton, sang two songs, "In the Creole Way," and "Twilight on the Teche," written by Mrs. J. L. Agate, a Louisiana song writer. Mrs. H. M. James, one of Monroe's most outstanding artists, gave an interesting talk on artists of Louisiana. Pictures painted by McGrady, Brown, and Woodward, Louisiana artists, were displayed by Mrs. James. Mrs. Harry Oliver, another Monroe art enthusiast, displayed pictures of Mrs. Octavia Gayden Tullis' "Magnolias," and made remarks concerning Mrs. Tullis' work.

The hostesses served a delicious plate. Those present were: Miss Dean McKoin, Miss Zelda Moss, Mrs. George Holland, Miss Edwynne Joseph, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Miss Clara Wood, Miss Frances Flanders, Miss Florence Gangstad, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Miss Lucyle Godwin, Mrs. G. R. Younse, Mrs. John Coon, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. J. W. Cummins, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. Norman Coon, Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mrs. B. D. Albritton.

Miss Scalia To Wed S. W. Barnett

Of interest to friends is the announcement of the approaching wedding of Miss Josephine Scalia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Scalia of Monroe, to Mr. S. W. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Simmons of West Monroe.

The ceremony will be performed by Father M. F. Walsh at a nuptial mass in St. Matthew's Catholic church on December 26 at 8:30 a.m.

Both Miss Scalia and Mr. Barnett are widely known in the Twin Cities, having attended the Neville and Ouachita Parish high schools and are at present associated with the Monroe store of Sears Roebuck and company.

Friends of both families are invited to attend the wedding.

Review Club Meets In Holloway Home

Mrs. A. R. Holloway extended the hospitality of her home to members of the Review club for the regular bi-monthly meeting.

After a routine business session Mrs. C. C. Colvert discussed the international relations institute which was held at Northeast Center of L. S. U. on December 3. She also proposed, in connection with her work as chairman of the club's department of education, a number of projects which might be undertaken to further adult education.

The program for the afternoon dealt with the life of the distinguished Louisiana historian, statesman, jurist and scholar, Charles Gayarre. Mrs. DeWitt Henry, who presented the material, said in part:

"Destined for great things from birth by the noble ancestry which was his, Charles Gayarre became, during the 90 years of his lifetime, one of Louisiana's greatest sons. The brilliant and versatile mind which manifested itself at a very early age soared to the heights in the political world in which Gayarre held many important positions such as assistant attorney general of Louisiana, secretary of state and superintendent of education.

"In the literary world his writings made him a well known figure in all nations, and Louisiana is greatly indebted to him for his 'History of Louisiana,' which is nowhere in American literature equalled by any historical record of any state."

At the conclusion of the program a delightful social hour was enjoyed, during which the club had the privilege of welcoming two guests, Mrs. McGimsey of New Orleans and Mrs. Jack Cline of Shreveport. Mrs. Holloway served delicious refreshments to the following, in addition to the guests: Mesdames Henry Colbert, C. C. Colvert, E. P. Cudd, W. T. Davis, Fred Fudickar, Allen Givens, Roy Hale, W. R. Hatchell, DeWitt Henry, Reese Major, Sr., C. V. McGimsey, D. M. Moore, C. A. Nenney, Walter Rhodes and W. J. Veazey.

Veterans' Auxiliary Holds Busy Meeting

The ladies auxiliary to the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met in regular session Thursday night at the club room on DeSiard street. Mrs. DeVerna Blackwell, president, presided over the meeting and considerable business was discussed. This being the last regular meeting of the year all chairmen were present to make final reports and all committees serving on the various programs for the remainder of the month were appointed.

An interesting letter was read from Commander Millet, who is a patient at the Army and Navy General hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

Thursday night, December 15, a meeting of the Fifth district will be held in Monroe at the V. F. W. club room. The meeting will be presided over by District Commander Lawrence Himel of Rayville and all post and auxiliary members of this district are invited to attend. Dr. Joseph C. Menendez, national junior vice-commander of New Orleans, and Mr. J. V. McConnell, commander of the department of Louisiana, will be present as will other prominent V. F. W. officials. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments will be served.

Monday night, December 12, the auxiliary will sponsor a bingo party at the V. F. W. club room for the benefit of the V. F. W. national home. The public is invited to attend and by so doing contribute to the fund for the maintenance of this home for widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

Committee members appointed for the bingo party were Mrs. Christine G. Brown, Mrs. Aline B. Hunt, Mrs. Martha Logan and Mrs. Essie Freeman.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party and shower to be held on Thursday night, December 22. Each person is asked to bring candy, fruits, nuts, etc., to be used in filling the hundreds of stockings that are distributed each year by the auxiliary among the children who would not be remembered otherwise. Names will be obtained from all grade schools in Monroe and West Monroe and deliveries will be made by auxiliary members. Committees appointed for the Christmas party were Mrs. Sally B. Elliott, Mrs. Essie Freeman and Mrs. Martha Logan. Refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Christine Brown and Mrs. Aline B. Hunt. President Blackwell will assist all committees.

Club Scene Of Bridge-Luncheon

The cheerful lounge of McGuire club house was in festive attire on Thursday for the bridge-luncheon with Mrs. Ivy McDonald, Mrs. H. A. McDonald and Mrs. Fred Bennett as hostesses.

Crimson yupon berries intermingling with branches of holly and mistletoe formed the decorative background for the guests seated at beautifully appointed tables for the three course luncheon. A charming note was the placement of a crimson taper on each salad plate creating a circle of candlelight around the table. Candles also burned in the center of the holly wreaths placed at vantage points. Crimson and green mints were served with the demi tasse.

Noted among the guests were Mesdames O. W. Getchell, Bunn Beasley, Wm. Mintz, F. V. Allison, Paul Matthews, Harman Eaves, D. C. Metcalf, Dan Dunnett, George Harrell, Harry Williams, Jr., Jesse Hilton, W. C. Feazel, Garnet Anderson of Jackson, Misses Teddy Moore, T. T. Howe, Victor Davis, Folse, Scott Spencer, Sybil

Veterans' Auxiliary Holds Busy Meeting

The ladies auxiliary to the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met in regular session Thursday night at the club room on DeSiard street. Mrs. DeVeria Blackwell, president, presided over the meeting and considerable business was discussed. This being the last regular meeting of the year, all chairmen were present to make final reports and all committees serving on the various programs for the remainder of the month were appointed.

An interesting letter was read from Commander Miller, who is a patient at the Army and Navy General hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

Thursday night, December 15, a meeting of the Fifth district will be held in Monroe at the V. F. W. club room. The meeting will be presided over by District Commander Lawrence Himel of Rayville and all post and auxiliary members of this district are invited to attend. Dr. Joseph C. Menendez, national junior vice-commander of New Orleans, and Mr. J. V. McConnell, commander of the department of Louisiana, will be present, as will other prominent V. F. W. officials. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments will be served.

Monday night, December 19, the auxiliary will sponsor a bingo party at the V. F. W. club room for the benefit of the V. F. W. national home. The public is invited to attend and by so doing contribute to the fund for the maintenance of this home for widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

Committee members appointed for the bingo party were Mrs. Christine G. Brown, Mrs. Aline B. Hunt, Mrs. Martha Logan and Mrs. Evvie Freeman.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party and shower to be held on Thursday night, December 22. Each person is asked to bring candy, fruits, nuts, etc., to be used in filling the hundreds of stockings that are distributed each year by the auxiliary among the children who would not be remembered otherwise. Names will be obtained from all grade schools in Monroe and West Monroe and deliveries will be made by auxiliary members. Committee appointees for the Christmas party were Mrs. Sally B. Elliott, Mrs. Evvie Freeman and Mrs. Martha Logan. Refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Christine Brown and Mrs. Aline B. Hunt. President Blackwell will assist all committees.

Surprise Shower Given For Sherrards

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sherrard, whose marriage took place December 2, were surprised with a shower at her home, 622 Rochelle avenue, Wednesday night. Mrs. W. C. Proctor and Mrs. J. D. Hines, the latter a sister of the bride, gave the shower, being assisted by Mrs. V. W. Sehon and Mrs. Jordan Barton.

A large number of handsome presents were received. Delicious refreshments were served.

Those who attended were, in addition to the hosts of the occasion, Mrs. B. F. Dilworth, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Burns, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Sehon, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eaton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Krogmire, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hammonds, Mrs. Rebecca Pierce, Miss Dorothy Williams, Miss Neucie Rogers, Miss Ruth Brimberry, Joe Bishop, Wallace Agnew, W. E. Smith, Mrs. Gladys Miles, Misses Irma and Olive Sherrard, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Minor.

Mrs. Sherrard was before her marriage Miss Clara Conroy, and she was popular with a wide circle of friends here and in Houston, Tex., her former home.

The groom is a well known young business man here. Their marriage was a quiet affair and only immediate friends attended.

Club Scene Of Bridge-Luncheon

The cheerful lounge of McGuire club house was in festive attire on Thursday for the bridge-luncheon with Mrs. Ivy McDonald, Mrs. H. A. McDonald and Mrs. Fred Bennett as hostesses.

Crimson yupon berries intermingling with branches of holly and mistletoe formed the decorative background for the guests seated at beautifully appointed tables for the three course luncheon. A charming note was the placement of a crimson taper on each salad plate creating a circle of candlelight around the table. Candles also burned in the center of the holly wreaths placed at vantage points. Crimson and green mints were served with the demi tasse.

Noted among the guests were: Mesdames O. W. Getchell, Bunn Beasley, Wm. Mintz, F. V. Allison, Paul Matthews, Harman Eaves, D. C. Metcalf, Dan Dunnett, George Harrell, Harry Williams, Jr., Jesse Hilton, W. C. Feazel, Garnet Anderson of Jackson, Miss.; Teddy Moore, T. T. Howe, Victor Davis, Folse, Scott Spencer, Sybil

You're Indebted to MONROE and WEST MONROE

Residents of Monroe and West Monroe are indebted to their respective communities. They should therefore give the cities their loyal support and exert themselves individually and collectively toward constant civic improvement.

Residents of Monroe and West Monroe are indebted to the communities for the comforts of life they enjoy. They are indebted to the communities for the privilege of practicing their professions, of conducting their commercial enterprises; for the profits accruing from their undertakings; for the wages they earn.

Many are obligated to the cities for the abilities they possess, having been educated in their schools and trained in their places of business.

There is scarcely a resident of Monroe or West Monroe who has not gained some experience that has improved his value in his particular line of endeavor while living and working in one or the other of the communities. He is therefore indebted to the city that has provided the contacts and other means of such improvement.

Residents of Monroe and West Monroe should be thankful for the progressiveness and civic spirit that prevail in the two places. They are clean, wholesome communities, providing environments in which anyone can take a pride in living.

Residents of Monroe and West Monroe are indebted to the cities for the precautions taken to safeguard their health, lives and property; for the many public places of recreation; for the churches of the communities; for the many social, fraternal and civic groups; for the friendships they have established.

Residents of the two communities should therefore put their shoulders to the wheel and help the cities forward—toward greater healthfulness, greater prosperity, greater service to the people living in them. Each must bear his share of the burden if the communities are to attain their destined goal.

Residents of Monroe and West Monroe can repay a portion of their indebtedness to their communities by realizing that they and the cities are synonymous, that they belong to the communities and the communities belong to them, that the problems of Monroe and West Monroe are their problems, that the municipalities are businesses in which they are shareholders, and that, as such, it is imperative that they cooperate.

To be able to assist in the advancement of Monroe and West Monroe, the residents of the communities should know them. They should be fully acquainted with Monroe and West Monroe—see their good points and advantages and praise them; recognize their bad points and disadvantages and strive to remedy them.

And above all, they should endeavor to the utmost to GROW and GO with Monroe and West Monroe.

'Three Cornered Moon' Will Be Presented

The third production of the season for the Monroe Little Theater will be the comedy, "Three Cornered Moon," by Gertrude Tonkonogy. This play has a record of successes on Broadway and with Little Theaters everywhere. It is the story of a family which finds itself with a balance of $1.83 after the depression. After the first shock and the first suggestion that they "all join hands and jump in the river," the various members of the family meet the situation in their own ways, with a laughable situation resulting in each case. To make it just a little harder, they find themselves saddled with an unsuccessful novelist whose contribution of "pure beauty and sensitivity" to the far-from-groaning board is not all that it might be. The family is delightfully eccentric, the one sane member of the entire group being a friend of long standing, who finally gets a well deserved reward. The play is scheduled for December 15 and will be presented at Northeast Center at 8 o'clock. Marie Louise and George Snellings, who have already proved themselves popular and successful with last season's "The Royal Family," are the directors. The large membership of the Little Theater is assured of an entertaining evening.

The cast is as follows:

Mrs Rimplegar, Sue Hefley; Douglas Rimplegar, Ross Banister; Kenneth Rimplegar, Fred Fudickar, Jr; Jenny, Mary Bergevin; Ed Rimplegar, Bill Jackson; Elizabeth Rimplegar, Alice Daimwood; Donald, Art Sargent; Dr Alan Stevens, James Brown; Kitty, Sera Talbert.

Furnishings—Mrs. Morgan Simonton, chairman; committee, Mrs O. R Ware, Mrs. David Kaplan.

Personal properties—Helena Hayward and Mabel Hunt.

Set—Phillip Embanato.

Junior Literary Club Organized

The Junior club of the Welcome Branch Book club which was organized recently held its second meeting at the home of Mrs H L Delaney with Mrs H V Collins as co-hostess.

Study for the coming year was discussed and the name "Junior Gavel" was chosen for the organization. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs H L Delaney; vice-president, Mrs C O Boyce; recording secretary, Mrs George F Kidwell; corresponding secretary, Mrs John Naylor; treasurer, Mrs G V McCaskill, Jr; reporter, Mrs E T Heard, Jr; parliamentarian, Mrs Olan Black; historian, Mrs L A Duffee.

The members enjoyed having as guests Mrs W M Johnson, representative of Welcome Branch, and Mrs A D Tisdale who gave an instructive talk on club activities.

During the social hour refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Merrell Williams, John Naylor, H L Delaney, G V McCaskill, Jr, C O Boyce, H V Collins, L A Duffee, A D Tisdale, George F. Kidwell, W. M. Johnson, Olan Black and E T Heard, Jr.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Olan Black, 435 Howard street.

It's nearing that season of the year for husbands and wives to go again into their pre-Christmas huddle and agree, "If you won't give me anything for Christmas I won't give you anything. Instead we'll be sensible and slip-cover the furniture, buy a new coffee table or put that shower in the bath!"

But how many households actually stick to their side of the bargain? And what becomes of those gifts hastily chosen in their Christmas eve breakdown?

Mutual agreements to be practical are re-enacted year after year. Then Christmas morning when the curtain rises on the festival drama, there as of old is his surprise gift for her! That gift which he presents with a you're-so-sweet-I-couldn't-help-it smile and she receives with her loveliest maternal little-boy-you've-done-it-again expression.

It seems that husbands have a way of getting caught in the last minute wave of Christmas spirit and one way or the other suddenly grow mellow under its spell. They grow mellow and in sentimental confusion figure, "The Old Girl," is at least entitled to something personal and a bit impractical for this one gift-giving day of the year.

That his thoughts turn to the "Old Girl," is something in itself to be valued and appreciated. But why when she needs a shopping bag, or a pair of bedroom slippers, that look like they came out of a missionary barrel, does he blindly choose some furbelow to be laid away in tissue paper?

Husbands, not being born shoppers, naturally find their way into the nearest and most convenient shop. Usually an exclusive shop, and buoyed by its ultra smart atmosphere recklessly throw themselves on the mercy of the accommodating and helpless salesgirl. Helpless salesgirl, because of her the various wives of these Christmas shopping husbands are but synthetic. And too, how often does he ever set her right on a price limit? No, not even if he still eats his lunch via the counter and his wife wears half-soled shoes! No indeed; he's dumbly flattered if the ever-tactful salesgirl displays gifts for his approval that will set him back a goodly chunk out of his next month's rent.

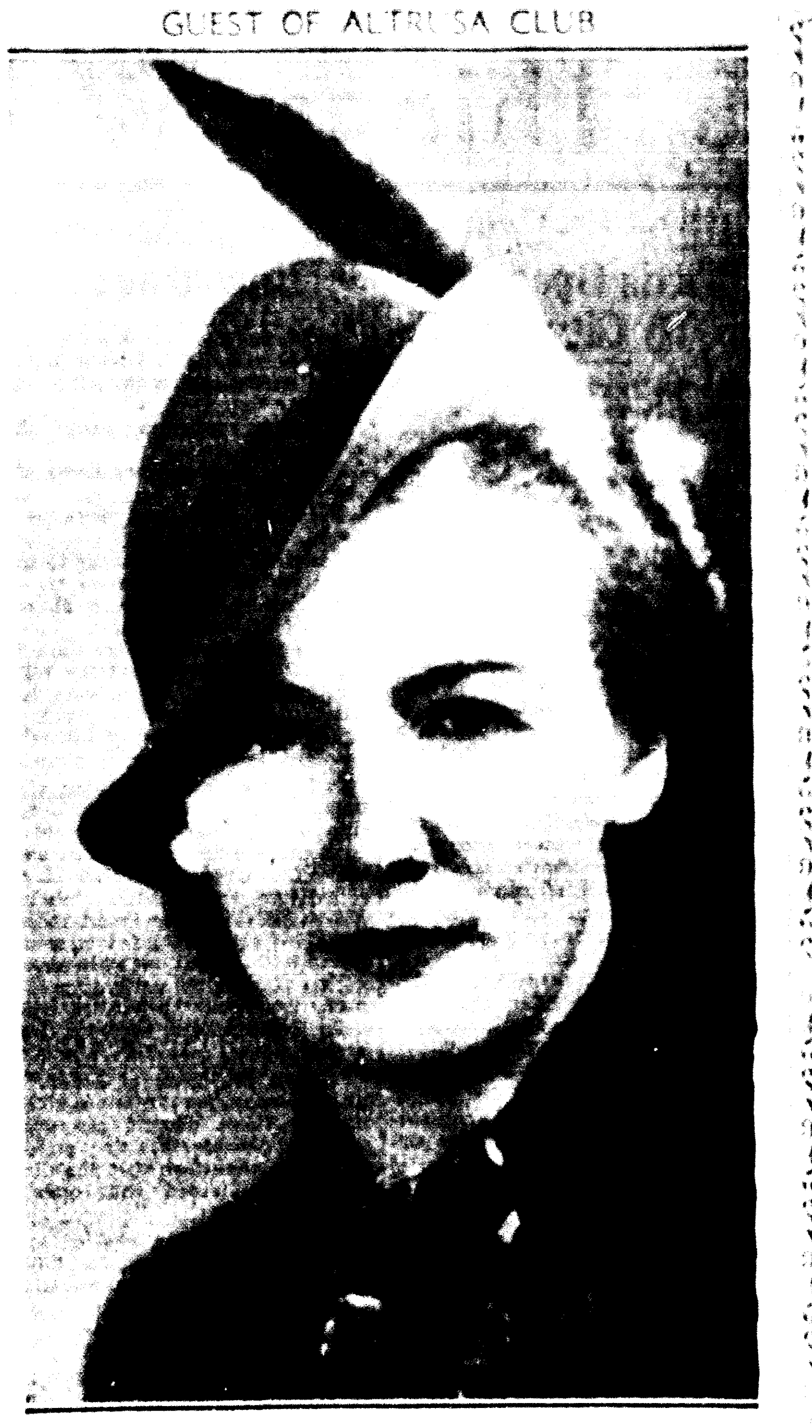
He simply beams with Christmas cheer and blurts out, "Somthing for my wife! Something nice! Anything a woman would like—you pick it out."

Yes; that's probably the answer for a lot of holiday gift-fluff, bought by husbands. And after the Christmas tree has dropped its needles, what becomes of many of these "Old Girl" gifts of good intentions? Husbands must sometime wonder, "Didn't she like them?"

Of course she did, but perhaps there was no suitable dinner frock to go with the elaborate evening bag he purchased. Yet ten to one it was laid tenderly away full of hopes for the future.

But at Christmas, as at any other time, there are two sides to an issue. So, after all the affectionate thank yous of the day have been said, husbands, too, can take inventory! And their numbers are many who have to return ill-fitting socks or gloves or go forth to work adorned in a too-gaudy scarf or tie because the "Old Girl" couldn't stick to her deal in that pre-Christmas contract either.

GUEST OF ALTRUSA CLUB



Mrs Nancy Nettles of Shreveport, governor of the seventh district of Altrusa, was the guest recently of the local club. Her talk during the supper hour at the Frances hotel was the highlight of the evening's program.

'Three Cornered Moon' Will Be Presented

The third production of the season for the Monroe Little Theater will be the comedy, "Three Cornered Moon," by Gertrude Tonkonogy. This play has a record of successes on Broadway and with Little Theaters everywhere. It is the story of a family which finds itself with a balance of $1.65 after the depression. After the first shock and the first suggestion that they "all join hands and jump in the river," the various members of the family meet the situation in their own ways, with a laughable situation resulting in each case. To make it just a little harder, they find themselves saddled with an unsuccessful novelist whose contribution of "pure beauty and sensitivity" to the far-from-groaning board is not all that it might be. The family is delightfully eccentric, the one sane member of the entire group being a friend of long standing, who finally gets a well deserved reward. The play is scheduled for December 16, and will be presented at Northeast Center at 8 o'clock. Marie Louise and George Snellings, who have already proved themselves popular and successful with last season's "The Royal Family," are the directors. The large membership of the Little Theater is assured of an entertaining evening.

The cast is as follows:

Mrs. Rimplegar, Sue Hefley; Douglas Rimplegar, Ross Banister; Kenneth Rimplegar, Fred Fudickar, Jr.; Jenny, Mary Bergevin; Ed Rimplegar, Bill Jackson; Elizabeth Rimplegar, Alice Daimwood; Donald, Art Surguine; Dr. Alan Stevens, James Brown; Kitty, Sara Talbert.

Furnishings—Mrs. Morgan Simonton, chairman; committee, Mrs. O. R. Ware, Mrs. David Kaplan.

Personal properties—Helena Hayward and Mabel Hunt.

Set—Phillip Embanato.

Junior Literary Club Organized

The Junior club of the Welcome Branch Book club which was organized recently held its second meeting at the home of Mrs. H. L. Deloney with Mrs. H. V. Collins as co-hostess.

Study for the coming year was discussed and the name "Junior Gavel" was chosen for the organization. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. H. L. Deloney; vice-president, Mrs. C. O. Boyce; recording secretary, Mrs. George F. Kidwell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Naylor; treasurer, Mrs. G. B. McCaskill, Jr.; reporter, Mrs. E. T. Heard, Jr.; parliamentarian, Mrs. Olan Black; historian, Mrs. L. A. Duffee.

The members enjoyed having as guests Mrs. W. M. Johnson, representative of Welcome Branch, and Mrs. A. D. Tisdale who gave an instructive talk on club activities.

During the social hour refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Merrell Williams, John Naylor, H. L. Deloney, G. V. McCaskill, Jr., C. O. Boyce, H. V. Collins, L. A. Duffee, A. D. Tisdale, George F. Kidwell, W. M. Johnson, Olan Black and E. T. Heard, Jr.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Olan Black, 435 Howard street.

It's nearing that season of the year for husbands and wives to go again into their pre-Christmas huddle and agree, "If you won't give me anything for Christmas, I won't give you anything. Instead we'll be sensible and slip-cover the furniture, buy a new coffee table or put that shower in the bath!"

But how many households actually stick to their side of the bargain? And what becomes of those gifts hastily chosen in their Christmas eve breakdown?

Mutual agreements to be practical are re-enacted year after year. Then Christmas morning when the curtain rises on the festival drama, there as of old is his surprise gift for her! That gift which he presents with a your'e-so-sweet-I-couldn't-help-it smile and she receives with her lovliest maternal little-boy-you've-done-it-again expression.

It seems that husbands have a way of getting caught in the last minute wave of Christmas spirit and one way or the other suddenly grow mellow under its spell. They grow mellow and in sentimental confusion figure, "The Old Girl," is at least entitled to something personal and a bit impractical for this one gift-giving day of the year.

That his thoughts turn to the "Old Girl," is something in itself to be valued and appreciated. But why when she needs a shopping bag, or a pair of bedroom slippers, that look like they came out of a missionary barrel, does he blindly choose some furbelow to be laid away in tissue paper?

Husbands, not being born shoppers, naturally find their way into the nearest and most convenient shop. Usually an exclusive shop, and buoyed by its ultra smart atmosphere recklessly throw themselves on the mercy of the accommodating and helpless salesgirl. Helpless salesgirl, because of her the various wives of these Christmas shopping husbands are but synthetic. And too, how often does he ever set her right on a price limit? No, not even if he still eats his lunch via the counter and his wife wears half-soled shoes! No indeed; he's dumbly flattered if the ever-tactful salesgirl displays gifts for his approval that will set him back a goodly chunk out of his next month's rent.

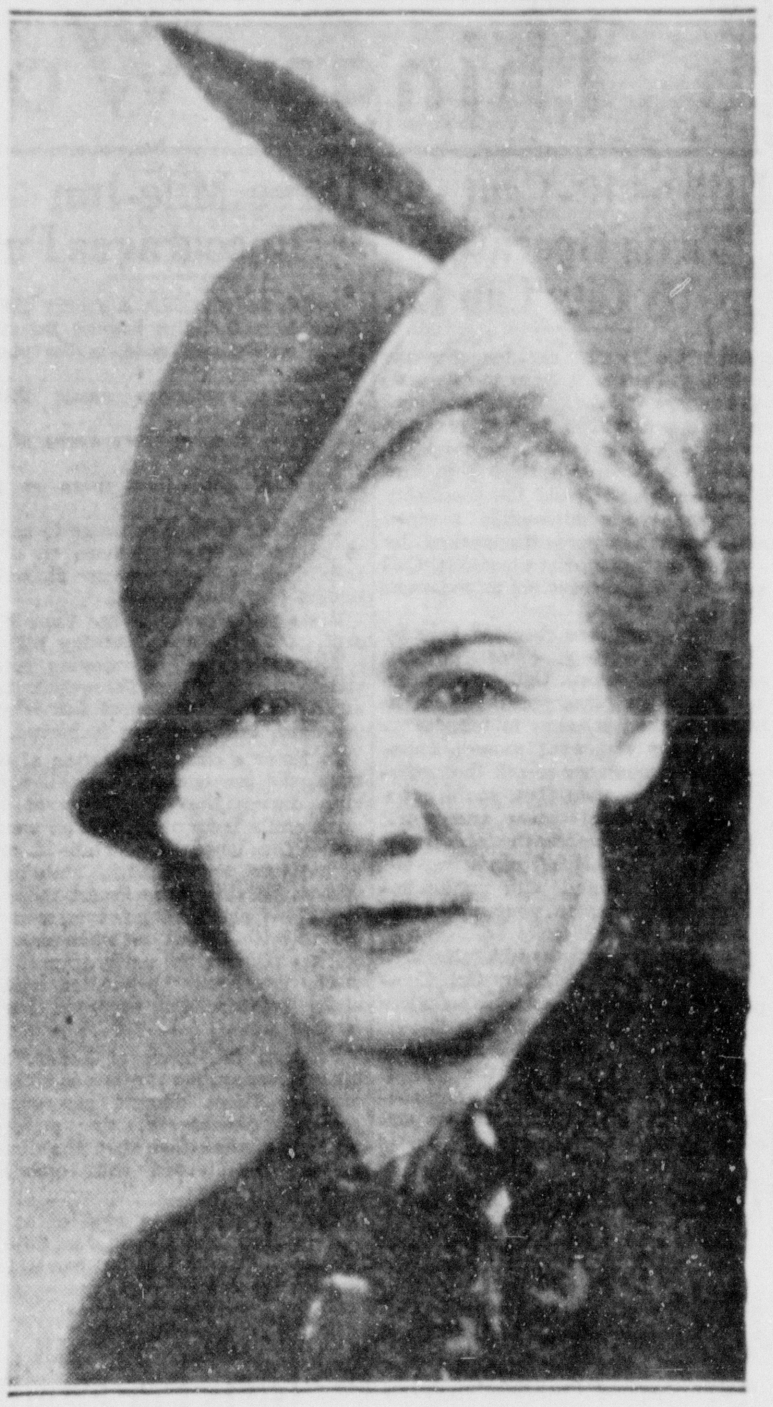
He simply beams with Christmas cheer and blurts out, "Somthing for my wife! Something nice! Anything a woman would like—you pick it out."

Yes; that's probably the answer for a lot of holiday gift-fluff, bought by husbands. And after the Christmas tree has dropped its needles, what becomes of many of these "Old Girl" gifts of good intentions? Husbands must sometime wonder, "Didn't she like them?"

Of course she did, but perhaps there was no suitable dinner frock to go with the elaborate evening bag he purchased. Yet ten to one it was laid tenderly away full of hopes for the future.

But at Christmas, as at any other time, there are two sides to an issue. So, after all the affectionate thank yous of the day have been said, husbands, too, can take inventory! And their numbers are many who have to return ill-fitting socks or gloves or go forth to work adorned in a too-gaudy scarf or tie because the "Old Girl" couldn't stick to her deal in that pre-Christmas contract either.

GUEST OF ALTRUSA CLUB



Mrs. Nancy Nettles of Shreveport, governor of the seventh district of Altrusa, was the guest recently of the local club. Her talk during the supper hour at the Frances hotel was the highlight of the evening's program.

Natchitoches History Is Reviewed By Club

Welcome French Book Club Meets With Mrs. Joseph Romey And Mrs. Prendergast As Hostesses

Mrs. Joseph Romey and Mrs. J. F. Prendergast were [illegible] hostesses for the [illegible] Book Club [illegible] Wednesday [illegible].

After [illegible] Mrs. J. R. White [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] Ada Jack Carver [illegible] Mrs. Harry A. Moore.

Natchitoches and [illegible] was reviewed by Mrs. I. V. Tarver. She said [illegible]:

"History of Natchitoches was traced from the [illegible] voyage to the [illegible] date of establishment [illegible] by Louis [illegible] St. Denis [illegible] Indian village of the [illegible] Fathers [illegible] Natchitoches and [illegible] of Caddo [illegible] interesting facts were [illegible] of the French and Spanish crowns.

"They eagerly sought out the silver and gold mines in the new world and sent many shiploads of [illegible] into their newly acquired possessions, bringing the [illegible] to the time of possession of Louisiana territory by France and under rule of Louis XIV, whose ambitious schemes in Europe had made need for any possible income and no desire for further drain upon the country's depleted treasury.

"A grant was given to a wealthy merchant in France to this vast domain much as would a landowner today who could not operate his farm on a paying basis.

"Hence mercenary Crozat, with visionary eye on trade with Mexico and the Spaniards, instructed Lamopthe Cadillac, then governor of the province, to send the brilliant young French officer, St. Denis, into the Red river region and establish a garrison. This was accomplished and the first town in the Louisiana purchase and second in America came into being and was named for the tribe of the red men, 'Natchitoches.' Much of the colorful history of the town was furnished by its magnetic and dashing young founder, whose grave lies near the street that bears his name.

"Much could be told of the romantic story of the early and adventuresome French, scions of the nobility, and of the Spanish grandees who, given land grants by their kings, came to the new world and settled large plantations along the river's banks and into the hills along the Old Texas road. They built homes of French and Spanish type of architecture, spiral staircases, iron grill work and adobe walls. A few of these places stand today looking out from old eyes on paved highways and on the crooked but paved streets that bear names redolent with history.

"Mention is made of native daughters, who today are making their mark on the tapestry—brilliant bits—the names of Mary Belle de Vargas, Ada Jack Carver, Gladys Breazeale and Irma Sompayrac, all well known in the fields of art and literature.

"Of the many interesting localities so essentially a part of Natchitoches and her history, special mention is made of Grand Ecore, just to the north. Of particular interest was the story told of the fortifications placed during the Civil war and how Banks' army was turned back at this point. The fortifications, it was said, are still in evidence on the majestic bluff that overlooks Red river. Of romantic attention is the story of the Indian princess who leaped from another bluff near the point known as Badin hill into the Red river because her chieftain father forbade her to marry a white suitor. Her grave is marked in the American cemetery, situated near Normal college.

"Isle Brevelle, a small settlement on Cane river just to the southeast of Natchitoches came in for its share of romantic interest when the people, their origin, their way of living was [illegible] in a manner that created appreciation of the many stories that have emanated from this unique place."

Mrs. Tarver brought her story to a close saying: "I [illegible] told you something of [illegible] interesting [illegible]. I should like to [illegible] a bit of the Natchitoches I know so well and which is [illegible] only in the archives of a [illegible]. It is of the spirit [illegible] as she stands and [illegible] hand of the cherished past [illegible] the future. The French have given her charm, the Spanish bequeathed her beauty and culture, the Indian wrapped around her slender shoulder his stoical blanket of [illegible]. No matter what the future may hold for her, nothing can ever dim the charm and fragrance of lovely, quaint old Natchitoches."

Members present were: Mrs. Frank F. Black, Mrs. John C. Best, Mrs. Horace Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Harold Delaney, Mrs. J. Thomas Fairbanks, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. George Fink, Mrs. F. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. F. E. Marriage Is Planned During Yule Holidays

At the conclusion of the ceremony an informal reception was held. Standing with the bridal party to receive the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Anna Bell Inabnett, mother of the groom. Mrs. Inabnett was wearing an afternoon dress in the new grape shade and a shoulder corsage of gold ranunculi. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. L. Scales of Shreveport and Mrs. C. W. Page of Mansfield, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. James L. Taylor of Minden, sister of the bridegroom.

Immediately after the reception the bride and bridegroom left on their wedding journey. For going away, Mrs. Inabnett wore a modish costume suit of black nubby wool with flared coat finished with a black kid belt. Her bag and shoes also were of black kid and her hat was black felt with a stitched, peaked crown. Mr. and Mrs. Inabnett are now at home in Monroe.

Park Your Car At Mills And Olcott And Shop In Peace

Eliminate the parking problem from your Christmas shopping excursions by leaving your automobile on the parking lot at 211 North Second street operated by Mills and Olcott.

Mills and Olcott, who deal in Plymouth and Chrysler automobiles, engage in automotive repair work of every description on all makes of cars, handle automobile accessories, sell gasoline and lubricants, wash and lubricate motor vehicles and clean motors and chassis, operate the most convenient parking lot in Monroe. It is within a block and a half of the heart of the shopping district.

Transient parking space on the lot is available at a nominal cost. Patrons of Mills and Olcott are taken care of without charge.

A filling station is operated in connection with the parking lot and cars may be serviced while the owners are shopping. Also minor repairs and adjustments can be conveniently effected in the modern service department of Mills and Olcott while the owners of the machines are visiting stores.

Automobiles are safe from traffic hazards and thieves while parked on Mills and Olcott's lot. They are under constant observation. Moreover, motorists who leave their cars there may have their packages delivered at the service station for transfer to their machines when they get ready to race for home.

Christmas shoppers are cordially invited to visit the display room of Mills and Olcott at 211 North Second street and view the 1939 Plymouths and Chryslers shown there. Both makes are ideal as family Christmas gifts. The accessories handled by the establishment also make appropriate presents for motorists.

Things Worth Knowing

Utilize 10-Cent Taxis Operated By City Cab Co.

Save the family car for pleasure motoring! Protect it from the hazards of business district parking! Be economical and utilize 10-cent taxis in traveling to and from your work!

Avoid the worry of trying to find a parking place! Avoid the possibility of having your automobile bumped and battered where it's parked by the car of some careless motorist! Call a 10-cent taxi in traveling to and from the business area.

Ten-cent taxis are operated here by City Cab Company, corner of Hall and Harrison streets. Call 446 and one will be at the place you designate in less time than it takes to tell.

Whenever you want prompt transportation, remember to call that number—446. More than that, you'll get a courteous, careful driver and you'll ride in an automobile that's not only in the best mechanical condition, but that's fully covered with public liability insurance for your protection in case of an accident.

You can travel a considerable distance for 10 cents in a City Cab Company taxi—and you can do so in safety and comfort. Rates beyond the 10-cent zones are as reasonable as those within them. And so are the charges for trips into the country and between Monroe and West Monroe and other towns.

Lane Wilson Has Christmas Trees

Christmas just isn't Christmas without a Christmas tree. But there are Christmas trees and Christmas trees. The tops among Christmas trees are Oregon firs. That's why Lane Wilson Seed company, 113-115 North Grand street, handles them. They are spicy and give a sweet, Christmas smell to the rooms in which they are set up.

Lane Wilson Seed company has a complete stock of Oregon firs on display—from tiny table trees to large room sizes. And they are selling them at popular prices. In fact, you can buy an Oregon fir for less at Lane Wilson Seed company than it costs to take a long trip into the woods to get a pine.

Christmas trees, however, are not the only Christmas items handled by Lane Wilson Seed company. It deals in ideal live gifts, gifts that will give pleasure for a long period—canary and love birds and gold fish. Moreover, it has everything that goes with these pets—bird cages, bird seed, bird feed and supplies; gold fish bowls and gold fish aquariums.

Then, too, it has gifts for people who like to remember their dogs—sweaters and harness. And why not start feeding your dog Wayne dog food on Christmas day? It is acclaimed by innumerable breeders and dog fanciers as the world's best.

But that's not all. Lane Wilson Seed company deals in other appropriate Christmas items. For instance: fancy pots for plants, vases of various kinds, bowls and jardineers.

Three Mile Inn Encourages Fun

For those who like a merry time, Three Mile Inn, just beyond the city limits on DeSiard road, is the place to go.

There is orchestra music there every night.

There is dancing there every night but Sunday.

There is good food there at all times.

There is anything you care to name to be had at the bar there on days and during hours when alcoholic liquors may be dispensed.

There is no cover charge there except on Friday and Saturday nights.

You are assured of enjoying yourself to the fullest at Three Mile Inn at all times. Unrestrained fun is encouraged, but rowdyism is barred.

To foster a closer association of patrons, the inn operates a small night club during the early days of the week and a large night club on weekends. The large night club is converted into a small night club by a partition dividing the Forest room in half. This partition, however, can be moved with almost as much ease as scenery. During the early days of the week, it throws the smaller crowds closer together and everyone has a livelier time.

Between the hours of 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Sunday, the inn serves chicken dinners. These dinners are unsurpassed anywhere for the price—50 cents. But more than that, the dinner period is enlivened with orchestra music.

Music is now being supplied at the inn by Joe Rivette and his Cajuns, one of the most popular bands that has ever played there.

Firestone Stocks Gifts For Family

"Christmas gift selection is simple for us, since all members of our customers' families come into our station frequently. It's easy to observe what catches the eyes of each one and, in turn, to assemble our merchandise in a way that's a real help to every shopper."

The speaker was M. J. Kehoe, manager of Firestone Auto Supply and Service store, corner of Washington and North Third streets.

"People appreciate most the gifts they can use most," he continued. "That's one lesson we've found invariably true. It means that men always like items for their cars. All you have to do is to see them lingering around the driving lamp display, or the car radios or the horns.

"Naturally, the women who drive want many of these safety features, too, but they show a far greater liking for anything that makes the home more livable. We learned this when we put in an extensive line of home electrical appliances and radios. Of course, we've always had a complete line of the gifts that children want Santa Claus to bring them—and that means bicycles, velocipedes, scooters, wagons, etc., that they can use out of doors.

"One-stop stations for Christmas shoppers—or 'one-shop stations'—are really new to many people. Dozens of shoppers have discovered the advantages of our convenient location, the freedom from downtown congestion, the ability to shop without first searching for a parking place.

"Shoppers have already shown their approval of the layaway plan operated by our budget department. Gifts can be selected now, and with a small down payment they can be laid away until Christmas. Payments can be made every payday, or at any other convenient intervals, until the total amount is paid off by Christmas. There is no extra charge for this attractive service."

Improved Service Given By P. B. Cafe

P. B. Cafe, formerly located in Monroe, has always been noted for quality food at low prices. There wasn't any room for improvement there, so when it recently moved to West Monroe, it improved its service.

Located in the new Varino building at the corner of Commerce and Natchitoches street, one block east of Hatchells' on the latter thoroughfare, the cafe now remains open all night and offers curb service. Thoroughly modern in equipment and appointments and meeting the highest requirements of sanitation, it is second to no establishment its size in the state.

As has been the case since it first opened for business a number of years ago, P. B. Cafe specializes in chicken dinners. Moreover, it serves sandwiches of every kind and any brand of beer you desire to go with them. And its regular meals are unsurpassed.

The restaurant features prompt curb service and there is plenty of room on the east and north side of the establishment for parking.

Stop at the P. B. for that late snack.

Dress Up Your Auto And Home For Christmas

Here's a Christmas suggestion. Improve the appearance of your automobile and your home for the occasion—with glass.

Let Ouachita Glass company, 310 Washington street, replace the unsightly cracked glass in your car and in the windows of your home with new glass. Let the firm make you glass tops for the protection of your desks, chests of drawers and vanities.

You'll marvel at how much better both the automobile and the home will look with new glass. It will add materially to your Yuletide enjoyment.

Housed in a glassed-in establishment at 310 Washington street, Ouachita Glass company is owned and operated by men who know how to shape and install glass—Johnny Cutrer and Hardy Rutherford. They are widely acclaimed as experts in the installation of automobile glass and are fully competent in other lines of glass work.

Ouachita Glass company specializes in installing auto glass while you wait. There is plenty of space in the vicinity of the establishment for you to park while having the work done.

Estimates are gladly furnished by Ouachita Glass company. Just call telephone 270.

Electrolux Models Beautiful, Better

Styled on even more beautiful lines than in previous years and with an improved method of air-cooling that provides better refrigeration than ever before, the 1939 Servel Electrolux models represent the last word in refrigerator design, according to G. F. Becker, general manager of United Electric Service, Inc., 308 North Third street.

"The loveliness of the cabinet of the refrigerator, which led women all over the country to call it the 'best looking refrigerator of them all,' has been enhanced in the 1939 Servel Electrolux through a panelling effect on the door," said Mr. Becker.

"Through a change in the construction of the refrigerating unit, the flow of air is increased, which creates a greater cooling effect.

"Ice cubes will be easier to obtain than ever before because the 1939 ice cube grid is made of aluminum instead of steel, thus making it lighter and more readily handled.

"Much thought has been given in planning the interior of the refrigerator, which is so arranged that food placed in the rear of the food compartment is not out of reach.

"Other up-to-date conveniences comprise: illuminated temperature control dial, easily-controlled defrosting device, two-way storage tray, a superior type of interior lighting, 'easy to read' cold indicator and vegetable fresheners that are interchangeable with defrosting trays.

"The 1939 Servel Electrolux operates, of course, on the principle that made its name famous as the refrigerator in which the freezing system has no moving parts, thus assuring permanent silence, continued low operating cost, more years of service, and savings that pay for it."

Servel Electrolux operates either with natural gas, kerosene, butane gas, bottle gas or electricity.

Buy Your Liquors At Stough's Place

When you start our shopping for presents for the menfolks, be sure and drop in at Stough's in the Hotel Monroe building. There you'll find packaged liquors that would please any man—whiskies of every kind and wines, cordials and liqueurs of every variety, both imported and domestic.

Stough's is one of the most popular bars in Monroe. That's because it's more than just a bar. It's a gathering place of good fellows, a place where friendliness and cordiality prevail. It's a place where men like to pause to relax after a day's work. The joviality of Harry Stough, the proprietor, is a tonic in itself.

Any kind of mixed drink, either in or out of the books, can be had at Stough's. Just now the bar is featuring such winter specials as hot toddies, hot rum drinks and Tom and Jerries.

Cigars and cigarettes are also handled by Stough's, as are soft drinks and beers.

Besides concocting mixed drinks that are second to none dispensed anywhere, Stough's operates a bar that measures up to the highest standards of sanitation.

For the convenience of its patrons, Stough's maintains a rapid free delivery service.

Natchitoches History Is Reviewed By Club

Welcome Branch Book Club Meets With Mrs. Joseph Ramey And Mrs. Prendergast As Hostesses

Mrs. Joseph Ramey and Mrs. J. F. Prendergast were charming hostesses for the Welcome Branch Book club Wednesday afternoon.

After a brief business session presided over by the president, Mrs. J. R. White, a beautiful etching of the General Federation building in Washington, D. C., was displayed by Mrs. Dudley Stone. She reported this club as going 100 per cent in subscribing to the club woman's magazine.

A poem, "Our Lovely Louisiana," was given by Mrs. J. Norman Coon. Two short stories, "The Old One" and "Singing Woman," by Ada Jack Carver were read by Mrs. Harry A. Moore.

"Natchitoches and Locality" was reviewed by Mrs. L. V. Tarver. She said in part:

"Historic Natchitoches was traced from the time of Columbus' voyage to the year of 1714, the date of establishment of the French post there by Louis Juchereau de St. Denis. Declaring that significant fingers of historical destiny pointed to the little Indian village of the Chinquapin Eaters—Indian name Natchitoches—and member of the powerful tribe of Caddo Indians, interesting facts were disclosed in the romantic ventures of the French and Spanish crowns.

"They eagerly sought out the silver and gold mines in the new world and sent many shiploads of colonists into their newly acquired possessions, bringing the story down to the time of possession of Louisiana territory by France and under rule of Louis XIV, whose ambitious schemes in Europe had made need for any possible income and no desire for further drain upon the country's depleted treasury.

"A grant was given to a wealthy merchant in France to this vast domain much as would a landowner today, who could not operate his farm on a paying basis.

"Hence mercenary Crozat, with visionary eye on trade with Mexico and the Spaniards, instructed Lamopthe Cadillac, then governor of the province, to send the brilliant young French officer, St. Denis, into the Red river region and establish a garrison. This was accomplished and the first town in the Louisiana purchase and second in America came into being and was named for the tribe of the red men, 'Natchitoches.' Much of the colorful history of the town was furnished by its magnetic and dashing young founder, whose grave lies near the street that bears his name.

"Much could be told of the romantic story of the early and adventuresome French, scions of the nobility, and of the Spanish grandees who, given land grants by their kings, came to the new world and settled large plantations along the river's banks and into the hills along the Old Texas road. They built homes of French and Spanish type of architecture, spiral staircases, iron grill work and adobe walls. A few of these places stand today looking out from old eyes on paved highways and on the crooked but paved streets that bear names redolent with history.

"Mention is made of native daughters, who today are making their mark on the tapestry—brilliant bits—the names of Mary Belle de Vargas, Ada Jack Carver, Gladys Breazeale and Irma Sompayrac, all well known in the fields of art and literature.

"Of the many interesting localities so essentially a part of Natchitoches and her history, special mention is made of Grand Ecore, just to the north. Of particular interest was the story told of the fortifications placed during the Civil war and how Banks' army was turned back at this point. The fortifications, it was said, are still in evidence on the majestic bluff that overlooks Red river. Of romantic attention is the story of the Indian princess who leaped from another bluff near the point known as Badin hill into the Red river because her chieftain father forbade her to marry a white suitor. Her grave is marked in the American cemetery, situated near Normal college.

"Isle Brevelle, a small settlement on Cane river just to the southeast of Natchitoches came in for its share of romantic interest when the people, their origin, their way of living was given in a manner that created appreciation of the many stories that have emanated from this unique place."

Mrs. Tarver brought her story to a close saying. "I've told you something of historic Natchitoches, interesting, I hope, as to fact, but I should like to conclude with a bit of the Natchitoches I know so well and which is recorded only in the archives of a child of her soil. It is of the spirit and heart of her as she stands and links a hand of the cherished past with a welcoming hand to the future. The French have given her charm; the Spanish bequeathed her beauty and culture; the Indian wrapped around her slender shoulder his stoical blanket of fiber. No matter what the future may hold for her, nothing can ever dim the charm and fragrance of lovely, quaint old Natchitoches."

Members present were: Mrs. Frank E. Black, Mrs. John C. Best, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Harold Deloney, Mrs. J. Thomas Eubanks, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. George Fink, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. Marvyn Johnson, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. Lewis Langford, Mrs. Harry A. Moore, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. Stewart Neff, Mrs. Joe Ramey, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. J. F. Serrett, Mrs. H. R. Saenger, Mrs. H. B. Staples, Mrs. Dudley Stone, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. J. Noble White, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. J. Loyd Webb, Mrs. Joseph Winkler, Mrs. F. H. Paterson.

Visitors were: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Herret Heidenreich, Mrs. H. E. Thain, Mrs. D. N. Horney.

At the conclusion of the ceremony an informal reception was held. Standing with the bridal party to receive the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Anna Bell Inabnett, mother of the groom. Mrs. Inabnett was wearing an afternoon dress in the new grape shade and a shoulder corsage of gold ranunculi. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. L. Scales of Shreveport and Mrs. C. W. Page of Mansfield, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. James L. Taylor of Minden, sister of the bridegroom.

The decorations of the dining room continued the bridal color scheme of white and gold. The buffet was banked with white and gold chrysanthemums and fern flanked by three-branched candelabra burning yellow tapers. The bride's table was in the traditional green and white. It was covered with a beautiful cutwork cloth, the design of which was retraced with sprays of plumosus fern and white carnations. At one end were branched silver candlesticks holding decorated tapers and at the other end, on a large, round reflector, was the wedding cake iced in lilies of the valley and bride roses. Members of the bridal party and friends of the couple drew favors following the cutting of the cake.

Immediately after the reception the bride and bridegroom left on their wedding journey. For going away, Mrs. Inabnett wore a modish costume suit of black nubby wool with flared coat finished with a black kid belt. Her bag and shoes also were of black kid and her hat was black felt with a stitched, peaked crown. Mr. and Mrs. Inabnett are now at home in Monroe.

Choudrant

Mrs. H. M. Bagley entertained the Needlecraft club at her home, with the president, Mrs. H. P. Willis, presiding. Two new members, Mrs. F. Edmonson and Mrs. W. Ball, were inducted.

A committee to make arrangements for a banquet was composed of Mrs. William Bagwell, Mrs. M. E. Kidd and Mrs. Harrel Willis.

A salad course was served.

Park Your Car At Mills And Olcott And Shop In Peace

Eliminate the parking problem from your Christmas shopping excursions by leaving your automobile on the parking lot at 201 North Second street operated by Mills and Olcott.

Mills and Olcott, who deal in Plymouth and Chrysler automobiles, engage in automotive repair work of every description on all makes of cars, handle automobile accessories, sell gasoline and lubricants, wash and lubricate motor vehicles and clean motors and chassis, operate the most convenient parking lot in Monroe. It is within a block and a half of the heart of the shopping district.

Transient parking space on the lot is available at a nominal cost. Patrons of Mills and Olcott are taken care of without charge.

A filling station is operated in connection with the parking lot and cars may be serviced while the owners are shopping. Also minor repairs and adjustments can be conveniently effected in the modern service department of Mills and Olcott while the owners of the machines are visiting stores.

Automobiles are safe from traffic hazards and thieves while parked on Mills and Olcott's lot. They are under constant observation. Moreover, motorists who leave their cars there may have their packages delivered at the service station for transfer to their machines when they get ready to leave for home.

Christmas shoppers are cordially invited to visit the display room of Mills and Olcott at 211 North Second street and view the 1939 Plymouths and Chryslers shown there. Both makes are ideal as family Christmas gifts. The accessories handled by the establishment also make appropriate presents for motorists.

Things Worth Knowing

Utilize 10-Cent Taxis Operated By City Cab Co.

Save the family car for pleasure motoring! Protect it from the hazards of business district parking! Be economical and utilize 10-cent taxis in traveling to and from your work!

Avoid the worry of trying to find a parking place! Avoid the possibility of having your automobile bumped and battered where it's parked by the car of some careless motorist! Call a 10-cent taxi in traveling to and from the business area.

Ten-cent taxis are operated here by City Cab Company, corner of Hall and Harrison streets. Call 446 and one will be at the place you designate in less time than it takes to tell.

Whenever you want prompt transportation, remember to call that number—446. More than that, you'll get a courteous, careful driver and you'll ride in an automobile that's not only in the best mechanical condition, but that's fully covered with public liability insurance for your protection in case of an accident.

You can travel a considerable distance for 10 cents in a City Cab Company taxi—and you can do so in safety and comfort. Rates beyond the 10-cent zones are as reasonable as those within them. And so are the charges for trips into the country and between Monroe and West Monroe and other towns.

Lane Wilson Has Christmas Trees

Christmas just isn't Christmas without a Christmas tree. But there are Christmas trees and Christmas trees. The tops among Christmas trees are Oregon firs. That's why Lane Wilson Seed company, 113-115 North Grand street, handles them. They are spicy and give a sweet, Christmas smell to the rooms in which they are set up.

Lane Wilson Seed company has a complete stock of Oregon firs on display—from tiny table trees to large room sizes. And they are selling them at popular prices. In fact, you can buy an Oregon fir for less at Lane Wilson Seed company than it costs to take a long trip into the woods to get a pine.

Christmas trees, however, are not the only Christmas items handled by Lane Wilson Seed company. It deals in ideal live gifts, gifts that will give pleasure for a long period—canary and love birds and gold fish. Moreover, it has everything that goes with these pets—bird cages, bird seed, bird feed and supplies; gold fish bowls and gold fish aquariums.

Then, too, it has gifts for people who like to remember their dogs—sweaters and harness. And why not start feeding your dog Wayne dog food on Christmas day? It is acclaimed by innumerable breeders and dog fanciers as the world's best.

But that's not all. Lane Wilson Seed company deals in other appropriate Christmas items. For instance: fancy pots for plants, vases of various kinds, bowls and jardineers.

Three Mile Inn Encourages Fun

For those who like a merry time, Three Mile Inn, just beyond the city limits on DeSiard road, is the place to go.

There is orchestra music there every night.

There is dancing there every night but Sunday.

There is good food there at all times.

There is anything you care to name to be had at the bar there on days and during hours when alcoholic liquors may be dispensed.

There is no cover charge there except on Friday and Saturday nights.

You are assured of enjoying yourself to the fullest at Three Mile Inn at all times. Unrestrained fun is encouraged, but rowdyism is barred.

To foster a closer association of patrons, the inn operates a small night club during the early days of the week and a large night club on weekends. The large night club is converted into a small night club by a partition dividing the Forest room in half. This partition, however, can be moved with almost as much ease as scenery. During the early days of the week, it throws the smaller crowds closer together and everyone has a livelier time.

Between the hours of 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Sunday, the inn serves chicken dinners. These dinners are unsurpassed anywhere for the price—50 cents. But more than that, the dinner period is enlivened with orchestra music.

Music is now being supplied at the inn by Joe Rivette and his Cajuns, one of the most popular bands that has ever played there.

Firestone Stocks Gifts For Family

"Christmas gift selection is simple for us, since all members of our customers' families come into our station frequently. It's easy to observe what catches the eyes of each one and, in turn, to assemble our merchandise in a way that's a real help to every shopper."

The speaker was M. J. Kehoe, manager of Firestone Auto Supply and Service store, corner of Washington and North Third streets.

"People appreciate most the gifts they can use most," he continued. "That's one lesson we've found invariably true. It means that men always like items for their cars. All you have to do is to see them lingering around the driving lamp display, or the car radios or the horns.

"Naturally, the women who drive want many of these safety features, too, but they show a far greater liking for anything that makes the home more livable. We learned this when we put in an extensive line of home electrical appliances and radios. Of course, we've always had a complete line of the gifts that children want Santa Claus to bring them—and that means bicycles, velocipedes, scooters, wagons, etc., that they can use out of doors.

"One-stop stations for Christmas shoppers—or 'one-shop stations'—are really new to many people. Dozens of shoppers have discovered the advantages of our convenient location, the freedom from downtown congestion, the ability to shop without first searching for a parking place.

"Shoppers have already shown their approval of the layaway plan operated by our budget department. Gifts can be selected now, and with a small down payment they can be laid away until Christmas. Payments can be made every payday, or at any other convenient intervals, until the total amount is paid off by Christmas. There is no extra charge for this attractive service."

Improved Service Given By P. B. Cafe

P. B. Cafe, formerly located in Monroe, has always been noted for quality food at low prices. There wasn't any room for improvement there, so when it recently moved to West Monroe, it improved its service.

Located in the new Varino building at the corner of Commerce and Natchitoches street, one block east of Hatchells' on the latter thoroughfare, the cafe now remains open all night and offers curb service. Thoroughly modern in equipment and appointments and meeting the highest requirements of sanitation, it is second to no establishment its size in the state.

As has been the case since it first opened for business a number of years ago, P. B. Cafe specializes in chicken dinners. Moreover, it serves sandwiches of every kind and any brand of beer you desire to go with them. And its regular meals are unsurpassed.

The restaurant features prompt curb service and there is plenty of room on the east and north side of the establishment for parking.

Stop at the P. B. for that late snack.

Dress Up Your Auto And Home For Christmas

Here's a Christmas suggestion: Improve the appearance of your automobile and your home for the occasion—with glass.

Let Ouachita Glass company, 310 Washington street, replace the unsightly cracked glass in your car and in the windows of your home with new glass. Let the firm make you glass tops for the protection of your desks, chests of drawers and vanities.

You'll marvel at how much better both the automobile and the home will look with new glass. It will add materially to your Yuletide enjoyment.

Housed in a glassed-in establishmen at 310 Washington street, Ouachita Glass company is owned and operated by men who know how to shape and install glass—Johnny Cutrer and Hardy Rutherford. They are widely acclaimed as experts in the installation of automobile glass and are fully competent in other lines of glass work.

Ouachita Glass company specializes in installing auto glass while you wait. There is plenty of space in the vicinity of the establishment for you to park while having the work done.

Estimates are gladly furnished by Ouachita Glass company. Just call telephone 270.

Electrolux Models Beautiful, Better

Styled on even more beautiful lines than in previous years and with an improved method of air-cooling that provides better refrigeration than ever before, the 1939 Servel Electrolux models represent the last word in refrigerator design, according to G. F. Becker, general manager of United Electric Service, Inc., 308 North Third street.

"The loveliness of the cabinet of the refrigerator, which led women all over the country to call it the 'best looking refrigerator of them all,' has been enhanced in the 1939 Servel Electrolux through a panelling effect on the door," said Mr. Becker.

"The one-piece steel shell construction, first introduced in 1937, which does away with all seams and gaskets on the outer surface of the cabinet, is continued in the 1939 models.

"Through a change in the construction of the refrigerating unit, the flow of air is increased, which creates a greater cooling effect.

"Ice cubes will be easier to obtain than ever before because the 1939 ice cube grid is made of aluminum instead of steel, thus making it lighter and more readily handled.

"Much thought has been given in planning the interior of the refrigerator, which is so arranged that food placed in the rear of the food compartment is not out of reach.

"Other up-to-date conveniences comprise: illuminated temperature control dial, easily-controlled defrosting device, two-way storage tray, a superior type of interior lighting, 'easy to read' cold indicator and vegetable fresheners that are interchangeable with defrosting trays.

"The 1939 Servel Electrolux operates, of course, on the principle that made its name famous as the refrigerator in which the freezing system has no moving parts, thus assuring permanent silence, continued low operating cost, more years of service, and savings that pay for it."

Servel Electrolux operates either with natural gas, kerosene, butane gas, bottle gas or electricity.

Buy Your Liquors At Stough's Place

When you start our shopping for presents for the menfolks, be sure and drop in at Stough's, in the Hotel Monroe building. There you'll find packaged liquors that would please any man—whiskies of every kind and wines, cordials and liqueurs of every variety, both imported and domestic.

Stough's is one of the most popular bars in Monroe. That's because it's more than just a bar. It's a gathering place of good fellows, a place where friendliness and cordiality prevail. It's a place where men like to pause to relax after a day's work. The joviality of Harry Stough, the proprietor, is a tonic in itself.

Any kind of mixed drink, either in or out of the books, can be had at Stough's. Just now the bar is featuring such winter specials as hot toddies, hot rum drinks and Tom and Jerries.

Cigars and cigarettes are also handled by Stough's, as are soft drinks and beers.

Besides concocting mixed drinks that are second to none dispensed anywhere, Stough's operates a bar that measures up to the highest standards of sanitation.

For the convenience of its patrons, Stough's maintains a rapid free delivery service.

Spatafora's Has Christmas Gifts

Put Spatafora's pharmacy, 801 DeSiard street, on your Christmas shopping list. Besides handling a complete stock of liquors in Christmas packages—whiskies, wines, cordials and liqueurs—the drug store has gifts galore on display.

For instance—

Electric appliances: irons, toasters, waffle irons, grills, heat pads, infrared-ray lamps.

Candies: Nunnally's, Elmer's and Jacobs'; in fancy Christmas packages; in sewing baskets and punch bowls.

Sets: Evening in Paris, Coty's and other cosmetic sets, Glazo and Cutex manicure sets, fountain pen and pencil sets, cocktail sets, baby sets, dresser sets, men's military brush sets, linen table sets, men's shaving sets.

Smoking supplies: pipes, tobacco, cigars, cigarettes.

Wearing apparel: men's hose, women's hose, neckties, neckties with matching handkerchiefs, neckties with matching scarfs.

Fancy glassware.

Dolls and other toys.

The items mentioned are suggestive, not inclusive. There are numerous others on display or in stock. Moreover, the establishment handles Christmas cards and everything for preparing gifts for presentation—tissue paper, cards, stickers and cord.

And here's something else to consider: When you shop at Spatafora's, you don't have to worry with carrying your packages home. The firm maintains a rapid free delivery service.

P.-T. A. Study Groups Are Being Emphasized

Program Is In Keeping With Policy Of National Congress Of Parents And Teachers

The Parent-Teacher association of Louisiana is emphasizing this year as never before the importance of parent education study groups. Every P.-T. A. unit has included parent education in its program, and reports show that excellent work is being done in many communities. This is directly in keeping with the policy of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which has for its plan in all branches to "study the child and his needs, the responsibilities of parenthood, the influence of community life, the program and aims of education in the schools and to advance, encourage, work for, and contribute to the welfare not only of one's own but all children and youth."

The program is planned to meet the needs of different communities, and existing situations are used as the basis for selecting the units of work to be used.

Central Grammar

The Central Grammar school P.-T. A., at its meeting held in the school auditorium Wednesday, planned for the Christmas tree celebration and listened to an address by Mrs. Carl Couch, Fifth district P.-T. A. president.

The speaker stressed benefits of the modern schools and the important part room mothers play in the success of P.-T. A. She said it is not a local but a national movement with two million members. The Louisiana membership is 20,000; the Fifth district has 2,000 members. Objects of P.-T. A. were enumerated and the speaker said that they should be repeated at every meeting. She said that fathers as well as mothers are needed in the organization.

Reports were rendered from officers and committee chairmen, and musical selections were interspersed in the program.

The first grade, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, teacher, presented a song, Jingle Bells, and a dance, Did You Ever See a Lassie? Members taking part in the play were: Peggy Frantom, Bonnie Jean Lankford, Julius Fontana, Doris Ratcliff, James Davis, Lillian Pilcher, Mary Pauline, Leza Thomassee, Devon Carr, Frank Stevens, Elmer Dickerson, John Pope, Betty Jean Prisock and L. C. Nolan.

Fifth grade pupils, Mrs. Mary Peavy, teacher, presented dance numbers. Those who participated were: Virginia Butler, Allen Green, Katherine Poulas, Bennie Voss, Imogene Moore, Ralph Skyrme, Marjorie Faught, Ed Harper, Mabel Cooper, Eddie Ezell, Marguerite Thomasee and Billy Miller.

In another dance number the following also took part: Rose Battaglia, Viola Quave, Ida Mae Bailey, Loring Martin, Virginia Butler, Estelle Treckel, Blanche Nunn, Mabel Cooper, Marjorie Faught, Imogene Moore, Catherine Patrick, Katherine Poulas, Jane Stanford, Marguerite Thomasee, Ruth Welch, Vera Kirkland, Wilhelmina Harris, Mary Dee Lingenfelter, Elouise Pigue, Eloise Yeats, Doris Reid, Effie Barnes, Effie Coleman, Helen Wheeler, Dorothy Hall, Jewel Harlitt, Dorothy Nolan and Lillie Mae Kirkland.

A social hour was enjoyed in the office of Miss Katherine Key, principal, where refreshments were served.

Choudrant

Approximately 250 residents of Choudrant and vicinity attended a program sponsored by the Choudrant P.-T. A. and held at the auditorium of the local high school.

Mrs. W. M. Bagwell, president of the P.-T. A. unit, called the assembly to order and in a brief talk expressed appreciation for the large number of parents present. She said that P.-T. A. activities need the support and cooperation of fathers, as well as mothers.

A rhythm band composed of students of the fifth grade, under direction of Mrs. Zylpa Barber, presented a 10-minute program.

A program with the theme "The Church as a Partner in Progress," was presented by Rev. J. C. McCann, Mrs. J. A. O'Neal, Mrs. D. F. O'Neal, Miss Cozette Davis and Miss Vivian Farmer.

Rev. C. Robinson gave a talk on the subject, "The Church as a Partner in the Spiritual Progress of the Child."

The attendance prize was awarded the sixth grade.

Refreshments were served.

Sterlington

The Sterlington P.-T. A. held the December meeting Thursday at 3 p.m. at the A. L. Smith school with the president, Mrs. H. D. Matkins, presiding. The program was as follows:

Scripture reading—Mrs. Kenneth Woodhead and Mrs. John King.

"The Church a Partner in Progress," Rev. Dring.

Christmas program—Third grade.

During the business session Rev. Dring announced and explained the election to be held in Sterlington December 13. He also urged all to vote for prohibition. The P.-T. A. had formerly gone on record as being 100 per cent in supporting the prohibition movement in their ward.

The sixth grade won the room prize for having the largest number of mothers present. The hospitality committee, comprised of Guthrie and Fairbanks mothers, served very attractive and delicious refreshments during the social hour.

Neville

Mrs. Herbert Dickard, chairman of the program committee of Neville High School Parent-Teacher association, announces that a most interesting and appropriate program will be presented Monday afternoon, when the regular meeting is held at the school at 3:30 o'clock.

The principal speaker, Rev. E. D. Holloway, will address the assembly on "The Church as a Partner in Progress."

A solo, "A Christmas Carol," will be given by Mrs. P. J. Newman.

The executive committee of the Neville High School Parent-Teacher association met Monday afternoon at the school. Mrs. G. A. Aden, president, presided, and reports were made by the officers. Proceeds from the minstrel, "Blue John Entertainers," were reported and turned over to the treasurer, Mrs. H. V. Fluker. Mrs. Aden stated that the correspondence course to be used in place of a study group would be started in January. An open house meeting for parents and teachers with an appropriate program was planned for February.

Members of the executive committee who were present at this meeting were Mrs. G. A. Aden, Mrs. H. V. Fluker, Mrs. Curtis Smith, Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, Mrs. B. B. Handy and Mr. Paul Neal.

Ouachita Parish

The Ouachita Parish P. T. A. will present a Christmas pantomine "The Three Wise Men" as its December program. This pantomine is being given by the Ouachita Parish Grammar school. The cast embracing children from the first seven grades are as follows:

Shepherds—J. W. Valentine, Jimmie Kelly, Percy Pace, Ernest Bacle.

Angel—Marguerite Brooks.

Wise Men—Ray Cox, C. D. Wallace, Louis Rolleigh.

Children — Frederick Cann, Jean Trotter, Jimmie Padgett, Vita Ditta, Edward Welch, Bobbie Ann Irby, Ralph Smith, Ann Young, Maryanna Garelick, Jane Kilpatrick, Patty Lee Padgett.

As this program is opportune and of unusual interest, the Ouachita Parish P. T. A. wishes to extend an invitation to its members, as well as to the general public to attend.

EVENING GLAMOR

With a strikingly dramatic silver metal cloth evening gown with long sleeves and a deep V-neckline, socially prominent Mrs. F. Bartholomay Jelke wears long earrings and carries an ostrich fan. Her long bob is swept up and off her face at front and sides.

When You Have Cold Troubles Do What 3 out of 5 Mothers Do

Here are 4 Proved Ways
They Use to Relieve Discomforts of Colds

1 Head-Cold Sniffles and Misery. Melt a spoonful of Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water, then inhale the steaming vapors. These medicated vapors loosen phlegm, clear air-passages, make breathing easier. Then, at bedtime, massage throat and chest with VapoRub; leave bed-covering loose around neck so the medicated vapors, released by body heat, can be inhaled freely during the night. VapoRub's direct action brings comfort—relieves local congestion—helps you relax into restful sleep. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

2 Coughing or Sore Throat due to the cold. Use steam treatment outlined above. Also put a small lump of VapoRub on the tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication which brings comforting relief to the irritated membranes and checks tendency to cough.

3 Night Coughs due to colds—especially of children—can often be prevented by massaging VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime.

4 Chest Colds. Thoroughly massage VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub goes right to work—two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Direct on the irritated air-passages as its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath. This direct double action loosens phlegm—eases coughing—clears the air-passages—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion.

Children's Colds are always a problem to mothers. Neglect is dangerous, because it often paves the way for more serious trouble. But constant internal dosing is risky, too. It often upsets a delicate little stomach, lowers resistance just when it is most needed to overcome the cold and ward off complications . . . It is for these reasons that most mothers depend on VapoRub to relieve the misery of their children's colds. With VapoRub there's no needless dosing, no risk of stomach upsets. It can be used freely; as often as needed, on even the youngest child.

Many Other Ways in which VapoRub can help you are described in the medically-approved directions folder that comes in each VapoRub package.

'The Citadel' Opens Paramount Engagement On Friday

"The Citadel," based on the novel by A. J. Cronin, which has been acclaimed by millions of readers in every part of the world, comes to the Paramount screen next Friday and Saturday with Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell playing the roles of the heroic young doctor and his schoolmistress wife.

Driven by the love of two women, Ferdinand de Lesseps conquered the desert's choking sands to create the canal that today is the jugular vein of the world. Tyrone Power as de Lesseps, Annabella and Loretta Young in "Suez," playing today through Tuesday at the Paramount theater.

Expulsion from Magnolia Hall, Columbia's "Girls' School," awaits Nan Grey for her disregard of campus rules. Anne Shirley, dormitory monitor who reported her fellow-student's escapade in remaining out all night, is shown above in the Paramount theater film playing Wednesday and Thursday.

Russell And Donat Star In New Hit

Story Of Young Doctor Who Barters Ideals For Riches Told In Film

"THE CITADEL," A. J. Cronin's [illegible] powerful story of [illegible] who barters [illegible] riches, opens next [illegible] at the Paramount theater [illegible] British made photo[illegible] one of the [illegible] pictures of the [illegible].

[illegible] the [illegible] Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell [illegible] roles and the [illegible] direction of King Vidor [illegible] picture has [illegible] a tribute to its author, [illegible] and to the art of [illegible].

A [illegible] story is unfolded [illegible] of the young surgeon [illegible] among the miners and [illegible] schoolmistress. There [illegible] suspense when he [illegible] a [illegible] that has collapsed [illegible] the arm of a man [illegible] a fallen timber. There is [illegible] when he deliberately dynamites a sewer that has been spreading disease but which authorities refuse to remove.

Cronin's moving story has become even more dramatic on the screen without an alteration but because of the added power of visible action. Donat is outstanding as the disillusioned young doctor and Miss Russell has the best role of her career as his sympathetic wife. Ralph Richardson and Rex Harrison, two of Britain's most capable actors, appear as fellow doctors with Donat and their performances are excellent.

Much credit goes also to Emlyn Williams as an official of the Miners' Medical Aid society, Mary Clare as the sympathetic cafe proprietress and Penelope Dudley-Ward as the society girl. There are more than one hundred speaking parts in the cast.

"The Citadel" is one of the most popular novels in years, having topped the list here and abroad since its publication about a year ago. The M-G-M adaptation does it honor.

Michael Whalen and his heartthrob, Gloria Stuart, risk their necks for news on the trail of a mystery in which time provides the only clue. The romantic pair are featured in "Time Out For Murder," coming to the Capitol theater Thursday.

The famous "Dead End" kids, sensational newcomers to the screen who are featured in Universal's "Little Tough Guy," playing today and Monday at the Capitol theater. Robert Wilcox and Helen Parrish play the romantic roles.

Jane Bryan and Ronald Reagan carry love interest in "Girls on Probation," at the Capitol theater Tuesday. Thousands of young girls get in trouble with the police every year and this is their story, tender, heartbreaking, dramatic and true.

J. LESTER WHITE TO ADDRESS ENGINEERS OF LOUISIANA TECH

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10—(Special)—J. Lester White of Baton Rouge, chairman of the state planning commission, has accepted an invitation to be the guest speaker at the 15th annual engineers' banquet to be held in the dining hall at Louisiana Tech December 17 at 7 p.m., Dean E. C. Barrett of the engineering school here has announced.

About 350 students, alumni and faculty members of the school of engineering are expected to attend the dinner.

Among the special guests will be John E. Keeny, Pineville, who was president of Tech from 1907-26 and who recently was elected president emeritus of the college here by the state board of education.

Raymond Carnahan of Dubberly, a senior in the engineering school, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet. Other students assisting in planning the event are H. E. Nobles, Hilly; C. S. Yeager, Alexandria; Wilbur H. Sanders, Ruston, and Thomas Folk, Jr., Ruston.

The dinner will be prepared under the direction of Mrs. Clara S. Burris, supervisor of the Tech dining hall, and will be served by the regular dining hall waiters.

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech engineers recently elected and placed into office four student leaders, the first to be chosen under a new secret ballot system.

Raymond Carnahan, Dubberly, was named president; H. E. Nobles, Hilly, vice-president; Scott Yeager, Alexandria, secretary, and W. H. Sanders, Ruston, treasurer.

Secret ballots cast in Dean E. C. Barrett's office were counted by faculty members.

Coyotes killed 147 lambs one night recently when they raided the sheep sheds of William Gremmert, near Roundup, Mont. It was the worst raid reported in years.

'Dead End' Kids Play At Capitol

Famous Young Stars Of Screen Featured In 'Little Tough Guy'

DESCRIBED by critics as the most natural young actors on stage or screen, the "Dead End" kids give full play to their unique talents in the Universal picture, "Little Tough Guy," an astonishing document of reckless youth, which starts today at the Capitol theater.

Early in their careers the boys were told to "just be natural and your acting will take care of itself." Following that advice they went on to score in "Dead End" and again in "Crime School" before being brought to Universal to play featured roles in "Little Tough Guy" with Helen Parrish, Robert Wilcox, Jackie Searl and Marjorie Main.

Miss Parrish won the sister part in the picture as a reward for her performance as the "meanie" with Deanna Durbin in "Mad About Music."

The story is a simple and powerful narrative about what happens to one family when tragedy strikes. It begins when the father is sent to jail on a murder charge, and follows the mother, son and daughter after they move to cheap quarters in a sordid section of the city.

Billy Halop, as the son who sells newspapers to help support his broken family, portrays the boy whose heart is filled with resentment and bitterness over what he feels has been unfair treatment of his father. Joining a young gang of street hoodlums he begins a series of escapades which build to a breath-taking climax. "Little Tough Guy" was directed by Harold Young and produced by Ken Goldsmith.

BIG BLACK CROW RIDES SECOND TIME TO TECH ON TOP OF SCHOOL BUS

RUSTON, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—"Johnny," a big black crow, rode atop a school bus four miles to Louisiana Tech's campus of his own accord for the second time this week.

The huge bird is the family pet of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilder and their two children, Wilbur and Jennie. They live four miles from Ruston on the Cooktown road. The children attend the Tech training school.

Early last spring, "Johnny's" mother was shot, and from then on he has found it good business to "take up" with the Wilders, who make him feel at home. The family allows "Johnny" to fly where he pleases, and several times he has stayed away for days at a time. "But, he always comes back," asserts Jennie, who is in the second grade at school.

Quiet, sleepy "Johnny" sat on the window ledge at the teacher-training school Tuesday and waited for the noon hour, his regular eating time. When 12 o'clock came, however, "Johnny" was taken home—"where he belongs," Jennie said.

When asked whether "Johnny" was forced to ride the bus, Jennie shook her head. "Oh, no, he likes to go to school, but my teacher, Miss Washburn, says he doesn't learn anything."

SCHOOL ELECTS

MARION, La., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Clyde Lyons has been elected president of the junior class of the Spearsville Hgh school for the ensuing year. Other officers are: Vice-president, Forest Everett; secretary, Ruth Elkins; treasurer, Henry Thermon; reporter, Mary Terrall.

A fee of $9 is required for every citizen's passport issued.

Story Of Young Doctor Who Barters Ideals For Riches Told In Film

"THE CITADEL," A. J. Cronin's dramatically powerful story of a young doctor who barters his ideals for worldly riches, opens next Friday at the Paramount theater as M-G-M's second British-made photoplay. It proves itself one of the most distinguished motion pictures of the new movie season.

With superb portrayals upon the part of Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell in the principal roles and the understanding and incisive direction of King Vidor, the new picture becomes at once a tribute to its author, to the medical craft and to the art of motion pictures.

A dramatic love story is unfolded in the account of the young surgeon who struggles among the miners and marries a humble schoolmistress. There is agonizing suspense when he descends into a mine that has collapsed to amputate the arm of a man trapped beneath a fallen timber. There is drama when he deliberately dynamites a sewer that has been spreading disease but which authorities refuse to remove.

Cronin's moving story has become even more dramatic on the screen, without an alteration, but because of the added power of visible action. Donat is outstanding as the disillusioned young doctor and Miss Russell has the best role of her career as his sympathetic wife. HOME 'EC' GIRLS USE RATS IN DIET EXPERIMENT AT TECH

Four white rats, "litter-ally" the same but otherwise different, are taking their vitamins from home economics girls of the teacher-training school of Louisiana Tech who are conducting nutrition experiments to see what's best for the human body. "Snow White," (on the scales), is the heaviest of the four because he gets a well-balanced diet. Three brother rats, "Grumpy," "Sleepy" and "Dopey," are not doing so well, since their food is short in protein, vitamin A and minerals respectively. The tests are being conducted by Marine Sawyer (right) of Bastrop, a Tech senior in home economics, who obtained the rodents and brought them to the college for the tests. The high school girls in the class are: Seated, Dorothy Wright; standing, left to right, Georgia Mae Carter, Maxine Bradley, Laverne Taylor, Linda Jean Kavanaugh.

The reserve requires no military service, but offers advantages to its members, it was stated. Futher information may be obtained by addressing a communication to: "U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Howard Annex, 535 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, La."

50 SAFE DRIVERS TO GET DIPLOMAS

Baton Rouge Group First To Be Certified By State Safety Division

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 10.—(Special)—A class of 50 Baton Rougeans, Louisiana's first certified safe drivers, will receive their diplomas Tuesday from Colonel E. P. Roy, of the safety division of the state department of education, at the state capitol.

The class, under tutelage of WPA teachers, has received 20 hours classroom instructions and four and a half hours of actual driving lessons in dual control cars.

Sponsored by the state department of education, the course is designed for beginners with less than a year's driving experience and also for professional and truck drivers.

"This movement," said Colonel Roy, "made possible only through the business and civic organizations of Baton Rouge, the education division of WPA and a local automobile company, is a splendid opportunity for both the citizens and business corners to profit; for the citizen to acquire that proper mental attitude so essential and valuable to driving, and for the business concerns which operate delivery vehicles, improvement of its drivers' work will not only build up good will with the public, but cut down on accident expenses."

Colonel Roy pointed out that he hoped to extend the classes to cities and towns throughout the state and when requests are received at his office in the state capitol in sufficient numbers he will begin the operation of classes where they were justified.

COLLEGE YEAR BOOK PLANNED

Northeast Center's 'Chacahoula' Will Have Many New Ideas Presented

The 1939 edition of the Northeast Center yearbook, the 'Chacahoula,' is well under way toward its final form, according to Albert Newburn, editor-in-chief for this year. Following the latest trends in annual makeup, the staff of the 'Chacahoula' has undertaken to make the book informal in style, wider in campus coverage, and more attractive in design.

"Most of the organization photographs have been taken," Newburn said, "and we recently have prepared the final dummy from which the book will be designed. Our staff photographer, Randolph Neblett, has obtained several interesting and informal shots of the college activities which will certainly be welcomed by the student body."

Newburn, who was one of the Northeast Center delegation attending the Associated Collegiate press convention in Cincinnati during November 3, 4, 5 of this year, came back from the press meeting with many new ideas for the annual. Several of these innovations will be included in the 'Chacahoula' for 1939. Streamlining of the type, of the stories, and of the form in general will be featured by the staff. One of the new trends is to eliminate the 'beauty' section and to include in its stead a section of college favorites. Informality, on the whole, will set the standard for the yearbook.

The 'Chacahoula' is to be issued, as usual, at the end of May. Details of the annual will be kept secret until the appearance at the close of the school year.

UNUSUAL PLAY GETS APPROVAL

Northeast Center Speech Club Presents 'Death Takes A Holiday'

Friday night the Speech club of Northeast Center presented its first major production, "Death Takes a Holiday," the Broadway hit which was first produced at the Ethel Barrymore theater.

The play is one to tax the talent of experienced actors and actresses. However, comments of those who witnessed the Northeast Center production indicated that the speech students had, through hard work, sincerity, and the able direction of Dr. Grace Ingledue, attained a degree of professionalism beyond the average amateur production.

"Death Takes a Holiday" deals with the visit of Death, in the form of a mortal, to the castle of Duke Lambert. During his holiday, Death fell in love with Grazia, thus catching himself in his own net. Joe Lowe, as Death, gave a splendid performance. His voice was deep, mysterious; his emotions were those of a gentleman and a man of the world.

Miss Jane McMullen gave a performance that showed without a doubt the true acting ability that she possesses. Miss McMullen is a freshman. She played the heroine, Grazia, and portrayed a charming young girl rather inclined to be dreamy and remote. Jack Hunter, as Corrado, gave a truly interesting performance. Miss Barbara Butler, as Alda, was lovely, dignified, restless, with a strange note of longing in her voice. Miss Marcelina Hill, as Rhoda, gave a convincing picture of a handsome, straightforward English girl. It was she who first put into words the strange feeling she had for the unknown visitor called Sirki.

Other members of the cast were as follows: Cora, Evelyn Bales; Fedele, Fred Gwin; Duke Lambert, DeWitt Chandler; Duchess Stephanie, Elsie Koserog; Princess of San Luca, Anne Goodwin; Baron Cesarea, Roy Colter; Eric Fenton, Lorain Armstrong; Major Whitread, Paul Karlowitz.

LINDA AND MARSADA PUSHED ON THROUGH THE WILDERNESS IN SEARCH OF THE "MISSING LINK." MARSADA GLANCED FREQUENTLY INTO THE TREES, FOR THERE, HE WAS TOLD, HE WOULD FIND HIS QUARRY. AND TO THE KEEN EARS OF THE SENTINEL APE CAME THE SOUND OF THE SAFARI. HE HID IN THE BUSHES.
AND WHEN HE SAW THE MAN-THINGS MARCHING, HE RACED TO GIVE THE ALARM TO HIS FELLOWS WHO-----

OGLUT, THE FORMER KING, WHOM TARZAN HAD CONQUERED, GAZED OFTEN ALOFT THROUGH HATE-FILLED EYES.
THE APE-MAN WAS SUDDENLY AROUSED BY A COMMOTION BELOW. HE DROPPED SWIFTLY TO EARTH.
THERE HE FOUND THE SENTINEL CRYING THE ALARM. "TARMANGANI! TARMANGANI! GOMANGANI! THUNDERSTICKS!"
"WE KILL!" GROWLED THE APES, WHO LOATHED THE MAN-THINGS AND THEIR GUNS.

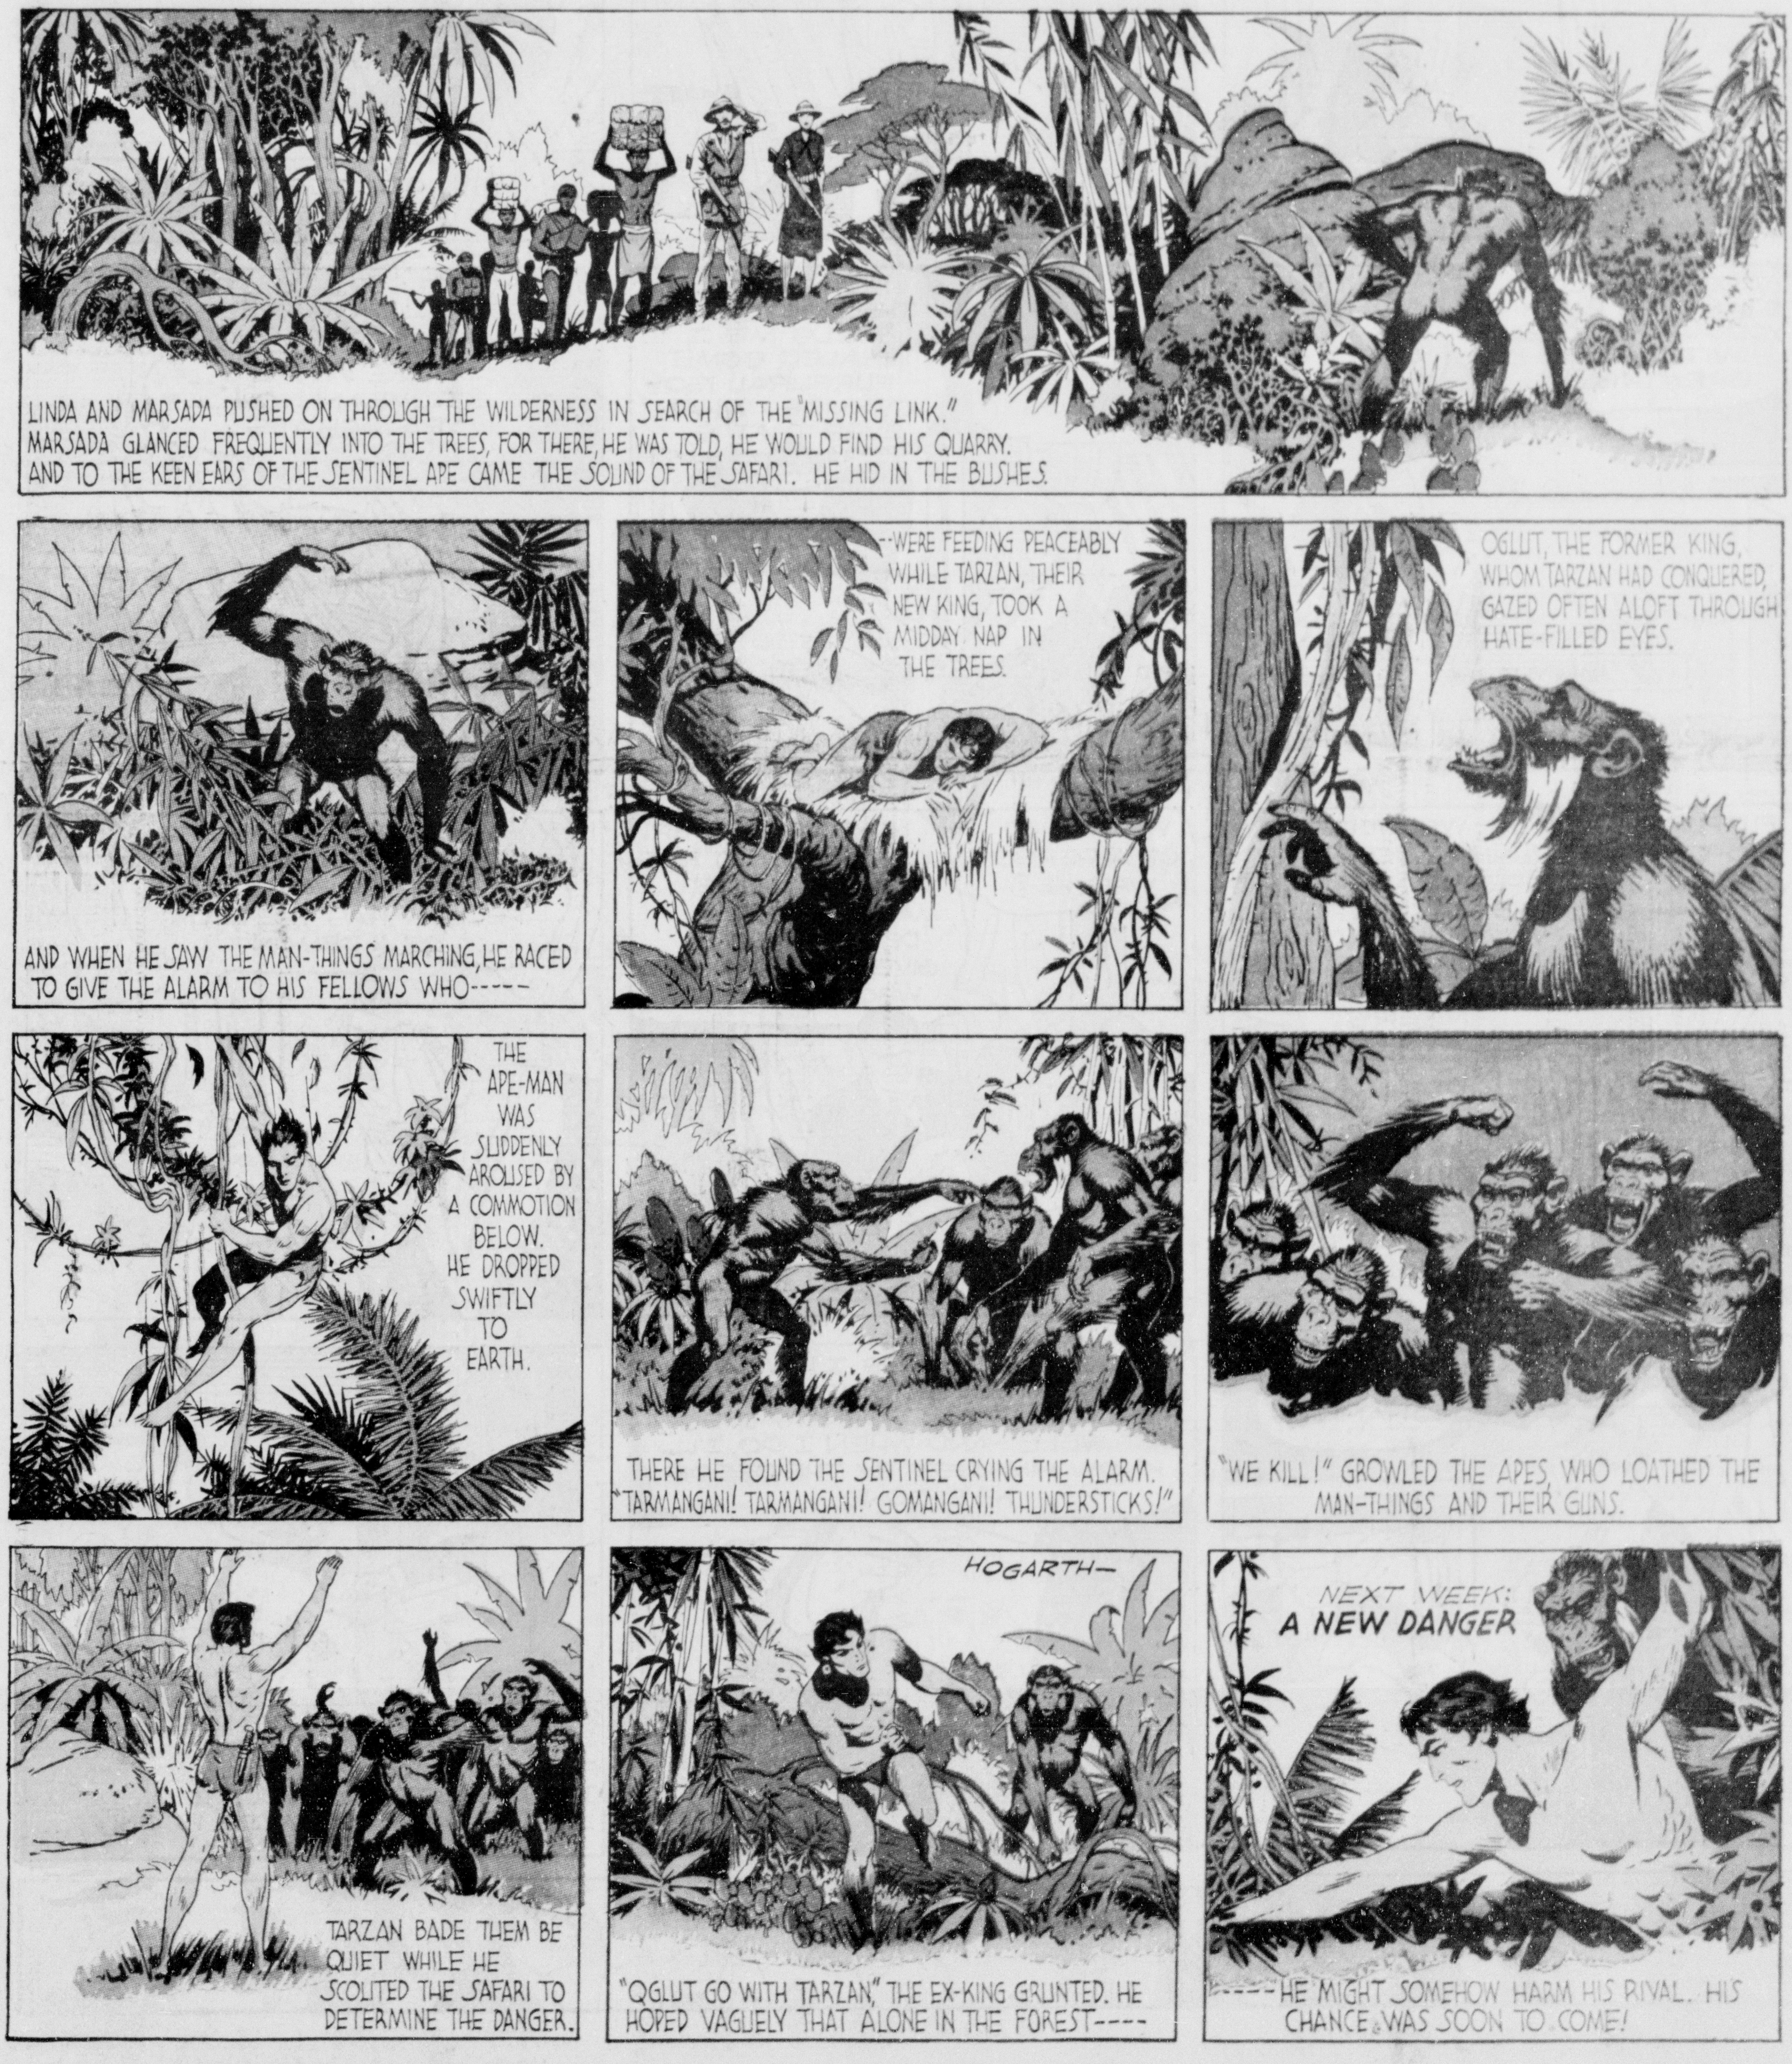
TARZAN'S ENEMY



LINDA AND MARSADA PUSHED ON THROUGH THE WILDERNESS IN SEARCH OF THE "MISSING LINK." MARSADA GLANCED FREQUENTLY INTO THE TREES, FOR THERE, HE WAS TOLD, HE WOULD FIND HIS QUARRY. AND TO THE KEEN EARS OF THE SENTINEL APE CAME THE SOUND OF THE SAFARI. HE HID IN THE BUSHES.
AND WHEN HE SAW THE MAN-THINGS MARCHING, HE RACED TO GIVE THE ALARM TO HIS FELLOWS WHO-----
--WERE FEEDING PEACEABLY WHILE TARZAN, THEIR NEW KING, TOOK A MIDDAY NAP IN THE TREES.
THERE HE FOUND THE SENTINEL CRYING THE ALARM. "TARMANGANI! TARMANGANI! GOMANGANI! THUNDERSTICKS!"
"WE KILL!" GROWLED THE APES, WHO LOATHED THE MAN-THINGS AND THEIR GUNS.
HOGARTH—
"OGLUT GO WITH TARZAN," THE EX-KING GRUNTED. HE HOPED VAGUELY THAT ALONE IN THE FOREST----
NEXT WEEK: A NEW DANGER
----HE MIGHT SOMEHOW HARM HIS RIVAL. HIS CHANCE WAS SOON TO COME!

IT'S SWELL OF YOU TO HAVE ME IN HERE FOR A CHAT. IT DOES GET LONESOME IN THESE HOSPITAL ROOMS.
THAT FEELING IS MUTUAL, JANINGS. I'M GETTING PRETTY FED UP MYSELF.
THEY TELL ME YOU'RE WITH THE POLICE DEPARTMENT. I DIDN'T KNOW IT TILL TODAY. THAT'S VERY INTERESTING.
YEAH?
AND THEY TELL ME YOU'RE A PRETTY DARN GOOD BAKER—IN FACT, MRS. TRUEHEART SAYS YOU'RE THE BEST.
THANK YOU.
I SEE THE "LUNG" STANDING BY. HAVE YOU HAD TROUBLE WITH YOUR BREATHING?
OH, I JUST GOT MIXED UP WITH A LITTLE GAS.
HM! THE RESULT OF A RIOT OR SOMETHING LIKE THAT, I SUPPOSE?
NOT EXACTLY! THE DOCTOR TELLS ME I INHALED SOME FURFURAL ISO-CYANIDE, WHATEVER THAT IS.
LIKE A BOLT OUT OF THE BLUE THOSE WORDS FALL ON KARPSE'S EARS WITH A HORRIFYING SHOCK.
SOME WHAT?... ...I...MEAN...OH... YES...OH YES..
FURFURAL ISO-CYANIDE, EH?
YES. WE WERE RUNNING DOWN A SUPER-CRIMINAL THAT WAS MAKING POISON WAR GAS. BUT HE WAS CAGY— SLIPPED THROUGH OUR FINGERS.
WHAT KIND OF A PERSON WAS HE?
NONE OF US EVER SAW HIM, BUT I HAVE A SKETCH HERE MADE AFTER A DESCRIPTION GIVEN US BY A PARTY WHO DID SEE HIM.
OF COURSE I HAVEN'T SEEN THE SKETCH YET —BUT THEY SAY THE FELLOW HAS THE LOOK OF A DEMON.
WILL YOU HAVE A CIGARETTE?
THANKS.
YOU KNOW, JANINGS, I HAVE A FEELING I'M GOING TO MEET THAT FIEND SOME DAY WHEN MY EYES GET WELL —AND WHEN I DO, I'LL KNOW HIM JUST BY THE DEEDS HE'S DONE.
SELF PRESERVATION! THE DESTRUCTION OF ALL INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE! FOR THE FIRST TIME KARPSE REALIZES WHO THE MAN SITTING NEXT TO HIM REALLY IS! THE GAME OF WITS IS ON!?...

THE VERY IDEA! THAT MAN!
OH OH! I WONDER WHAT'S BITING SISTER BUNGLE THIS TIME?
THIS CLOSET DOOR YOU "FIXED." OPEN IT. TRY.
DON'T GET EXCITED. I TOLD YOU TO PRESS THE DOOR IN AND PUSH THE KNOB SIDEWAYS AND...
IT'S STUCK A LITTLE. THIS DAMP WEATHER. A FEW GOOD JERKS WILL..
WHAT! STILL WON'T OPEN? WE'LL SEE ABOUT THAT.
* ! ☆ ! !
HA! NOW YOU KNOW HOW I FELT.
THAT TOP HINGE IS A BIT TIGHT. WHILE I'M GETTING A HAMMER, WILL YOU FIND THE DOOR KNOB?
THERE'S YOUR TROUBLE. HEAR THAT PING SOUND WHEN I HIT THE HINGE?
NOW WATCH HOW EASY THE DOOR... MY WORD, HAND ME THAT DOOR KNOB!
TELL ME. I'LL GET THIS BABY OPEN. RIGHT NOW, TOO.
WHOO! WHAT A...
OH-H! I JUST THOUGHT OF SOMETHING. YESTERDAY I LOCKED THAT DOOR. WAIT TILL I GET THE KEY.
AH IT'S OPEN. HOW SIMPLE.
WHATTA LIFE! TELL ME. NO WONDER BACHELORS NEVER SHOW THEIR AGE.

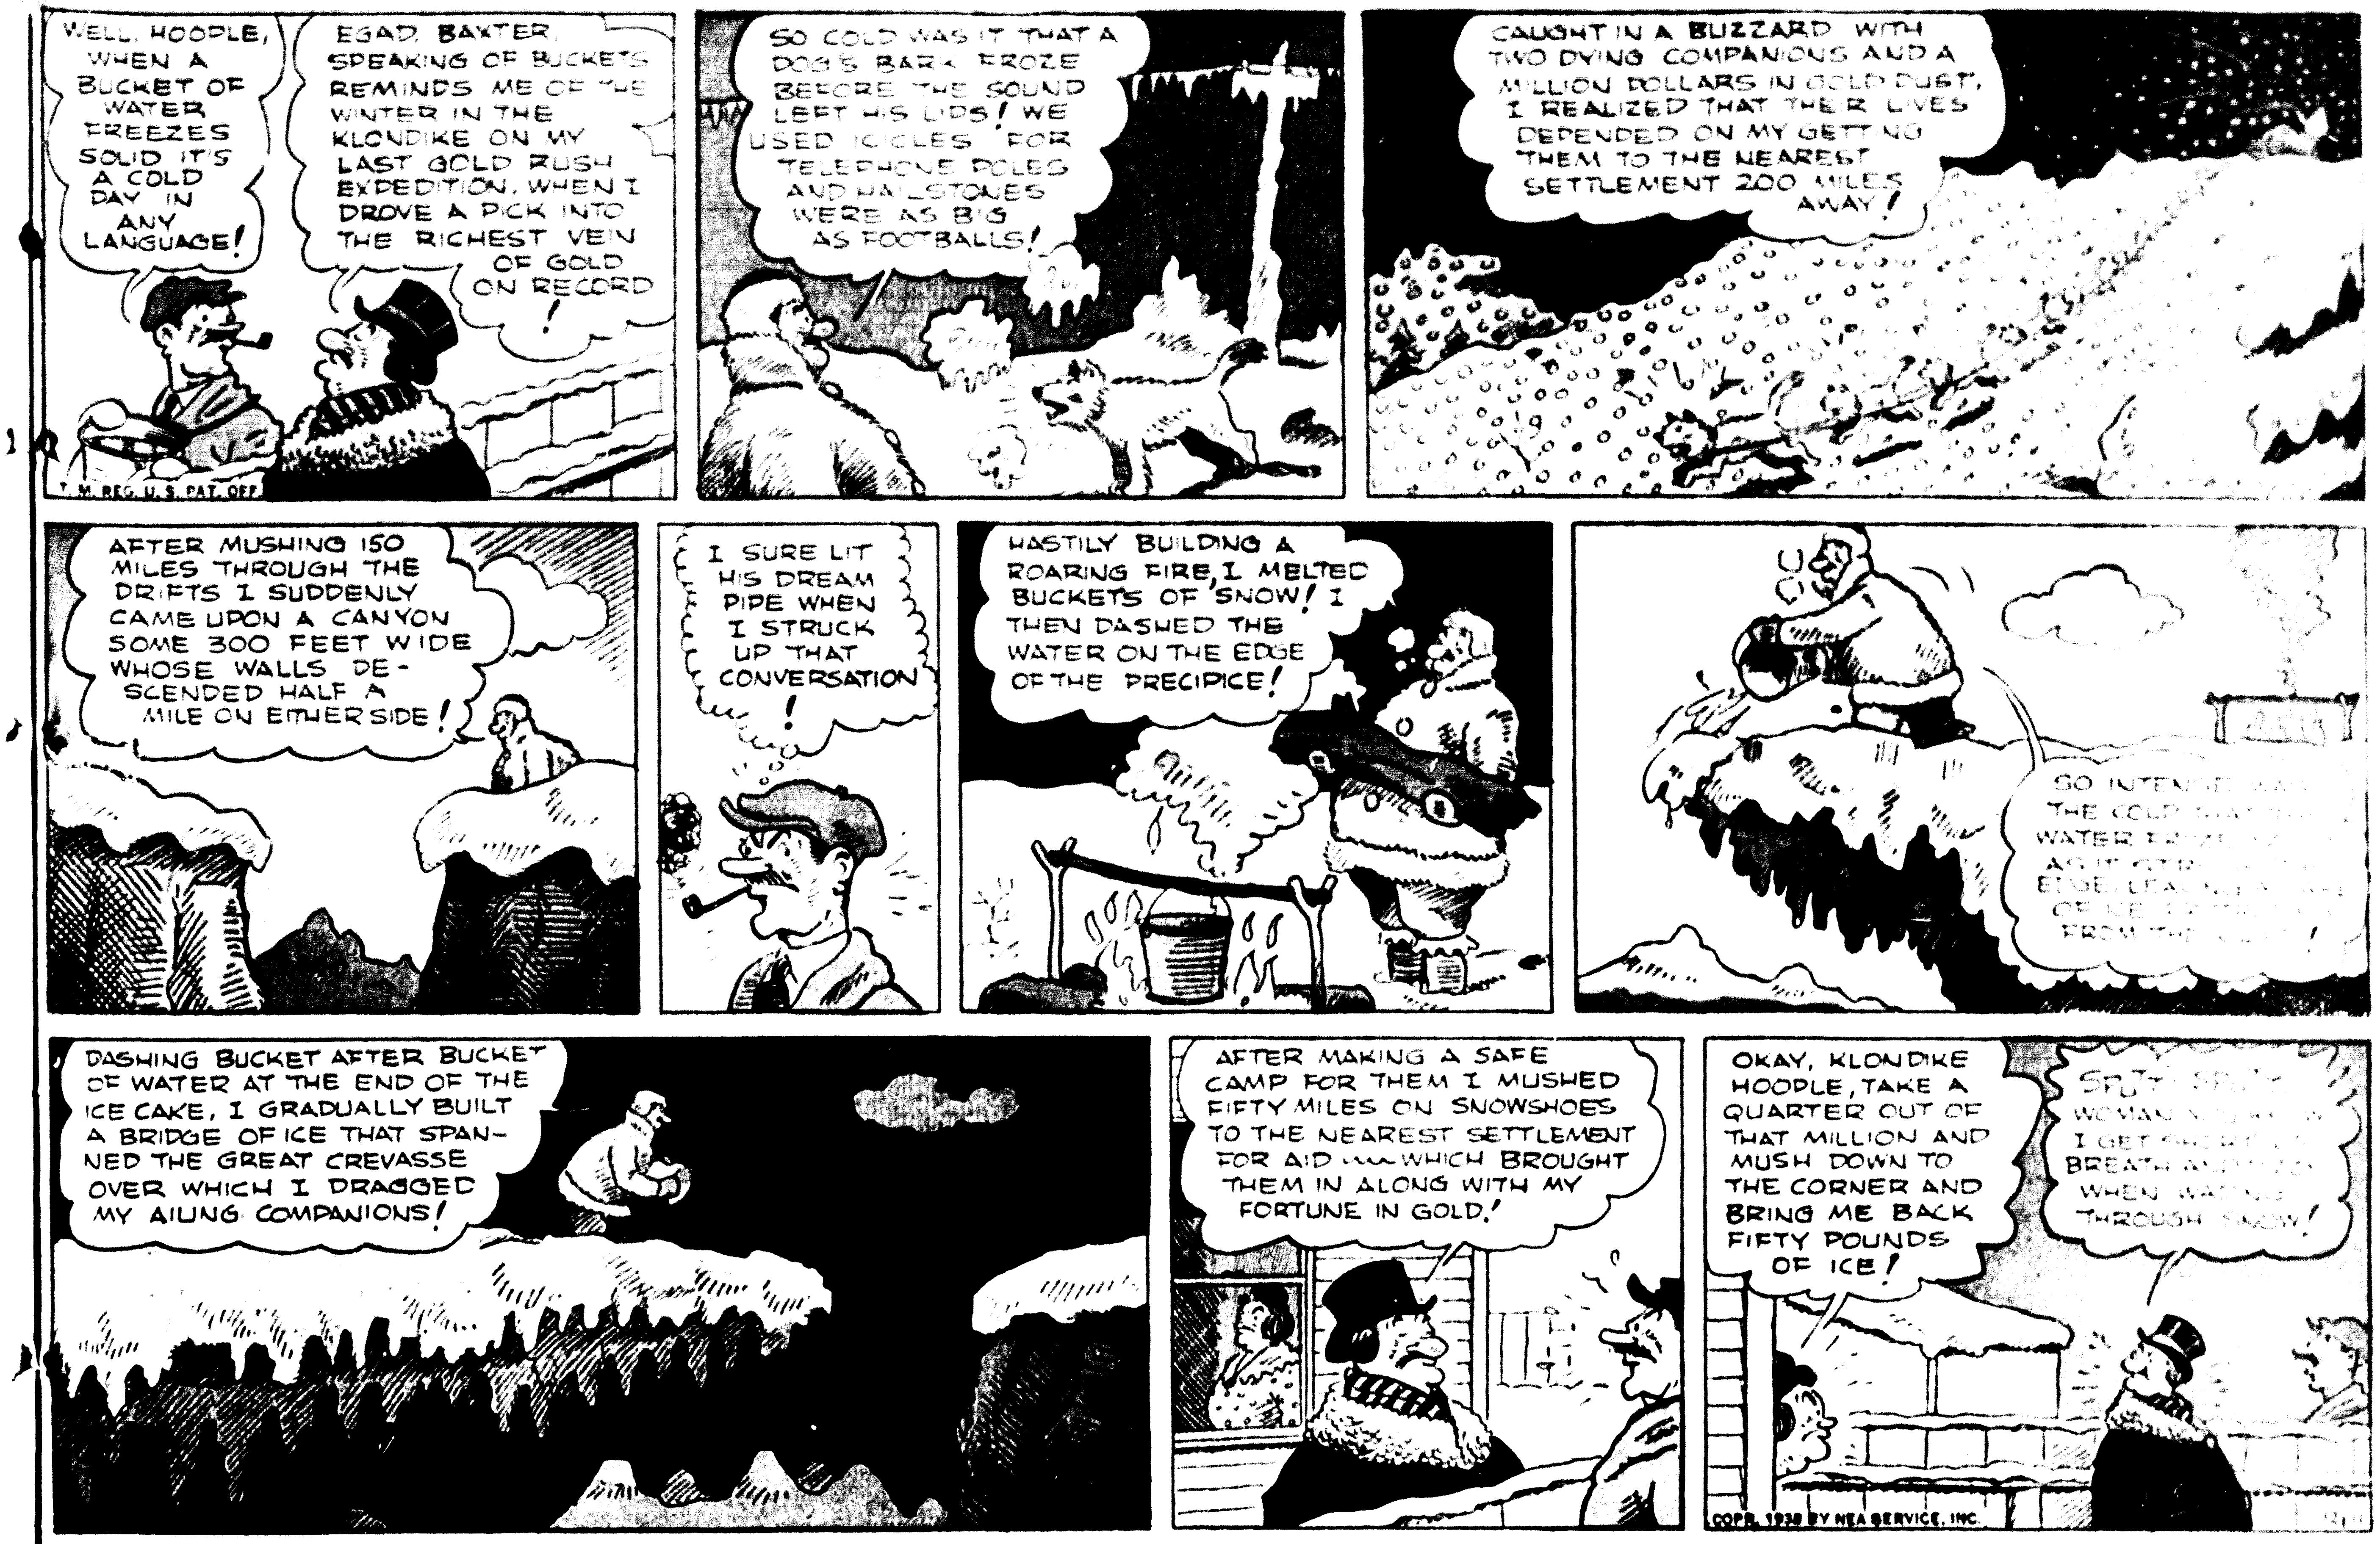
OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE



WELL, HOOPLE, WHEN A BUCKET OF WATER FREEZES SOLID IT'S A COLD DAY IN ANY LANGUAGE!
EGAD, BAXTER, SPEAKING OF BUCKETS REMINDS ME OF THE WINTER IN THE KLONDIKE ON MY LAST GOLD RUSH EXPEDITION, WHEN I DROVE A PICK INTO THE RICHEST VEIN OF GOLD ON RECORD!
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
SO COLD WAS IT THAT A DOG'S BARK FROZE BEFORE THE SOUND LEFT HIS LIPS! WE USED ICICLES FOR TELEPHONE POLES AND HAILSTONES WERE AS BIG AS FOOTBALLS!
CAUGHT IN A BUZZARD WITH TWO DYING COMPANIONS AND A MILLION DOLLARS IN GOLD DUST, I REALIZED THAT THEIR LIVES DEPENDED ON MY GETTING THEM TO THE NEAREST SETTLEMENT 200 MILES AWAY!
AFTER MUSHING 150 MILES THROUGH THE DRIFTS I SUDDENLY CAME UPON A CANYON SOME 300 FEET WIDE WHOSE WALLS DESCENDED HALF A MILE ON EITHER SIDE!
I SURE LIT HIS DREAM PIPE WHEN I STRUCK UP THAT CONVERSATION!
HASTILY BUILDING A ROARING FIRE, I MELTED BUCKETS OF SNOW! I THEN DASHED THE WATER ON THE EDGE OF THE PRECIPICE!
SO INTENSE WAS THE COLD THAT THE WATER FR[illegible] AS IT STR[illegible] EDGE, LEA[illegible] OF ICE [illegible] FROM THE [illegible]!
DASHING BUCKET AFTER BUCKET OF WATER AT THE END OF THE ICE CAKE, I GRADUALLY BUILT A BRIDGE OF ICE THAT SPANNED THE GREAT CREVASSE OVER WHICH I DRAGGED MY AILING COMPANIONS!
AFTER MAKING A SAFE CAMP FOR THEM I MUSHED FIFTY MILES ON SNOWSHOES TO THE NEAREST SETTLEMENT FOR AID ~~~ WHICH BROUGHT THEM IN ALONG WITH MY FORTUNE IN GOLD!
OKAY, KLONDIKE HOOPLE, TAKE A QUARTER OUT OF THAT MILLION AND MUSH DOWN TO THE CORNER AND BRING ME BACK FIFTY POUNDS OF ICE!
SPUT— SPUT— WOMAN [illegible] I GET SHORT OF BREATH AND [illegible] WHEN WADING THROUGH SNOW!

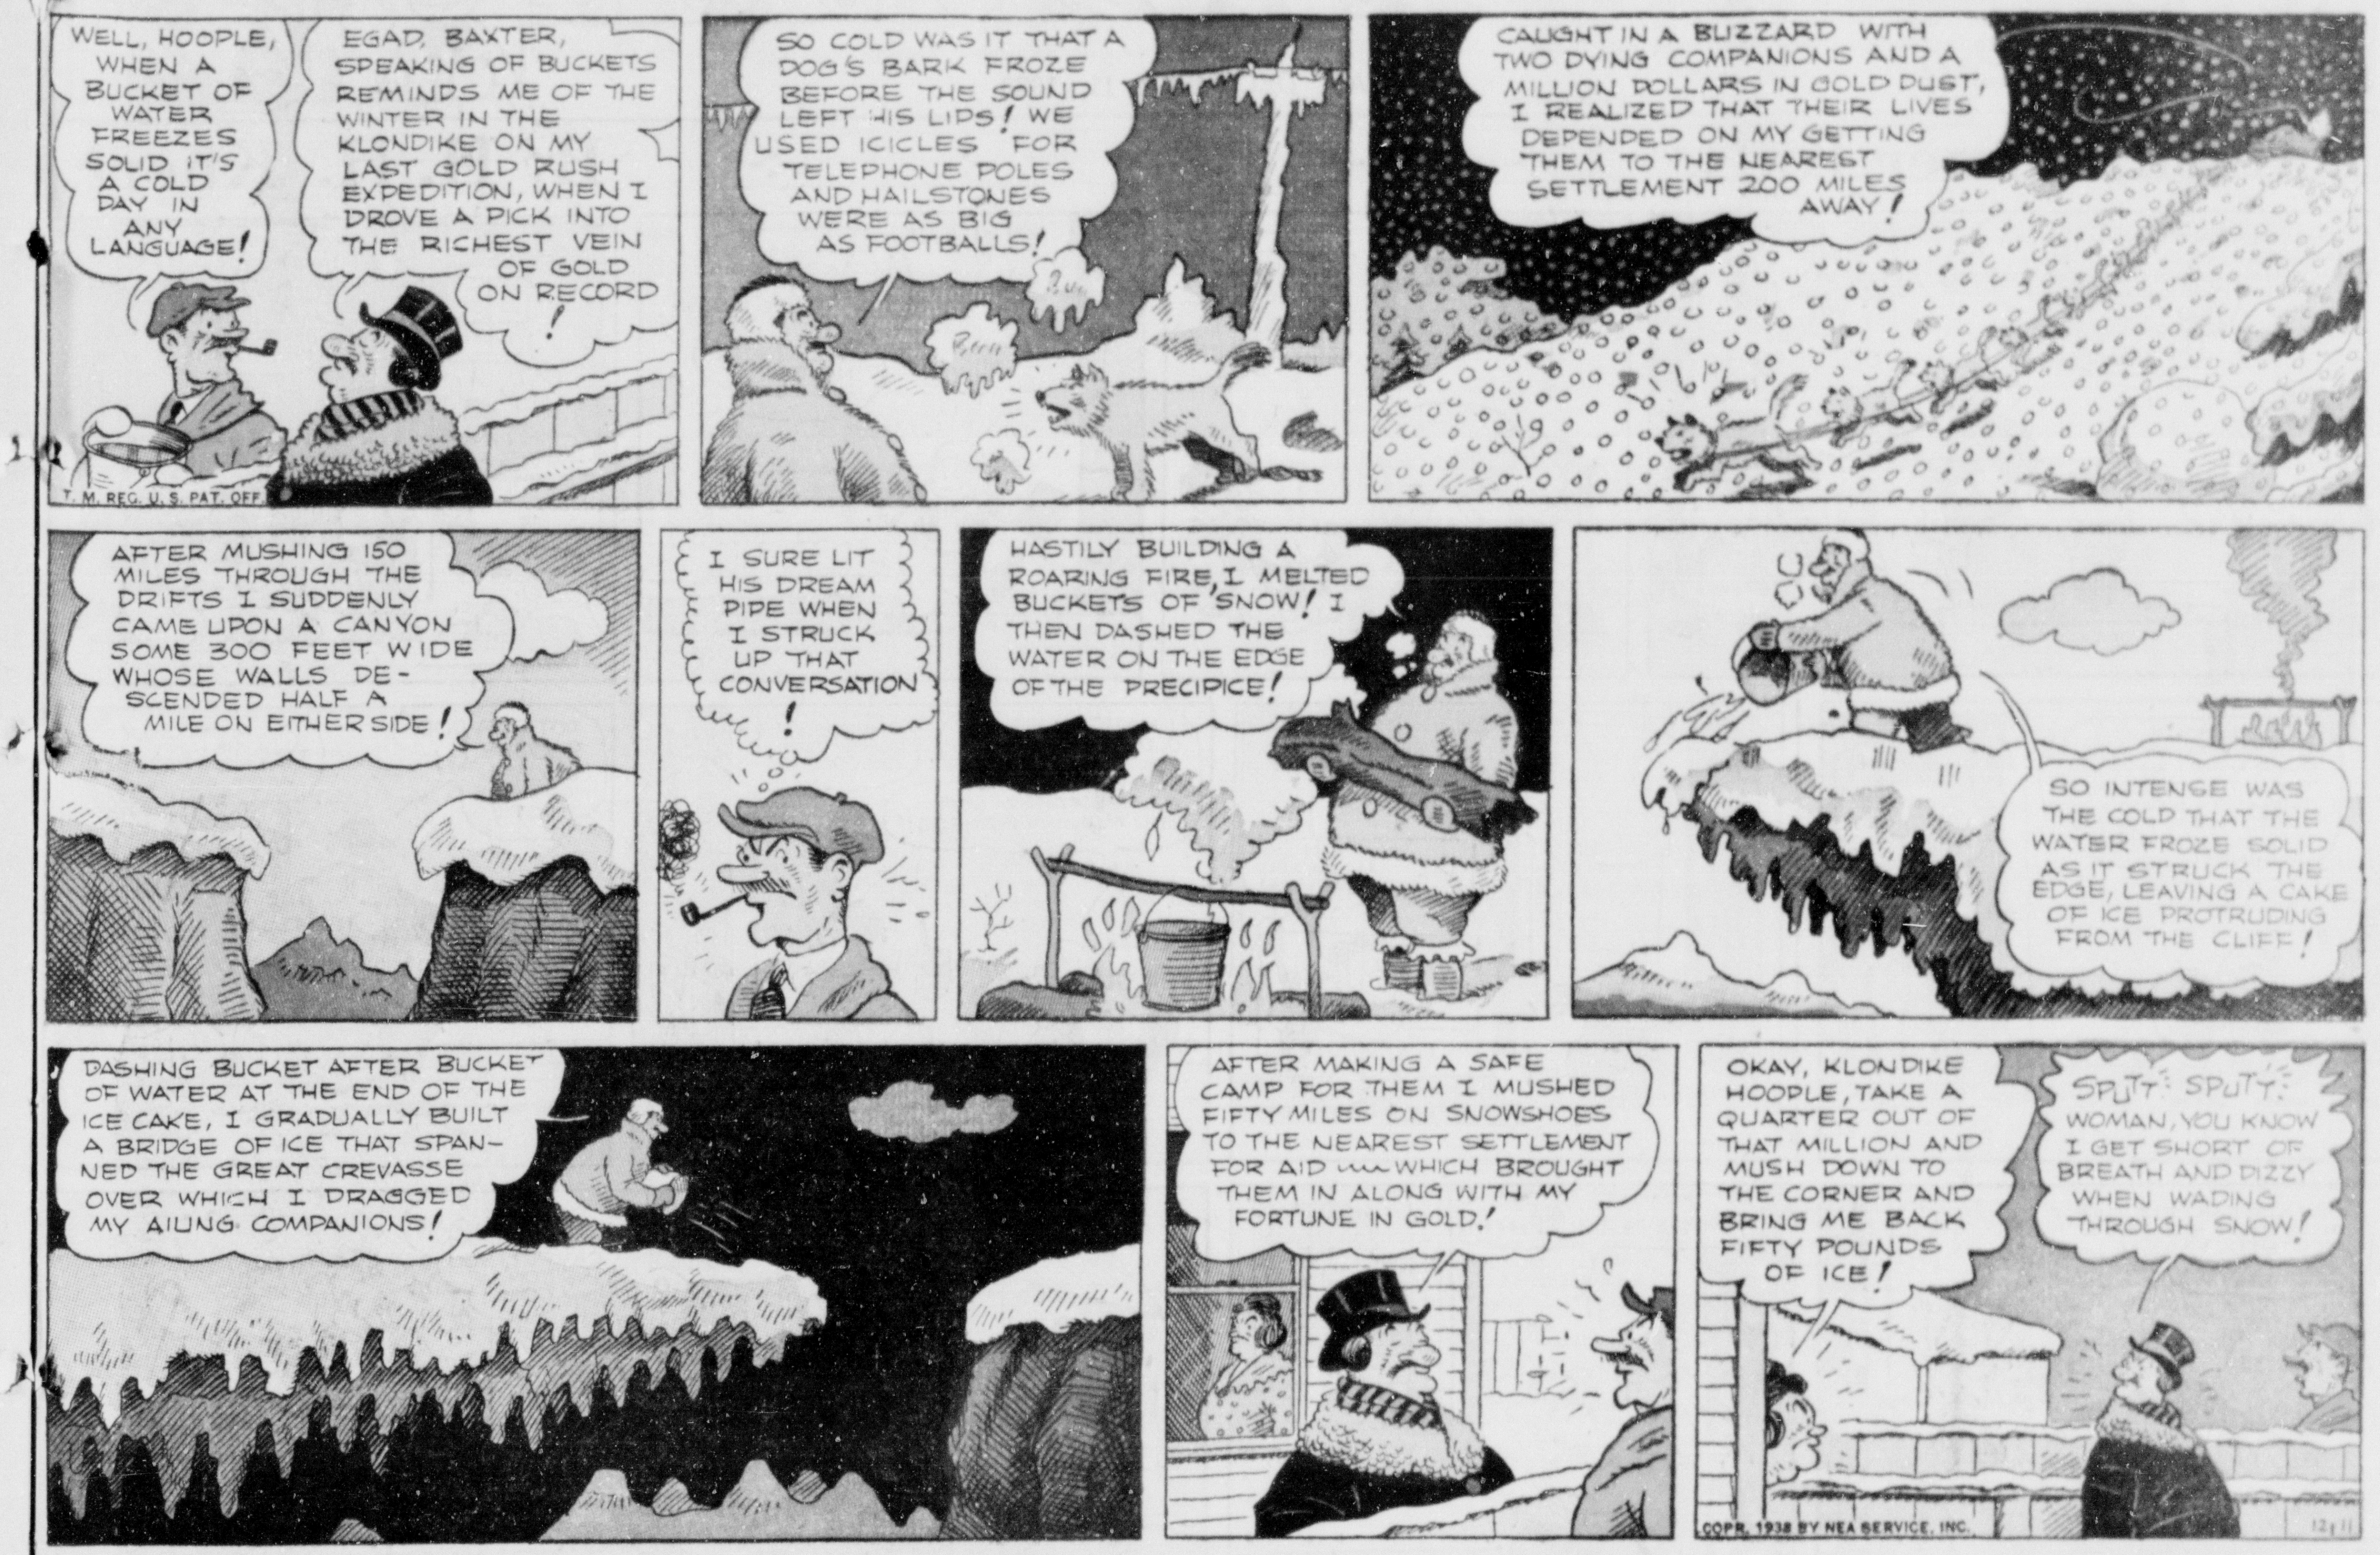
MAJOR HOOPLE



WELL, HOOPLE, WHEN A BUCKET OF WATER FREEZES SOLID IT'S A COLD DAY IN ANY LANGUAGE!
EGAD, BAXTER, SPEAKING OF BUCKETS REMINDS ME OF THE WINTER IN THE KLONDIKE ON MY LAST GOLD RUSH EXPEDITION, WHEN I DROVE A PICK INTO THE RICHEST VEIN OF GOLD ON RECORD!
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
SO COLD WAS IT THAT A DOG'S BARK FROZE BEFORE THE SOUND LEFT HIS LIPS! WE USED ICICLES FOR TELEPHONE POLES AND HAILSTONES WERE AS BIG AS FOOTBALLS!
CAUGHT IN A BLIZZARD WITH TWO DYING COMPANIONS AND A MILLION DOLLARS IN GOLD DUST, I REALIZED THAT THEIR LIVES DEPENDED ON MY GETTING THEM TO THE NEAREST SETTLEMENT 200 MILES AWAY!
AFTER MUSHING 150 MILES THROUGH THE DRIFTS I SUDDENLY CAME UPON A CANYON SOME 300 FEET WIDE WHOSE WALLS DESCENDED HALF A MILE ON EITHER SIDE!
I SURE LIT HIS DREAM PIPE WHEN I STRUCK UP THAT CONVERSATION!
HASTILY BUILDING A ROARING FIRE, I MELTED BUCKETS OF SNOW! I THEN DASHED THE WATER ON THE EDGE OF THE PRECIPICE!
SO INTENSE WAS THE COLD THAT THE WATER FROZE SOLID AS IT STRUCK THE EDGE, LEAVING A CAKE OF ICE PROTRUDING FROM THE CLIFF!
DASHING BUCKET AFTER BUCKET OF WATER AT THE END OF THE ICE CAKE, I GRADUALLY BUILT A BRIDGE OF ICE THAT SPANNED THE GREAT CREVASSE OVER WHICH I DRAGGED MY AILING COMPANIONS!
AFTER MAKING A SAFE CAMP FOR THEM I MUSHED FIFTY MILES ON SNOWSHOES TO THE NEAREST SETTLEMENT FOR AID ~~~ WHICH BROUGHT THEM IN ALONG WITH MY FORTUNE IN GOLD!
OKAY, KLONDIKE HOOPLE, TAKE A QUARTER OUT OF THAT MILLION AND MUSH DOWN TO THE CORNER AND BRING ME BACK FIFTY POUNDS OF ICE!
SPUTT SPUTT! WOMAN, YOU KNOW I GET SHORT OF BREATH AND DIZZY WHEN WADING THROUGH SNOW!
